

ATTORNEY CAMPBELL PLEADS FOR SCHMITZ

San Francisco, June 13.—Lawyer Campbell, in closing his address to the jury in the Schmitz case today, cited incident after incident from the testimony of Former Police Commissioner Reagan, the object being to show that Reagan was not in any of his acts controlled by the mayor.

One of his strongly urgent arguments was this: "If these French restaurants were immoral places they had no right under the law to exist, and having no right under the law to exist, there could be no threat to do them unlawful injury."

Campbell contended that the action taken against the French restaurants was not that the mayor made an attempt to hold them up, but was a crusade against the immorality attending their conduct of their upstairs business, and that no legal rights were attacked; that when the mayor said to Reagan:

"If these places are doing an immoral business, you ought to shut them up," he merely expressed a sentiment and desire wholly creditable and wholly in keeping with his duty. Yesterday was an ear-burning day for Mayor Schmitz. Seated at the counsel table before the altar in the Jewish synagogue on Bush street, he heard Abe Ruef, his former political friend, philosopher and guide, practically call him a perjurer to the jury, and with that same burning he listened to a scathing denunciation of himself at the hands of Special Prosecutor Hiram Johnson.

And if there was balm for scoured feelings in the speech that closed the day, the speech of his own attorney, Mr. Barrett, he took no open heed. Indeed, during most of the two hours and twenty-five minutes that Mr. Barrett was speaking, the mayor was either glancing over newspapers or buried deep in typewritten pages of testimony. But no word of the prosecutor's address escaped his sensitive ears.

PEABODY AND ORCHARD MEET FACE TO FACE

Boise, June 13.—Former Governor Peabody and Harry Orchard met face to face in the office of Attorney J. H. Hawley at the noon recess of court today. Orchard was speaking, talking to another man, when Peabody entered. Orchard recognized him at once, his face changed and he shrank back and trembled. The former governor smilingly held out his hand, saying: "How are you, Orchard?" Orchard broke down completely. He said: "I am ashamed to look at you, sir; I am ashamed to speak to you."

The governor reassured him in a few kindly words and Orchard said: "I'm thankful that I didn't kill you, and am spared the thought of that crime."

WHOLESALE ARREST OF RUSSIAN SAILORS

London, June 13.—A dispatch from Sebastopol says that Vice Admiral Wisen has arrested six hundred disaffected seamen at that port and placed them on a cruiser under a strong guard. The additional arrests being made will probably make necessary another penal cruiser, while the seamen of the fleet are exasperated because no charges have been preferred against the arrested men. It is reported that a mutinous outbreak is likely.

MURDERER ORCHARD WEEPS LIKE CHILD ON WITNESS STAND

Boise, June 13.—After withstanding with marvelous strength a week's examination that was one prolonged confession of crime Orchard today broke down for a few moments and wept like a child. His unweaving confession and the mention of King David as a murderer, the Biblical figure which is supposed to be Orchard's later guide. The defense had given a solemn tone to the scene preceding the meeting between Orchard and Detective McParland, to whom he confessed, by showing that Orchard was first illegally brought to the penitentiary and thrust into almost solitary confinement. Then came the story of David and Uriah. Orchard faltered and tried to hold back his tears, but lost in the struggle. He buried his face in his handkerchief, but the questions went on mercilessly as before, and it was full three minutes before the answers were coming in the old tone.

The defense tried to show that McParland had played a disreputable part in the Molly McGuire prosecution, and that he had promised Orchard immunity. Orchard told of his conversion, and that when in the penitentiary he thought over his past life. He testified today that he was a Mason when he lived in Canada. At the afternoon session Orchard testified that he promised that if Steve Adams was arrested and put in the same cell with him he would try to get him to make a confession. In the course of his testimony Orchard said: "It has always been the talk among Hayward, Moyer and others of the Western Federation that if any one coughed up anything about the federation it wouldn't be good for them." Cross-examination completed. The cross-examination of Orchard was completed at 2:30. He has been in the stand nine days and under cross-examination for 28 hours. Richardson announced that he desired to later lay the foundation for impeachment of his testimony. Richardson announced that he had between 150 and 200 witnesses to call for the defense, and said his impeachment examination would not take up more than thirty minutes. Attorney Hawley asked that he be allowed to take up one question of the direct examination and said he desired to postpone the redirect examination until the defense laid its foundation for impeachment. Hawley took up the planting of the bomb at Judge Godard's gate. The bomb itself was produced and identified by Orchard. The defense declined to cross-examine the witness on this subject, and Orchard left the stand at 2:38.

ACCOMPLICE IN GARL ROBBERY IS HANDSAKER

DEPUTY SHERIFF HAMMOND UP
IN CASCADE MOUNTAINS SEV-ENTY MILES AWAY AFTER
YOUTHFUL HOLD-UP ARTIST

Sheriff Fisk Suspected Him and Pearce of Crime from First from Fact That Footprints Led From
Garl's House to Handsaker's—
Pearce Told Story of Robbery.

Deputy Sheriff Hammond is up in the Cascade mountains, 70 or 75 miles away, after Sam Handsaker, a young man residing at Natron, who is charged with being an accomplice of Harold Pearce, who is now in the county jail, having confessed to the robbery of Uriah Garl at Natron on the night of May 25.

The Guard has been aware for several days of the fact that Handsaker was wanted in connection with the robbery, but on request of Sheriff Fisk has heretofore kept it quiet so that there would be no possible chance of Handsaker getting information that the deputy had started after him. Now that time enough has expired for the deputy to reach his destination in the mountains where Handsaker is supposed to have gone after cattle, and it being probable that he has started home with his prisoner by this time, there is no danger in printing the news.

Immediately after the robbery occurred these two young men were suspected of the crime from the fact that footprints were traced from Garl's house to the home of Handsaker. As stated in the Guard yesterday, Pearce was shadowed and finally the man detailed to watch him secured a confession. His arrest followed and Deputy Sheriff Hammond was sent after Handsaker.

Both young men are about 22 years old and are well connected. Handsaker being a member of one of the best known families in the county, and is married.

TODAY IS CLEANUP DAY AT NEW PARK

Owing to the threatening weather there was not a very large crowd of men at Hendricks' Park today to clean up the grounds and clear them of the brush, but those who did go out did some very good work and by tonight the park will present a very much better appearance than it has heretofore. The workers were furnished with hot coffee at noon, they taking their own lunch with them. Ex-Mayor F. M. Wilkins, president of the city park commission, headed the workers and under his direction they made good progress throughout the day. A few showers stopped work for a while at times, but they were no great hindrance and the men did not mind the moisture much.

STEAMER OHIO DAMAGED BY ICE SUNK AT NOME

Seattle, June 13.—A special dispatch to the Times from Nome says the steamer Ohio struck ice at Port Safety yesterday morning. A great hole in the Ohio's bow began filling rapidly and a terrific panic ensued, during which the davit lines were cut and the life boats dropped into the sea. Seventy-five persons jumped from the ship or were precipitated from the life boats onto the ice or in the water. Two white men and one Chinaman were drowned. One of the white men was Otto Anderson. The coolness of the ship's officers prevented greater loss of life. By closing the ship's bulkheads they did much toward saving the craft and the lives of the passengers.
