OLYMPIC FLOUR.

The great bread-maker of the coast is now available for Eugene housewives. It's a flour of the most perfect color and the choicest flavor. Made of selected Hard Wheat, it produces many more loaves of bread than any other flour and the loaves are lighter. Because of the increased quantity of bread produced the cost is no higher than for other flours.

ANOTHER FARMERS' LINE FROM JUNCTION

At a meeting held at the home of Joe Strone last Monday evening the Hagerman Rural Telephone Co. was organized. This line will be about seven miles in length and will connect the following people with the Pacific States Telephone Co.'s exchange in this city: Fred Tracer, O. W. Washburne, E. Hartley, M. S. Cleek, W. O. Orton, J. A. Ricks, Geo. W. Perry, Joe Strone, J. W. Campbell, David Strone, J. R. Shipley, B. F. Cleek, J. L. Kelly, J. W. Smith and W. T. Driskill will also join the line.

The officers of the company are: Joe Strone, president; E. Hartley, secretary; W. O. Washburne, treasurer. Director—Ben Cleek, J. R. Shipley, O. T. Golden, Fred Tracer and J. A. Ricks. With the completion of this line there will be four new farmers' lines from different directions that have connected with Junction City within the past month. This big addition of farmer subscribers, coupled with the fifteen new phones which have been installed in this city the past four weeks, greatly increases the efficiency of the exchange and its value to subscribers. —Junction City Times.

TURN COWBOY TO WIN A BRIDE

College Man Successfully Conspires With the Daughter of a Ranchman.

FATHER OBJECTED TO DUDES

Taking an Assumed Name, Persistent Suitor Gets a Job on Wyoming Cattle Farm and Convinces 'Old Man' He is All Right.

A marriage recently celebrated in the Wyoming "cattle country" was the culmination of an uncommonly interesting romance of the plains. The heroine of the romance was a well educated young western girl, the only daughter of a gruff old cattleman, and the hero a young college man from the east.

They became acquainted with each other in New Orleans, where both had gone to witness the Mardi Gras festivities. They fell in love at once, and when they met later on in Washington they became engaged. The girl's father was furious. "I won't have you marrying any college dude," he said. "Father," the girl answered, "Mr. Fielding is a college man, but he is not a dude. Whom do you wish me to marry—a cowboy?"

"That would depend upon the cowboy," he answered.

"I suppose one who could beat Bob Taylor at busting bronchos and roping and hog tying and cutting out steers would be acceptable to you, would he not?" she asked.

"Yes, I guess one who could do that would do," he replied.

"You are sure you would consent to my marrying such a man if he should come along and ask me to marry him?" "Oh, yes, I would consent," he replied.

"Very well. I shall hold you to your promise," said the girl, laughing again.

A few weeks after Miss Crissman's return to her western home her lover received a letter from her, saying: "If you still love me and wish to take me to be your own come out west and turn cowboy. I don't mean that you are always to be a cowboy, but you must be one for a time if you want me. And you must be a good one—the best in this whole cattle country. I know you are big and strong, and I remember what you told me about how splendid you were in athletics at college."

Obituary

B. W. Baker died at his home at Turner, Or., June 10th, 1906, at 5:30 p. m. Although a sufferer for many months past the end came suddenly and somewhat unexpected.

The deceased was born in Illinois July 12, 1832, and was 73 years, 10 months and 28 days old at the time of his death. He went to Arkansas with his parents when a small child and in 1836 moved to Missouri; in 1837 to Iowa; in 1852 the deceased moved to Idaho and in 1867 he came to Turner, Or., where he had since resided.

The deceased was married to Eliza Etheridge, who with three children, Mary E. Wheeler, of Lents, Or., J. W. Baker and Ida Lyons, of Turner, Or., five grandchildren and one great grandchild, survive him.

Thirty-two years ago the deceased united with the Southern Methodist church and was esteemed by all who knew him as an honorable Christian man.

WHO DOES YOUR Printing ?

THE best work should go to the best printers. Our job office is the best equipped in Western Oregon. Let us give you an estimate on your work. Every time you dress a job with out-of-date type or send on a job that is poorly done you send out a yellow dog to bark against you. As long as he barks you will lose business. Your business associates and your patrons are apt to form a poor opinion of you if you use cheap and poorly printed stationery. "Cheap" printing is dear in the long run. Our work is artistic and the price is reasonable. When you want any work see us and we will save you money and give you better work than you can get elsewhere in Eugene. If you are "from Missouri" come around and we will "show you." Don't send away for your printing when you can get better work for the same money here at home.
