AN INDEPENDENT PAPER.

MONDAY, AUGUST 20

For a Greater Eugene

A most effective way to build up a town is to talk for it at all times. Convince yourself thoroughly that it has stability and a future big with possibilities and try to impress these facts upon visitors from the outside.

Here in Eugene we have a beautiful town that should be a real city five years from now - if the people who live here will but decree that it shall be so. Few strangers will locate in a town where the residents seem to be doubtful of the future; but where they find everybody members of a sort of push club the spirit becomes infectious. Spokane, Seattle, Los Angeles and Boise have been built up by what seemed at times the most audacious spirit of their people, who would not admit of dull times or a discouraging outlook, especially to visitors and strangers. The barber and bootblack, who generally catch the stranger first, vied with the real estate agent and capitalist in painting the bright future of the town, and all their rosette and seemingly fanciful pictures of greatness that was to be have been realized or are rapidly taking shape.

To come direct to the point, here in Eugene, let's stop talking about the Natron-Ontario-Klamath Falls railroad, as newspapers and individuals; why shouldn't we call it the Eugene-Ontario-Klamath road - that's just what it will be when built, since Eugene, and not Natron, is to be the junction point with the main line of the Southern Pacific. Once this fact is so impressed upon the people and press of the country that it is generally recognized it should be sufficient to double the value of every piece of real estate in the city.

Then we should talk about our mines, Blue River, Bohemia and other districts that if properly advertised would build up a city of themselves. In the mining states less productive camps have drawn thousands of prospectors and visitors from the world over. Probably there are even Lane county people who do not know that we have a producing mine in this part of Oregon.

The Commercial Club should have plenty of literature - not cheap work done in a blacksmith shop, but high, grade nicely-printed and illustrated matter, similar to that distributed by every California county. It should tell about our State University, our beautiful homes and salubrious climate. The electric street and interurban railway that will be begun this fall, the mines and mills that now employ 5000 men and have scarcely made a start toward cutting down the great forests that stand as a background for one of the finest and largest valleys of the West, covered with grain fields, hop yards and fruit orchards. Of our growing manufacturing interests, natural power sites not yet utilized, and railroads that are certain to invade and develop this territory. At the present time the club has on hand no literature worthy of mention. It will cost some money to get it, but in the end will pay large dividends.

Above all, if Eugene is to grow into a city, the time is ripe for unity of action and purpose on part of her people. They must put aside the issues of the past that have divided the population into warring factions, accept present conditions and trust to time to settle the disputed questions in such a manner that the principle of the "greatest good to the greatest number" will be subserved.

Eugene occupies the natural location for becoming and holding the position of the second city in a state that before five years have passed will have a population of 1,000,000 prosperous people. Upon her people will depend largely the realization of their hopes and expectations. The whole thing resolves itself down to this: Can we talk for the town, work for the town, pull for the town - and pull all together and in the same direction?

How many of our Guard's readers will do their full share to make beautiful Eugene, a Greater Eugene? Senator Colton, of Illinois, just re-elected by popular vote in the republican primaries, does not fully endorse Uncle Joe Cannon's keynote speech. He thinks the Danville statesman stood a little too pat on the tariff question; and others think he came out a little too strongly in the labor question. Altogether the effort cannot be regarded as an unqualified success, coming as it did from a prospective presidential candidate.

Ex-Governor Geer, probably the best known and most persistent politician in Oregon, has purchased an interest in the Pendleton Tribune and will become editor of that paper. "While the lamp holds out to burn the vilest sinner may return;" Geer's reformation comes late in life but it is better so than never to have reformed at all.

Down in Oregon City there is a definite movement on foot to form a co-operative fire insurance company. This is a move in the right direction and should be followed by every important town in the state. The hold-up on rates and repudiation of losses by the old companies can be rebuked by the public refusing to longer be jobbed and robbed by them.

Fits and Misfits (Albany Democrat.) The following ad appears in a Salem paper: - To whom it may concern - My wife deserted me when I had a broken leg, so I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her. U. G. Knightlinger.

An exchange has an example that beats the Ann problem. A widow upon securing a license gave 30 as her age. A few days afterwards a son got a license and gave 28 as his age. How old was the woman when her son was born?

Watt Montelth, a former Albany man, will have charge of the preliminaries for the hunting trip of Jim Jerfles and party in the Cascades. The party will start from Roseburg, instead of from Eugene, as recently stated by a Eugene paper, according to the Oregonian.

Eugene Water Found Pure McMinnville T. R.: City water at Eugene has been pronounced pure. State Bacteriologist Ralph Matson has examined samples of the water and has reported that it contains no contamination. His report of the analysis of the water from Eugene has been submitted to State Health Officer Yenny. The water sent to Portland for examination was taken from four widely separated faucets on the same day by Dr. J. W. Harris, of Eugene. Only three weeks ago the new filters of the water company at Eugene were completed. The epidemic of typhoid or malaria at Eugene has entirely disappeared and with the operation of the new filters the people are confident that there will never be a repetition of it.

Coos Bay Times: The sorely afflicted citizens of Eugene may hereafter live in a sense of security since the state board of health has pronounced the city's water supply free from microbes.

A Mystery Solved "How to keep off periodic attacks of biliousness and habitual constipation was a mystery that Dr. King's New Life Pills solved for me," writes John N. Pleasant, of Magnolia, Ind. The only pills that are guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to everybody or money refunded. Only 25c at W. L. DeLeano's drug store.

Humor and Philosophy By DUNCAN M. SMITH

JULY.

The month of ragweed, dust and noise. Of weather without reason. Of shirt waist girls and barefoot boys - In short, the silly season. Yes, July. You have some good points Maybe. But you'll have to admit You are shy On zero weather. Whether That is a good talking point If one were a drummer With a nice line of July For sale Is a matter On which the jury Might disagree. But what's the use Talking of that When we have to keep Our ice Locked up in a safe To prevent you From swallowing A fifty pound chunk Whole? You carry A red hot stove Around in your pocket All the time. And then you kick Because sometimes it gets Less than 38 degrees In the shade. But, say, You have no business head If you don't get A rakeout From every ice cream joint. From every drug store And from every electric fan maker. Without you Their owners might as well Pull down their signs And buy a shovel.

The Great Mystery. "Did they ever find out who struck Billy Patterson?" "What did they strike him for, a quarter?" "Must have been more than that. Judging from the way he hollered."

A Regular Event. "I am going to attend her twenty-first birthday party and expect to have a good time." "You ought to. I had a fine time when I attended her twenty-first birthday party eleven years ago."

Failed. He swore by the beard of the prophet. To whom he was bound as a slave, He would capture renown, but of course he fell down. For the prophet, alas, got a shave!

Protecting Him. "I wish you would introduce me to your tailor." "I would like to, but I happen to know that the poor man has a hard enough time getting along as it is."

Raise the Hogs. "A farmer's life ought to be a happy one." "Why?" "Because the fat of the land is his."

Save Money. In Spain we build our splendid halls And castles quite phenomenal, And then when the assessor calls The taxes are but nominal.

The Way to Tell. "Women talk a lot." "Yes, but they always mean what they don't say."
