WHY GO TO COLLEGE?

We are often asked, should a young man or woman go to college? We hear this question discussed a great deal and hear many arguments both for and against a college course. As to the propriety of it let it be said that it all depends on so many circumstances that a direct answer is impossible. That every young man or woman should go to college is just as nonsensical as that no one should go at all. Real genius is independent of all conditions, and hence some of the world's greatest men never entered a college door. Such was the case of Abraham Lincoln. It always seems to us that a college education would have spoiled him and crippled his rare genius. But all such men have a training of some kind and equal to a college education.

But on the other hand, all other things being equal, a college education is necessarily of great value. Because a few or many college graduates are failures in most of the attributes of real manhood is no argument against the college. If they go into college as impracticables, as a rule they will come out the same. A college develops, but does not create. It is an artificial institution an dnot a supernatural one. The question of going to college or not can only be solved by knowing the man or woman, the college and the circumstances incident to the case. Here, as in all cases, every tub must stand on its own bottom. Individuality must be consulted. Many persons will not take an education any more than some coarse, rough stones will not take a polish. To attempt to educate them is to throw away time and money. It is to encourage false ambitions and to breed disappointments. On the contrary, supposing the possession of a good mind and charcater, there is nothing that can add to its power and usefulness like a college education. Here the mind is taught to work. The foundation may be laid for all future growth and development. A college education of the right kind and in the care of the right person is capital invested and well invested. It is not simply a money investment, but also a mind and heart investment, and brings pleasure and enjoyment to all subsequent life. Hence go to college if at all practicable.

STATE LEGISLATURES LOSE THEIR POWER

Recently the Denver News had a most timely and interesting editorial in which it called attention to the fact that the papers of the entire country have teemed with praises of Governor Hughes, of New York—and rightly. He is all that an executive should be. He has shown it possible for a clean man in the governor's chair to get the legislation the people want, without resorting to trades and bedevilments of "practical" politicians.

He has made a record that takes him appreciably nearer the White House, and if he should indeed be Roosevelt's successor, the only ones who would regret his choice are those whose dislike is the sure index of the value of a public officiti.

But there is something about this New York situation which is by no means so pleasant. That is the virtual abdication of the legislature. Hughes has literally bossed the whole works. He has done it by the clean might of public opinion; he has been fair and above board about the whole matter, and he has acted steadily for the interests of the people.

But the point is that one of the three great branches of government has practically ceased to exist. Its chief business has been to carry out the orders of the executive, grumbling value of a public official.

And the condition in New York is repeated in nearly every state in the Union. The state legislatures have lost their power. Sometimes the governor has picked it up, sometimes the courts, often, too often, it has has gone into the irresponsible hands of the "interests." But everywhere it has escaped or is escaping from the hands into which it was originally given.

That story in the Washington Herald of a Potomac carp which dragged a boy into the river and tried to carry him off, suggests another candidate for the nature-fakers' club. It is significant, too, that it was not told until after Teddy had left town for the summer.

The third-term-or-busters have made a bid for the Fairbanks support by whooping it up for "the old ticket again." They also seem to have got a strong hold on John Temple Graves, who is still boosting Roosevelt and predicting Southern support for him.

Ambassador Bryce says every citizen "ought to respect the judgment of those whom he knows to be wiser than himself." They do, Mr. Bryce, but they are too few to count. The majority will not admit that there are any such.

The Hague conference has been formally opened and the bungs are about to be knocked out of many barrels of pent-up talky-talk, including the supply of the tiresome gentleman who signs his name W. R. Stead.

"Bob" Thomas, who made his million out of Kentucky lumber and took up horse racing for amusement, has been a great white light since he annexed a bride. He says: "A man who won't marry is simply no good."

As soon as the stories of the visitors to the Jimtown show square with the paid press agents' yarns the box office will get the full and heavy feeling so much sought by investors.

And then again, foxy old Uncle Sam may be financing that Jap jingoism with the hope that it may lead to the swiping of the Philippines. You never can tell about these things.

A West Virginia saloon keeper made three attempts at suicide in one day, which looks like an encroachments on the prerogatives of patrons.

A PAGAN

Beyond the golden organ tones
And silvery horns of soft acclaim
I seemed to hear your angel voice
And dream upon your lovely name.

They sent soft incense through the aisles,
They raised on high the holy wine;
I only seemed to scent your hair
And dream upon your face divine.

Oh, am I pagan thus to kneel
In this gray shrine with ardor faint
And 'mid the praying folk devout
To dream upon my own sweet saint!
—John Russell Hayes, in The Reader for June.

NEW BRICK YARD FOR SPRINGFIELD

Knox Brothers Lease Ground at Head of Mill Race — Hilarious Eugene Kids.

Two young men by the name of J. and M. Knox came to Springfield some time ago and have leased a tract of land from Mr. Machen about one mile east of Springfield, at the head of the mill race, for a brick yard. The spot that they have chosen offers the very best of brick clay and they claim that there is plenty of soil to last them for years to come. This season they will manufacture only the soft mud brick, but anticipate putting in a press for making pressed brick this fall. With the machinery that they now have they will be able to make 8000 per day. They claim they will have ready for the market within thirty days between 150,000 and 200,000.

Bad Kids from Eugene.

Wednesday morning a load of young boys and girls passed through Springfield who were out for a time, or at least we would judge they were out for a time by the condition they were in. They hail from Eugene and we could mention the names of part of them if we wish, but to save their poor mothers further agony we will not do so this time. However, one would judge from their appearance and conduct that they had been drinking too much cincinnatis or ginger ale. Young men and young women of that age think that it is smart to live a dissipated life, but little do they dream of the shame and disgrace that is sure to follow. Think of the broken-hearted mother that has faithfully worked and prayed for these same young boys and girls that they might grow up to be good and pure men and women.

News Notes.

people who know now to take care of themselves—the majority do not. The liver is the most important organ in the body. Herbine will keep it in condition. V. C. Simpkins, Alba, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for chills and fever and find it the best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it. It is as good for children as it is for grown-up people and I recommend it. It is fine for la grippe." Linn Drug Co.

Mrs. Charles Bailey, Mrs. J. C. Bailey and Mrs. Denning left Thursday morning for Schuyler, Nebraska. Mrs. Charles Bailey's brother is very sick and the principal object of her visit was to see her brother.

Mrs. C. F. Hurlburt while walking in the lawn of Lee Anderson last Friday evening, stepped in a trench that had been dug for water pipes, and sprained her ankle quite severely. It will be necessary to keep her ankle in splints for several weeks.

Miss Gertrude Bushnell returned home Tuesday morning after spending several weks in Ashland. She was a passenger on the flyer that was wrecked near Cottage Grove, and while she escaped uninjured, she was considerably startled, and thought something serious was going to happen.—Times.

TRIMMING SHADE TREES. NOTICE TO OWNERS

All property owners must within 15 days from notice hereof cause all shade trees in front of their premises, and on their premises overhanging the street, to be trimmed to a height of not less than fifteen feet, so as to afford to travelers an uninterrupted view of street lights, or be subject, for failure to do so after notice, to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $20.
