MONROE WOMAN A SECOND CARRIE NATION

McGinnis Used a Hammer on Whiskey, Then Upon Husband's Head

Junction City, Or., June 15.—Carrie Nation could have gained points on throttling the liquor traffic had she been present at the annual picnic at the little town of Monroe, nine miles northwest of here, Saturday. Monroe is a "dry" town in a "dry" county, but despite this fact there were evidences of liquor at the picnic. Mrs. McGinnis, wife of the liveryman, observed peculiar actions on the part of her husband and started an investigation. Finally she discovered the base of supplies in an out bin in her husband's stable. Booze of every variety and description was cached away in that bin, liquid refreshments which had been brought to the picnic from Harrisburg by some of the men.

Mrs. McGinnis immediately got into action. Seizing a hammer she marched forth to battle. Breaking the lock from the out bin she proceeded to demolish every bottle to be discovered. The men who owned the whiskey sent the woman's husband to her to beg that she desist in her crusade, but his efforts were rewarded by a blow on the head with the hammer, which effectually laid him out.

Long Distance Runaway

"Bird," a high spirited mare used for several years on the Campbell & Walker hopyard, never fails with at least one runaway during the cultivating season. Without apparent reason she started the other day, throwing the two men from the platform built on the light wagon from which they were training the vines on the wire. She kept squarely between the rows to the end, made the turn, then several square turns as she went around the yard and out of the gate onto the public road. There she lost her head for the first time, making a square for the rock ribbed bank of the river some fifty feet from the gate. It promised to finish her run away, as the driver was rather high and there is a dangerous current there bugging the rock revictment closely, but she saw her danger in the nick of time, and making an almost square turn the wagon went over, carrying her off her feet onto the brink of the dangerous water. When a passerby caught and held her. In her run of about half a mile through and around the hopyard she stuck to the road so squarely as not to tear down a single vine.

THEY HELD UP THE PARSON

Love Sick Highwaymen Made Captive
Preacher Tie Nuptial Knot.

Since the days of Dick Turpin and Claude Duval the methods of the highwayman have shown but little variety. An exception to this general rule of the road must be noted in the case of the pastor of a rural New York charge, whose duty recently led him along a lonely highway near the village of Hopewell, in that state.

It was evening and was unusually dark for the hour. The pastor, his mind engrossed by his errand, was quietly trudging along when without warning two unpleasant looking strangers sprang from the wayside bushes and halted him. They were powerful built fellows, and the pastor was unarmed. He felt that discretion was the better part of valor and prepared to hand over his modest valuables.

"Are you a parson?" one of the highwaymen demanded. The pastor admitted the fact and no doubt hoped it would secure him a rebate of some sort. "You are the very man we want," said the other highwayman. He whistled softly, and two young women suddenly emerged from the shadows. "We want you to marry us and do it as speedily as possible," said the first highwayman.

Whereat the relieved pastor, having no desire to argue the matter, hastily performed the double marriage ceremony for the elopers and was rewarded with a substantial fee. Then the wedding party bade him good night and disappeared in the gloom, leaving the pastor to resume his lonely journey along the dusky highway.

TONGUE CUT OFF TO SAVE HIM

Boy Placed It Against a Frost Pipe
Because He Was Dared to Do So.

Albert Travis while playing at the Millville (N. J.) ice plant was dared by a boy companion to touch one of the frost pipes with his tongue.

"I never take a dare," he said, and touched the white pipe with his tongue. In a moment he was writhing in pain. His companions laughed, thinking he was playing a joke. One of the engineers, hearing the cry, found the boy on his knees almost unconscious. Young Travis' tongue was terribly swollen and frozen fast to the pipe. All efforts to release him were futile, and his father was summoned.

Learning there was only one way to save his son, he spoke to the engineer and turned away while the man opened a sharp blade of his pocketknife and cut off the lad's tongue. Before Dr. Charles B. Neal could arrive the boy had almost bled to death. It is now thought his dare will cost his life.

Fitting It to the Language.

"I am inventing a breakfast food that is to be cut up into small blocks."
"What is the idea?"
"So that a man can make a square meal on it."

Emulates the Bee.

How doth the busy bee
Improve each shining hour?
By taking dirt encrusted shoes
And giving them a scour.
How patiently he shies away,
Nor wastes any time,
But hustles hard to gather in
The nimbly little dime!

Couldn't Prove It.

"There are just as good fish in the sea as ever were caught."
"How do you know?"
"Well—er—that is, I suppose there are."
"Say, you make me tired. There ain't a fish in the whole blamed pond as big as the ones my Uncle caught when he was a boy."

WHO DOES YOUR Printing

THE best work should go to the best printers. Our job office is the best equipped in Western Oregon. Let us give you an estimate on your work. Every time you dress a job with out-of-date type or send out a job that is poorly done you send out a yellow dog to bark against you. As long as he barks you will lose business. Your business associates and your patrons are apt to form a poor opinion of you if you use cheap and poorly printed stationery. "Cheap" printing is dear in the long run. Our work is artistic and the price is reasonable. When you want any work see us and we will save you money and give you better work than you can get elsewhere in Eugene. If you are "from Missouri" come aound and we will "show you." Don't send away for your printing when you can get better work for the same money here at home.
