Football Hysteria (New York Journal)

Perhaps there is danger of getting a little hysterical about football and its perils.

Nineteen deaths in a season does seem a high price to pay for sport. But how many players were on the "gridirons"? Hardly less than 100,000. In swimming, sailing, motoring, hunting or almost any other sort of manly sport the percentage of fatalities must have been about as great.

Football is not without its advantages, even to members of the community not engaged in its active pursuit. We have in mind a college town which boasts of one of the largest universities in the United States; a college which supports a football team not scored on in three years.

In the little town are some 20,000 people. To every growing boy there the successful coach and the captain are heroes. The little lads emulate the giants. They "train" as they learn that the halfback or right guard is training. They spurn cigarettes, eat wisely and avoid the beer shop as they would a pesthouse.

Perhaps to that extent the football craze is helpful to the rising generation. Its complete outlawry, as demanded by Columbia University, seems an error.

Charleston, Galveston and San Francisco. Disaster has swung around the circle of the lower half of our country with a vengeance.

Oregon and Washington sawmills, in addition to the great demands made on them by the East, will have to furnish the lumber to rebuild San Francisco. There will be plenty of work in our woods for months to come. And all kinds of business will share in the profit.

"Nothing absolutely certain but death and taxes" is an old saying. The ruins of San Francisco were not cool before the city tax collector got into temporary quarters and started collecting again. That the people are paying is attested by a dispatch that $10,000 were collected Friday forenoon.

San Francisco in one way gets great compensation for her vast loss—has got rid of the unspeakable Chinese quarter that occupied a very central part of the city—was the centre till the Chinaman got a foothold. Paying big rents at first they soon got adjoining premises, and adjoining premises to those, and so on till they had all they needed to house and do business in for their thirty thousand or more people. They virtually confiscated the property, as no ordinary business could be done next them. Now compensation for the fire comes in their removal to Hunter's Point, on the extreme southwest part of the city. It is not likely they will ever be allowed another foothold.

Human Blood Mar

A tale of horror was told in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Eugene, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since. It cures hemorrhages, coughs, colds, and all lung troubles, and is the only blood purifier for weak lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by W. L. DeLano, druggist, Second St., Eugene, Ore."

Six years ago I was in and out of hospitals, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since. It cures hemorrhages, coughs, colds, and all lung troubles, and is the only blood purifier for weak lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by W. L. DeLano, druggist, Second St., Eugene, Ore."

WILLAMETTE VALLEY CO.

A New Location

Having moved my music store to Sixth street, one-half block west of Willamette, I recognize the fact that I will have to give inducements to have you go out of your way to find me. I am therefore going to give great reductions on the price of everything in the store, except on articles on which the price is fixed by the manufacturers. I have about 10,000 sheets of the late, copyrighted music in stock that you can have at 15 cents each. You will get about one-fourth off on the other goods, including pianos and organs.

Yours for business,
F. A. RANKIN.

Devil's Island Torture

Is no worse than the terrible case of a man that affected me ten years ago. I was advised to apply Buck's Kidney Pills, and less than a month I was cured. I writes L. S. Smith, of London, Ky. Heals all kidney troubles, and cures like magic. At W. L. DeLano's drug store.

Oregonian Agency

I take this means of informing the people that the headquarters for the Oregonian has been changed to my store, and all complaints and other business will be given careful attention by me. Those who miss their paper will receive a rebate by calling at the store, and I shall consider it a favor to have the subscribers report any slackness in service or make any suggestions for the improvement of service. If you will report either by phone or personally I promise to do all I can to give satisfaction.
