FIRST ARREST UNDER NEW ORDINANCE

Charles Kuthe, of the Firm of Hartley & Kuthe, Fined Five Dollars and Costs for Keeping His Place Open After Midnight

The first arrest under the new "blue law", as it is called by some, passed by the city council at its last session, occurred early Sunday morning when Charles Kuthe of the firm of Hartley & Kuthe who conduct the cigar store and billiard parlor formerly owned by Roberts Brothers, was taken into custody by the night police for keeping his place open after midnight. He was cited to appear in the police court today. This afternoon he pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs, the minimum penalty. The maximum is $25 and costs. Mr. Kuthe states that he was unaware of the existence of such a provision in the new law. His place has always been conducted in a very orderly manner, and the violation of the ordinance was entirely unintentional.

Places Closing Up.

The several "soft drink" parlors are one by one closing up and going out of business. The proprietors realize that they are "up against it" and most of them have decided to quit business entirely. That will make several more empty business houses.

THOUGHT PETE GILBERT WAS W. J. BRYAN

Former Eugene Grocer Mistaken for the Great Commoner in Portland One Day Last Week.

In Portland one day last week P. D. Gilbert, a former Eugene grocer, now a commercial traveler, was mistaken for W. J. Bryan. He was in the Imperial Hotel lobby when he noticed an immense crowd on the outside. Not knowing what the attraction was Mr. Gilbert stepped out of the front door to ascertain the cause of the gathering. Standing on the step slightly above the crowd, he gazed over the sea of faces, his profile being presented to a greater portion of the assembly.

Suddenly some one yelled, "Hello, Bill!"

"Three cheers for Bryan," came from another quarter, and a shrill voice from across the street yelled, "Speech."

It was then that Mr. Gilbert realized that the crowd thought they were addressing the great commoner. He cast a hasty glance at the faces turned in his direction, and then bolted for the interior of the hotel.

The crowd, discovering its mistake, quickly dissolved.

AMUSEMENTS

Portland Telegram: There was standing room only at the Empire theatre yesterday afternoon, but many took it rather than miss seeing the well-known scenic melodrama, "The Midnight Flyer," which opened at that house with the matinee performance. The production ranks high from many standpoints, and it kept the big audience busy expressing its mirth, its approval of the good things and its severe disapproval of the villianous acts of the two bad men in the cast.

The scenic features of "The Midnight Flyer" are extraordinary and the various scenes brought storms of approving applause from the house yesterday.

If you want to see a show that will keep you stirred up every minute of the time you are in the theatre, see "The Midnight Flyer." There are no opportunities for naps —it is the keenest sort of action from start to finish. At the Eugene theatre Tuesday, January 29.

OREGON NEWS

L. B. Bromn has received a cablegram from a London commission house to which he consigned a carload of Rogue River Valley Newtons conveying the pleasing intelligence that the entire carload of 4½ tier fruit would net him $2.14 per box at Medford. When it is known that this shipment was not of the highest grade the price is phenomenal.—Medford Tribune.

Twenty-eight deeds were filed at Corvallis this week conveying land around Philomath to M. B. Rankin. Among the grantors are: J. K. Weatherford, 160 acres in two tracts; E. W. Langdon, 480 acres and 1410 acres. The consideration is nominal.

Men crossed the river on the ice at The Dalles last week—that is, occasionally, it being hardly safe.

The price of hair cuts has been raised to 35 cents at Walla Walla, except for bald headed men, 15 cents. Massages, 50 cents.

Mrs. W. J. Bryan was once a pupil of Dr. Parvin, the music teacher now of Portland, at Perry, Ill. They had a pleasant meeting in Portland.

WILLIAM E. GWYNN IS PACIFIC'S CHAMPION

Pacific University, Forest Grove, Or., Jan. 26.—Last night in the Brighton chapel occurred the local oratorical tryout to choose a representative at the state contest to be held at McMinnville March 10.

William E. Gwynn won first place with "A Defender of Freedom," and Frances Clapp second with "A People of Promise."

There were several numbers on the program besides the orations, as follows: Piano solo, Miss Wilma Waggoner; duet, Misses Maud and Katheryn Shannon; reading, Professor F. W. Orr; vocal solo, Miss Ethel Moseley.

The judges on composition were Professor James Ewing and Lydell Baker, of Portland, and Rev. Kilpatrick, of Hillsboro. On delivery the judges were Rev. Boyd and Judge Hollis, of Forest Grove, and Dr. Hazzard, of Portland.

CENTRAL ITEMS

(Special Correspondence.)

Llewellyn, Jan. 28.—The young people of our neighborhood spent a very enjoyable evening at the home Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Perkins on Thursday. The chief amusements were skating and parlor games. At midnight a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess, after which the guests departed for their homes, all declaring they had spent the most enjoyable evening of the season.

Rev. Mark Munson, of Roseburg, held services on Sunday, his regular day at the schoolhouse, with a very large attendance.

Miss Dora Gates, of Crow, visited Miss Ida Job Saturday and Sunday.

The Norweigan Aid Society had an auction sale here the 19th. They sold many beautiful and useful articles, and the fishing pond was a very great attraction to the young folks. The sale was a very successful one, with Mr. Hanson, of Spencer Creek, as auctioneer.

The Central Literary and Debating Society will have their regular meeting Friday evening at the school house. Everybody invited to attend.

NEWS ITEMS FROM THE LOWER SIUSLAW

A letter from Mrs. Stella Ford to a friend in Florence brings the information that her mother, Mrs. James Slover, formerly a resident of North Fork, died on December 24, 1906, of paralysis. When last heard from the Slovers were living at Gold Hill, Oregon.

D. E. Severy, of Florence, has been appointed a United States commissioner and received his commission yesterday. As soon as his seal arrives, which will be within a day or two, Mr. Severy will be prepared to transact land business for those desiring his services.

Wise Counsel From the South.

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship, of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking a few more bottles I was completely cured; so completely cured that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee by W. L. DeLano, druggist. Price, 50 cents.

OREGON CENTRAL CREW NOW AT HAZEL DELL

(Special Correspondence.)

Lowell, Jan. 28.—Wm. Kelsay is hauling supplies for the Oregon Central railroad surveyors that are camped at Hazel Dell and locating on what is called Salmon creek and Salt creek route to the Odell lakes, and says the roads in places are almost impassable and it takes four good horses to pull one ton of freight to its destination.

Sam Stiers, of Middle Fork, has a position in the Hills Bros.' logging camp.

The Rush Island school will close next week until the spring term begins.

Clarence McBee has his new house covered at Rush Island and is now at work on the inside and will soon be ready to move in.

John Cain has bought the farm of Langey Winfrey, located near the Middle Fork schoolhouse.

We are having fine weather and everybody is hustling getting ready for spring work.

It is time to plant potato seed to have early tomatoes. Plant in a box and keep in the house until danger of frost is past. Also early cabbage. Clean up the garden, manure and plow good and deep so it will be in good shape to plant early.

There are patches of snow on the ground yet, but the ground is not frozen much, and that only in the coldest spots.

Our ferry is tied up and not fit to operate and the road by the way of Fall Creek is next to impassable, so we are nearly cut off from Eugene except by horseback. We need a bridge badly, as it is the only way to solve the problem.

Mr. Goodman, the road supervisor of Middle Fork road district, is at work with a crew of men in the vicinity of Gourd Rock hill fixing some bad places in the road. At one place the river bank has tumbled in and there will have to be a grade made for two or three hundred yards.

The Bank Habit

The bank habit is easily acquired by starting an account. When the amount begins to grow, you begin to grow with it. You enjoy the comfort of feeling that you are independent—financially sufficient unto yourself—abundantly able to provide for yourself and family in every emergency; to meet the growing demands of your business.

A bank cultivates and encourages thrifty habits, places you in touch with successful people and gives you a strong financial standing in the community.
