COLTS WIN GAME FROM ROSEBURG

McCormick's Colts won their third successive victory at Recreation Park Sunday afternoon when they defeated the Roseburg team in a well-played and interesting game of baseball. The score was 9 to 2, but this does not indicate the relative merits of the two teams. The game was very even save for one inning, when Roseburg went up in the air and the locals chased seven men across the home plate.

The visitors started the scoring in the first inning, when one run was made. It began to look blue for the Colts for a while, for they were piling up goose eggs, but in the third they made two and were one ahead; Roseburg tied the score in the fifth and it remained that way until the fatal seventh, when Mathews, the visiting slasher, weakened and the locals hit him almost at will. With several clean-cut hits and a number of errors seven runs were made in that chapter. This ended the run getting for both teams and the game closed with some pretty ball by both sides in the last two innings.

A good-sized crowd witnessed the game and Roseburg was cheered almost as much as the home team. The score:

Eugene... 0 0 2 0 0 0 7 0 x-9
 Hits... 0 0 1 0 1 1 4 0 x-7
 Roseburg... 10 0 0 1 0 0 0 0-2
 Hits... 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1-4

Summary.
 Earned runs—Eugene, 3. Two-bases hit—Jewett. Bases on balls—Off Mathews, 3. Struck out—By DeNeff, 11; by Mathews, 4. Left on bases—Eugene, 5; Roseburg, 1. Stolen bases—Hill, Moshburger (2), Edwards, Weed (3). Double play—Jewett to Effert. Wild pitch—Mathews. Hit by pitcher—McCormick. Umpires—Ben Bingham, Scorers—Pete Howe and Sid Smith.

SPOKANE WINS LONG FIGHT FOR FREIGHT RATES

St. Paul May 13—A freight conference of vast importance to the business interests of Spokane was held today in the offices of J. J. Hill between high officials of the Hill and Harriman systems. Freight reductions were decided upon which have been contended for by the jobbing and mercantile interests of Spokane for many years.

OREGON PRODUCE CO. IS INCORPORATED

Name of Seattle Produce Company Is Changed—Will Enlarge Business and Continue at Old Stand in Gordon block.

The Oregon Produce Company filed articles of incorporation with the county clerk late Saturday afternoon. The incorporators are C. G. Hemenway, V. V. Hemenway and A. W. Kaykendall, and the principal place of business is Eugene. The capital stock is $5000, and the objects and aims of the corporation are to buy and sell produce and to buy, sell, mortgage and hypothecate real estate.

This firm is the old Seattle Produce Company, which was established here several years ago by E. J. McClanahan and bought out during the past year by these young men. The old name was misleading and often their mail was directed to Seattle by mistake. The name, Oregon Produce Company, is very appropriate, and there will be no mistakes as to the location of the firm.

A. W. Kaykendall, one of the incorporators of the company, stated to a Guard reporter today that the $5000 capital stock of the corporation is all paid up and it may be necessary to increase it at some future date. They will continue business at the old stand in the Gordon block and will enlarge the scope of their business in the near future.

The incorporators of the new firm are all young men of exceptional business qualifications, and as they are rustlers they are bound to succeed.

ROUTES HOLDUP MAN WITH A REVOLVER

Henry Gibbs Draws His Gun and Would Be Highwayman Runs, Had a Pal Across the Street.

Eugene seems to have been full of robbers and desperate characters last night. Besides the safe robbery at DeLano's drug store an attempt was made to hold up Henry Gibbs, proprietor of the Theater cafe, as he was on his way home about 9 o'clock last night.

As Mr. Gibbs reached the corner of West Fifth and Chestnut streets a man met him and asked him for a match. Mr. Gibbs had just noticed that the fellow had thrown away a cigarette and didn't need a match, and as his appearance was suspicious he drew a revolver and pointing it at the would-be hold-up man, asked: "What do you want?" The fellow was taken by surprise, and stepped back a few feet, whistled to some one across the street, and then ran. Another was seen running with him as he disappeared in the darkness. Mr. Gibbs says the revolver was not loaded, and if the fellow was of a mind to be caught he could have easily overpowered him, with the assistance of his pal across the street.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

SLUMBER TIME.

When night has pulled the curtains down
 And set the stars to blinking,
 When foxes chuckle on to roost
 And daylight starts a slinking,
 That hour whose pains have been sung
 So ably by the poet,
 Then is the time for slumber, but
 The average man don't know it.

He dopes is that the day perhaps
 Might have been made for slumbering;
 The night for purposes like that
 He'd hardly think of using.
 Along toward morning when the day
 Out in the east is breaking,
 He might consent to take a nap
 And leave no call for waking.

He doesn't like to waste the night
 In lost serenely sleeping
 When there are many kinds of dates
 That call aloud for keeping.
 If in the daylight he can doze
 Away at gentle pressure,
 He feels he's just that much ahead
 And for the night time fresher.

They say that nature does not make
 Mistakes in many cases,
 But here is one where that smooth girl
 Fell down in several places.
 To man she should have handed out,
 Along with her best wishes,
 Eyes on the order of those worn
 By owls and little babes.

Away From Home.

"Has he land out west?"
 "Just five acres in the suburbs of Omaha."
 "That is not an extensive farm."
 "No, but it is large enough to allow him to pose as a prominent western ranchman when he goes east."

Knew Better.

"Jones' children can't be very bright."
 "Why not?"
 "I never heard him bragging on them."
 "No; that is because he is."

Looking For a Few.

If kissing goes by favor,
 Enough like bread and cheese,
 But free if you can get them,
 Just pass the favors please.

She Combed Him Down.

"They are on their honeymoon."
 "Indeed, I am surprised!"
 "Why?"
 "Because the way she has been going over him I thought it must be the honeymoon."

Not Bitter Enough.

"He is a bad man from Bitter creek."
 "How does he know the creek is bitter? I'll bet $10 to a shoe button that he never tasted of it to see."

The Popular Brand.

"Do you ever use condensed milk, condensed meats and the like?"
 "No, but we used condensed coal this winter. Our dealer only delivered 1,600 pounds to the ton."

Escaped.

He ordered some musicians
 For his attraction, and
 When it turned out a failure
 He ran to beat the band.
