MAYOR WILKINS SAYS CLEAN-UP FRIDAY, MAY 25

Issues Proclamation Setting Apart Day For That Purpose--Asks That School Be Dismissed

Eugene is going to fall into line with all the progressive cities of the country and have a "cleaning-up day." Mayor Wilkins has taken the matter in hand and today issued a proclamation setting apart the 25th day of May for a general cleaning of all public and private premises, and intends to devote his energies to making the new institution a success. The mayor hopes, furthermore, to receive the co-operation of all progressive citizens.

PROCLAMATION.

To the Citizens and Residents of Eugene:

Friday, May 25, 1906, has been set apart for cleaning up day in Eugene, and I would recommend that all citizens clean up their premises in a manner befitting our home city. This is a day we cannot afford to pass by, and a work that should not be neglected. Let us set the example by cleaning up our city as it has never been cleaned before. I would urge that the public schools be dismissed for that day, and the children urged to take active part in this excellent work.

F. M. WILKINS, Mayor.

Typical Hearst Fake

An amusing exposure of "fake" newspaper illustration came in New York the other day. Mr. Hearst's evening paper issued a full page cut of the San Francisco fire, "taken on the spot by a staff photographer." The usual lurid accompaniments would have caused any thinking individual to doubt the authenticity of the picture, for photographers know it is almost impossible to secure a good negative of such a conflagration. In one corner of the halftone appeared the announcement—overlooked by the artist and engraver—that the picture had been copyrighted in 1906 by Mr. So-and-So, of Frisco! Mr. Hearst's editors are now explaining by sawing wood.
