MAY KEEP HAYWARD THE YEAR ROUND

Move on Foot to Have a Permanent Athletic Trainer at the University

The Portland Telegram says: Reports from Eugene are to the effect that there is a move on foot to keep Billy Hayward as athletic trainer the year round, instead of a short time during the spring. Good! Hayward has demonstrated his worth as a trainer, and it will be a decided move for the betterment of athletics if he is on hand all the time. Results can be accomplished that are now almost impossible. It will entail the raising of a fund, presumably, but it will be well worth while. Amateur athletics at the University of Oregon, thanks to President Campbell and his associates, are decidedly clean, and the boys are deserving of encouragement that will come from having a trainer who can be in touch with them at all times during the school year.

Down on Whiskers.
A Kansas expert asks the doctors to remove their whiskers, claiming that the microbes find them a convenient place in which to build their nests and rear their young.
He doesn't want the doctor to go about dropping a word of cheer here and a microbe there and charging it all up in the bill, just as though it were X ray treatment or a prescription for 3 cents' worth of medicine that the druggist would gladly fill for 50 cents.
Whiskers have received some hard blows of late, not including those handed to them by the breezes, and probably they will have to go. But how is the young doctor to make an impression on the public if he doesn't carry around a set of whiskers on his first trip? The public may allow him to give them medicine, but they won't stand for as big charges.

Clara Does.
"He is so bashful we thought he never would get married."
"You say he is wealthy?"
"Yes, fabulously."
"Perhaps his money did the talking."

Spring Showers.
The rain is so wet
That the air's like a river;
You fairly swim through it
And tremble and shiver.
You can't stick your way,
For the streets are so muddy;
You hear yourself swearing
Big oaths bold and bloody.
If this is sweet spring
In her budding young splendor,
She's certainly needing
A hard defender.
I wouldn't give sixpence
For all of her savor.
If this is 'e way a sh
Is biddin' for favor.

Use For His Skill.
"The scrobel is suing the manager for damages."
"Has he a good case?"
"No; he hasn't a leg to stand on."
"Lucky for him he is so skillful in standing on his hands."

Fixed to Fit.
"He is too good for this world."
"Yes, or any other."
"Still, if he were married a trifle he might do for Mars."

Served Some Purpose.
"He likes to see the firemen at work."
"Perhaps he thinks they have discovered a legitimate excuse for water."

Sure.
Johnny—What's silence, Freddy?
Freddy—It's what you don't hear when you listen.

SHORT PARAGRAPHS.
There may be some things more complex than the workings of a woman's mind, but the average man is not acquainted with them.
