JEFF ADVERTISES M'KENZIE RIVER HUNTING GROUNDS

All Walker, who was up on the South Fork of the McKenzie with the Jeffries party recently, has received a letter from a member of the party now at Los Angeles, stating that the enthusiastic description given by Jeffries and the other members of the party of the McKenzie country as a hunting and fishing place is being given widespread publicity and it is believed that it will be the means of bringing several hundred Los Angeles hunters here next summer. Jeffries is unstinted in his praise of the McKenzie country as a sportsman's paradise and whatever Jeff says goes in Los Angeles.

ANOTHER GRAVEL BAR MAY BE TAPPED

A report is in circulation, though not verified, to the effect that the Southern Pacific company will tap the gravel bar directly across the river from the woolen and planing mills. It would not be very much trouble to extend the tracks from the bar which the company is now working to the other one, and the same trestle across the river now in use would be used. It is not probable, however, that the new bar will be touched this year, as the time will soon be here when the river will begin to rise, making it impossible to operate the gravel trains in the pit.

Young Chickens Wanted

Any One Can Spell Shakespeare.
One is not in danger of misspelling the word Shakespeare. Some one has discovered 4,000 ways, of which the following, as they actually appear in old documents, are examples: Shakspeare, Shaxpere, Shakspeare, Shaxper, Shakspeare, Shagpere, Shakspeyr, Shaxspere, Shaxpur, Shaxper, Shaksper, Shackspeare, Saxpere, Shackspeire, Shakspeare, Shakspeare, Shakspear, Shakspear, Shakspeare, Shakspeare, Shakspear, Shakspear, Shakspear, Shakspear, etc. If the chirography of Shakespeare himself is any authority twenty-two of these ways are correct.

A Nation of Sleepers.
"Rare slumberers are the Turks," declares a writer. "In the villages, at any rate, they will drop into the land of dreams on the slightest pretext and at the shortest notice. This habit has advantages, one being that the Turk does not at all mind being awakened in the dead of night, for the simple reason that he can go to sleep again the instant he wishes. When staying in very limited quarters I have often heard a member of the family get up and after searching about among his sleeping companions thoroughly rouse them all to ask where his tobacco was or upon some equally slight excuse."

Enough Money.
Half a dozen brokers were discussing Russell Sage and his peculiarities when one of them told this story: The financier was once asked, "When does a man get enough money, Mr. Sage?" "When he gets $10,000 more," said Uncle Russell as he stopped at an apple stand for a moment. Then he passed on without buying.

His Part.
"Look here," remarked the thrifty man to his extravagant wife, "you're carrying too much sail, my lady." "I don't know why you should bother about that," she retorted. "No?" said he. "I think I should, since I have to raise the wind."

Brought Down the House.
Critics--I hear that the new man's acting brought down the house. Manager--Yes, it did. In one week it brought down the house from 800 to 10 people and the attendants.

In the Doctor's Waiting Room.
Doctor (entering suddenly)--Which of you has waited longest? Shears (sulkily)--I. I have waited six months, and you haven't paid me for that last suit yet!

The First Son.
Nodd--I can't make up my mind what college to send that boy of mine to. Todd--How old is he? Nodd--Nearly three weeks.
