THE IDAHO MURDER SENSATION

Each of the Prisoners Charged With Assassinating Steunenburg

Date of Preliminary Examination Set For February 27th--Prisoners Allowed More Liberty but no Newspapers

Caldwell, Feb. 21.—Moyer, Hayward and Pettibone were arraigned before Judge Church this morning. Each is charged in the affidavit with exploding a bomb by which Steunenburg met his death. The defendants each are charged with murder. They refused to plead and asked for an immediate preliminary hearing, which was set for February 27th. The demand of the defendants that the prosecution produce the names of its witnesses was overruled by the court. The defendants' attorney alleged the affidavit was insufficient as it charged the individuals with being present at Caldwell and committing the crime, when they were out of the state. It contained not a word charging conspiracy. The prisoners demanded to be allowed more privileges in the penitentiary, which was granted, except that the request for a newspaper was refused. They were committed without bail and taken back to the penitentiary this afternoon.

The miners of Silver City discovered a detective working as a miner and mobbed him, and he narrowly escaped being lynched.
