Sentiment and Practice.

Extract from an address at Nashville, Tenn., March 2d, before 3,350 students and professors, representing 700 institutions of higher learning of the United States and Canada, the occasion being the Fifth International Convention of Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions, on "The Secular Press and Foreign Missions," by J. A. Macdonald, managing editor of the Toronto Globe:

The secular Press can aid the missionary cause by standing for honor and truth and a square deal in the relations of Christian nations with the nations and peoples of the non-Christian world. The British nation is the greatest secular power making for righteousness and civilization which a thousand years of history knows, but the records of British diplomacy, of British trade, of British expansion in India, in China, in Africa, are not unstained, else we had no mutiny, no enforced opium trade, and no Jameson raids, with the horror and shame and unspeakable dishonor that followed in their train. Look you to your affairs, you men of the American Republic, and see if there be in your diplomacy and foreign trade and new-born, far-flung imperialism anything of which your citizens did they but know it, ought to be ashamed.

The history of this wicked world shows most plainly that Christian or pagan it is a matter of the survival of the strongest if not the fittest. The inferior race has never failed to get the worst of it in the inevitable contest for supremacy. Just as we dispossessed the natives of the United States, so we will eventually do in the Philippines, provided of course that the white man can stand the climate. We had little excuse for going over to Asia, still once in possession, if the native uses force in making his objections we will kill him if necessary.

Which?

The political pot is commencing to boil; candidates are looming up thicker than fiddlers in that region inhabited by steamboat and newspaper men; but my best girl has read the blue law of Connecticut to me saying that after June she was going to attend to the sailing of our political ship. Good time coming, Hallelujah!—Cognitive correspondence Bandon Recorder.

Is it a June wedding that is to bring the "good time"—Portland Telegram.

Is the Moon Inhabited

Science has proven that the moon has an atmosphere which makes life in some form possible on that satellite; but not for human beings, who have a hard enough time on this earth of ours, especially those who don't know that Electric Bitters cure headache, biliousness, malaria, chills and fever, jaundice, dyspepsia, distention, torpid liver, kidney complaints, general debility and female weakness. Unequaled as a general tonic and appetizer for weak persons and especially for the aged. It induces sound sleep. Fully guaranteed by W. L. DeLano, druggist. Price only 50 cents.

Timber Claims

Would you use your timber right and take up a claim worth at present prices $250? If so address P. O. Box 402, Eugene, Or.

Storage! Storage! Storage!

Public and private. Storage of all kinds of goods and material, etc., at reasonable prices. Goods received for. Hop storage solicited. Parties having hops to store will do well to see GEO. T. HALL & SON.

Have you a cough, cold, inflammation of any kind, pneumonia, fainting spells, indigestion, or constipation? Hansen's Rocky Mountain Tea makes you feel like a new man. 50 cents. Linn Drug Co.

OF THE Hoffman House

Looks like the Receiving Ward of a Hospital filled with SICK AND AFFLICTED TO SEE

Dr. Ward,

Many are now on the high road to health and happiness.

Dr. Ward cures permanently all cases he undertakes and sends the incurable away without taking a fee from them.

That he is an eminently successful specialist in all chronic diseases is proven by the many cures effected, which have baffled the skill of all other physicians. His vast and extensive practice has made him so proficient that he locates and names a disease in a few minutes. No experiments or failures. He undertakes no incurable cases.

No matter what ails you or what others may have said, call and get his diagnosis, as he often succeeds where cases have been called incurable by those of less experience.

All long standing diseases are treated and at prices within the reach of all.
