HENRY G. HADLEY, PIONEER, EXPIRES

Ends Honorable and Useful Life
at Home of His Son
Monday

Henry G. Hadley, one of Lane county's best known pioneers, died at the home of his son, Charles, at Hadleyville, March 2, 1906, at the age of over 82 years. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. from the residence of S. B. Eakin, at East Eighth and High streets, with interment in the Masonic cemetery. The Misses, Mr. Hadley being one of their number, will conduct the services.

Hon. Henry G. Hadley was born in Brownfield, Oxford county, Maine, June 24, 1815. In 1861 he crossed the plains, coming to Lane county, where he took up a donation land claim on the slope of Spencer's Butte. There were but few people here then. In the summer previous to Mr. Hadley's arrival there were but 32 voters in the county. This was the second trip across the plains. Mr. Hadley had made, having in '49 made a trip to California with an ox team—the second trip he made direct to Lane county.

ty, and brought with him ten American mares and went at once into stock raising, in which he was quite successful. He afterward went largely into cattle raising and dealing, in which business he remained.

After being here for some time he made a trip to Portland with a team and wagon, which he loaded up with merchandise of all sorts, and four months had cleared $1500 over and above expenses. This put him on his feet and enabled him to start in the cattle business.

Mr. Hadley was the first justice of the peace in Eugene, having been appointed in 1852—the same year he was returned to the legislature, was instrumental in having added to the county a strip of country 50 miles wide, reaching to the coast, taken from Benton county, and a strip of land including Siuslaw Valley and to the summit of the Calapooia mountains—probably seven or eight miles, from what was then Umpqua county.

Mr. Hadley, in 1840, married Miss Loretta Cox in Illinois, and they had four children—Charles, Frank and George, who are all farmers, and Eliza Jane, now Mrs. S. B. Eakin.

TRUELOCK FINED A HUNDRED DOLLARS

William Truelock was brought over from Springfield this afternoon and placed in the county jail to serve out a fine of $100 imposed upon him today by Justice of the Peace Humphrey for pointing a pistol at a person. Last evening Truelock filled up on booze and started out to "do" the town. The marshal got after him, whereupon Truelock pulled out a gun and snapped it at the marshal. He was overpowered and taken to jail.

FOR THE BEST INTERESTS OF EUGENE

Editor Guard:—

Now that the election is over and the people have spoken decisively in favor of municipal ownership of our water system, too much cannot be done toward getting together on a common ground in the interests of the common good. No citizen should place an obstacle in the way of the city in its endeavor to acquire the water utilities, and no citizen should get the issue mixed and act according to prejudice or in a spirit of retaliation. There is one way and one way only to proceed, and that is on a safe business basis actuated by business ethics. First plan out carefully just what course to pursue and pursue it.

I can speak only for myself and only in a suggestive way, but believing that my opinion is in conformity with that of most business men, I will state it. I believe we should first approach the water company with the hope of buying their plant, and if they are reasonable we should treat with them. I believe that the interests of the city and the water company are mutual, and that it is just as desirable for the water company to sell at a reasonable figure as it is for the city to buy at a reasonable figure. I think the issue has come down to a pure business proposition on which men of both sides can agree. We don't want competition, we don't want litigation, but what we do want is cooperation on the part of all. My own judgment would be to begin as I have stated so that we could get a basis to work on, then amend our city charter accordingly. I believe we should arrange for a permanent water commission chosen largely from among our business men. I believe the supervision and regulation of our water utilities should be taken out of the hands of the council, who have enough other work to do and where tightly drawn lines often tend to prejudice and divide men who would usually get together on matters of public concern. To believe that such a commission could not be had would be to say that this community has lost its self-respect. That business interests and business ethics, if nothing else, will ensure our safety here. It is upon us to choose the course. No man has a right to hang back. Every man should feel it a duty as well as a privilege to lend his encouragement toward the formulation of the safest and best course. All men who were really sincere on either side, now that there is a definite thing to work for, will help to solve the problem for the common good.
