Randolph, the Fighter

Referring to the strong language recently emanating from congress and the White House, a writer in the New York World says that John Randolph, of Roanoke, would be disgusted with "the poverty of epithet" displayed. According to this writer the best the president could do was to denounce something as "a deliberate and unqualified falsehood," and the best the senator could do was to brand somebody as "a deliberate and malicious liar." The World writer says:

"To John Randolph that would have been the innocent prattle of babes. There was a man who knew how to quarrel with presidents and congressmen and cabinet officers! When he objected to the Jay treaty he proposed this toast: 'George Washington, may he be damned!' He used to refer to the Adams family as 'the American house of Stuart,' and habitually spoke of John Quincy Adams as 'the cub,' the dubbed Madison 'the emperor' and Monroe 'the mayor of the palace,' and used to sneer at Jefferson as 'St. Thomas of Cantingbury.'"

According to this same authority after Randolph had denounced General Wilkinson as a corruptionist he refused to fight with him because "I cannot descend to your level." He described Flindley, of Pennsylvania, as a "toothless old driveller." Once he ordered a fellow member during a debate not only to sit down, but to leave the chamber by the back stairs. After he had had a dispute with Alston, of North Carolina, he met his opponent in the corridor of the capitol and said:

"Alston, if it were worth while I would cane you." And cane Alston he did.

He pictured and alliance between Bill and Black George the "combination of the Puritan and the black-leg." He described Henry Clay affectionately as "this being so brilliant and so corrupt, which, like a rotten mackerel by moonlight, shone and stunk."

The Oregonian says it doubts "if there is another electorate in the United States so deeply corrupted," referring to Oregon and the election. It really means Portland and Portland politics. Apart from the metropolis Oregon is politically decent. And Portland is no worse than other big cities. Such electorates have got into the habit of buying elections—there are many salable votes there. And with the rabble paid for their votes even decent men come to making it a matter of profit and sale.

The agitation over Chicago slaughtering and canning of meat products has developed one good idea—the placing of the date of canning on the label. If this were done with all canned goods it would result in prompt cleaning up of the older products instead of careless dealers all over the country allowing the older stuff to remain on their shelves while they sell the fresher. By all means compel the placing of the year on the label, not only of meats but vegetable canning.

Pendleton people have grit and no mistake. Instead of feeling blue and discouraged over their recent losses they propose to build a road and better levee and pave their streets with the best material to be had.

Secretary of the Tail wants the privilege of buying Panama commodities in the world's markets. Why? Simply because the processed steel and cement trusts have the government by the throat as it were. And it will be noticed that however the president may protest the "friends" of the tariff trusts in many instances, are not revising it the least bit.

Vice President Fairbanks is said to be worried over Speaker Cannon's boom for the presidency. Uncle Joe is certainly very lively for a seventy-year-old kid and knows all the ins and outs of the political game.

Those grafting Pennsylvania railroad employees seem to have solved the problem of getting rich on a salary of $50 a month.

Tornadoes and floods everywhere except in Western Oregon. This country may be slow in some ways but it never blows or washes away.

Cyclone cellars are very popular in the Middle West just now.

An Octogenarian Family

James Kerr, of Wildwood, this county, was a most welcome caller this week. Mr. Kerr immigrated to Oregon about 23 years ago and has lived in this neighborhood since, engaging in mining and farming. He is now nearing the 70-year date, but hardly considers himself an old man since he has older brothers, one having reached and passed his 82nd birthday. His father, Manasse Kerr, is 105 years old and enjoying robust health. Manasse came to Oregon with his son James 23 years ago and lived here until about five years since when he returned to Pennsylvania. While here the elder Kerr did some mining but now he allows the young man to do the underground work. Mrs. Kerr, James' mother, died at the age of 70 years. The family is long lived, though James may not live to see his 100th birthday for his campaign in the Wilderness in 1864 was not conducive to longevity. —Cottage Grove Western Oregon.

Lorane Items

Lorane, June 6.—Frank Davis had to shoot one of his horses on account of a broken leg last week.

L. E. Ward has gone to Eugene with the election returns.

Rev. Grace, of Cottage Grove, gave a temperance lecture in the M. E. church that was well attended and greatly appreciated.

The Ladies' Aid Society served lunches and meals on election day in the Odd Fellows banquet hall. They report a day of social pleasure with a neat sum in their treasury as a result of the effort.

Business Sale

Notice is hereby given that I have sold my entire interest in the Eugene Oyster Co. to Messrs. George Nicolle and E. G. Been, who will conduct the business along the same lines. Any courtesies shown them will be greatly appreciated. d39 wj14 A. L. ANDREWS.

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller and J. R. Boyd extend their heartfelt thanks to the friends who so kindly assisted them during the illness and death of their beloved sister and daughter.

Eighth Grade Examinations

The final eighth grade examination for the public schools will be held on May 17 and 18, June 14 and 15, 1906. Teachers who have pupils ready for the examination should notify the chairman of the school board, whose duty it is to conduct the examinations in person or appoint some one other than the teacher, and notify me of the number of questions and who is to conduct the said examination so the examiner may receive the questions in time.

W. B. DILLARD,
County Superintendent.

Following the Flag

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at W. L. DeLano's, druggist. Price, 50c and $1.00 a bottle free.

There's little room in the great world of ours for the "fat woman." She's a hindrance to herself in street cars, boats, elevators, but what can she do, poor thing—like Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. Tea or tablets, Lion Drug Co.

Slightly Building Locations

If you want a home building place where you have plenty of room—yet not crowded by neighbors—yet within 10 minutes walk of the business part of town, J. R. Campbell about those two slightly lots where you first will strike the raise of College hill, turning west by Chapman's planing mill, then south to get there. Good sidewalk to property and streets on both sides of lots graded and gravelled. The grading on both sides leaves the lots one to two feet above the grade with a gentle slope on both streets. Splendid view of the valley, mountains and town from the location. An ordinary gait in walking will take you there from the business part of town in ten minutes. At end of lengthwise board walk on left.
