EUGENE HAS FINE OPPORTUNITIES NOW (Oregon Daily Journal)
With a railroad to Siuslaw and another to the Blue River mining district, Eugene will begin to appear on the map as quite an important railroad center. Her people have fine opportunities to boost that fine town along now.

FRAGMENT OF ANCIENT HISTORY UNEARTHED FOR GUARD READERS

It seems that in the dim and misty past a contract was let to the Warren Construction Company to give certain blocks of Willamette street in Eugene; it was so long ago that the specifications and conditions of the ancient agreement have become more like legendary tradition than anything else, but there are old settlers who still profess to remember many of the circumstances attending the letting of the contract, and the high hopes of having better streets than that were indulged in by the people at that time. This is a remarkable feat of memory, since the event referred to happened as long ago almost as the granting of the franchise for a street railway to the Willamette Valley Company, upon which work was to begin "in the near future," and that was a long, long time ago, as the fairy story writers would put it. It is even related that the paving company shipped a rock crusher and other accessories to this city and pulverized a few tons of rock, but as their contract provided for the paving of the street when the track for the electric road was laid, both companies to begin work simultaneously, and when one was ready the other wasn't, the work never actually began. Time and again a date was set for the commencement of work, but the people after a while began to regard the announcement something like they now regard the S. P. Co.'s promise to build a new depot "next summer."

Still, after all this time, there are some aged residents of the city who believe that the "successors, heirs and assigns" of the Warren Construction Company and Willamette Valley Company will sometime "in the near future" reach an understanding and and fix a date upon which they may actually begin operations together. Occasionally an old gray-bearded pioneer is seen to gaze down the main thoroughfare of the city and murmur, with a far away, prophetic stare in his falling eyes:
"They're going to pave, I feel it, yet—
The street that's called Willamette."

Note.—This editorial was written for publication during the editor's summer vacation in 1929, and got in today by mistake in place of another brain throb entitled "Work Begins on Willamette Street Tomorrow." The office boy declares that it about fits the present situation anyway, so we let it go.

EUGENE'S OPPORTUNITY TO BECOME RAILROAD CENTRE OF IMPORTANCE

The Portland Journal states editorially that Eugene, with the construction of the Siuslaw road, is destined to become an important railroad center. This fact is evident to any keen observer, and it means that a city of real importance will be built here. Many of our most active, wide-awake business men take this view and are therefore devoting their time and energy to the consummation of this project, even to the neglect of their private business affairs. For this course they are to be commended and deserve the gratitude of their fellow citizens for their disinterested efforts in the interest of the community at large. It is only to be regretted that it requires so much time and labor to persuade some persons to assist in a movement that will increase the volume of business many fold and vastly enhance the value of every city lot and acre of farm property in Lane county.

The colonist excursion rates go into effect September 1st and continue until October 31st. This is the rate that brings the actual settlers to Oregon and means that people can come to this state from Kansas City, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and all the great territory between the Missouri river and the Rocky Mountains for $25; (to all points east of Umatilla, $22.50) St. Louis, $30; from Chicago, $33. It should be borne in mind that the most important thing of all is that these people must buy their tickets direct to the towns they want to reach. This is true with regard to Medford, Eugene, The Dalles, Astoria and every other city or town in Oregon. Many people get the impression that they can come to Portland and then continue their trip to the point of destination, and it devolves upon each and every community in Oregon to advertise this fact, and through the correspondence and advertising of their people get new settlers.

Judge Landis, of the United States supreme court, must have been a summer resort landlord at some time—he is trying to find out how much available coin the Standard Oil Company has before fixing the amount it shall pay in fines, which may aggregate $29,260,000. If taxed the full amount, it might take all of one month's profits to settle up.

This story about Bryan losing his night shirt looks like a dark and dastardly attempt to lessen his popularity with those who regard that garment as an unnecessary luxury. Next thing they'll be charging that he indulges in night caps.

Two more $10,000 places—general auditor and general purchasing agent—have been cut out of the Panama canal office bunch, and there are doubtless others that might be dispensed with without injury to the work of digging.

Just to show that he is unprejudiced the Japanese minister has expressed his willingness for the Japs to marry our girls. Humpf! Securing their consent would be a heftier contract than trying to lick Uncle Sam.

Being held up as the horrible example of the railroad world, which it is now said will be the only result of the official investigation of Harriman, will be no punishment for the million grabber—he'll really enjoy it.

If the management of the Erie railroad bribed the officers of the International Association of Machinists with $10,000 a year to prevent strikes, as now claimed, weren't one side as guilty as the other.

It is said that many of the Englishmen he met laughed at everything Mark Twain said to escape being charged with failing to appreciate humor. It must have been a continuous circus for Mark.

The term "anti-corporation" is apt to be misleading when it is remembered that a considerable percentage of the largest and most reputable business establishments are conducted by corporations.

"Making it hot for 'em" seems to have been adopted as a motto by the sun, probably in a spirit of revenge to "even up" with those who have said so many aggravating things about the spots on it.

Jeff Davis is a conductor and William McKinley a station agent on the same railroad in Indian Territory. There was a time when Jeff and William did not work together worth a cent.

THE BIGGEST FISH.
Yew never heard me tell about that monster? Well! He was the biggest one I ever seen. I swum! When I describe his size I can't believe my eyes; An' I don't 'spect that yew Kin skurceely b'lieve it, tew.

Down Lizard Creek one day I fished and fished away, An' here I waster state I had the proper bait, An' everything wuz clear, My head an' hands an' gear, When I felt, aigh the bank, A mos' tremenjous yank.

My cork went aout o' sight, My pole bent double, quite, The creek she b'iled and b'iled, An' got all rounn an' r'iled, I straightened like a bull, An' fetched a mighty pull, An' would you b'lieve it? Say, He—well, he got away!

THE WORLD.
It's a little world in which to hide, When foolish men do wrong and flee; It's a narrow place, a foot-worn place, For him who tries to leave disgrace. Behind him and conceal his face From those who in their righteous pride Frown down on his depravity. It's a big wide world for those who try To do what righteous deeds they may; Oh, myriads are the ways that wind Through scenes where men may find Each day new chances to be kind— It's an endless world for those who vie In clearing wrong and woe away. —S. E. Kiser.

ACTIVITY AT BLUE RIVER MINES.
Brownsville Times: Oscar Carlson came down from the Treasure mine Wednesday for a few days' visit. He reports the Treasure mine running steadily on good ore and the prospects bright. The mill on the Uncle Sam mine is also running. Several miners are at work on the Great Northern getting that mine in shape for operation. Development work is going on nicely at the Doctor mine. When Mr. Carlson came out the Calapooia wagon road surveyors were almost to Billsburg.

OREGON NEWS IN BRIEF.
Residents of the Willamette valley between Albany and Portland are now assured of regular afternoon passenger service on the Southern Pacific. The company has arranged to run an extra train south every morning as a first section to number 11 and run the same train back from Albany in the afternoon as a first section to number 12. The new train will carry passengers, baggage and express, but no mail. It will greatly relieve the work of the regular overland and perhaps enable that train to get through on time. But however late the overland may be, the traveling public may now be confident that a train will leave for Portland every afternoon at 4:45. This will save the ticket agents and the travelers the trouble of telephoning regarding the trains.—Salem Statesman.

Through the assistance of the Commercial Club, J. D. Lee, president of the Oregon Pioneer Association, forwarded photographs of Mrs. Mary Ramsey Lemons Wood, aged 120 years, who was crowned queen of Oregon on the Fourth of July, also of General George H. Williams, who performed the ceremony, to 150 of the leading papers of the United States, accompanied by a story that will call to mind the splendid health giving qualities of the Oregon climate.

Abraham Lincoln In was a man who, against all odds, attained the highest honor a man could see in the United States. Ballard's Horehound Syrup has attained a place, never equaled by any other remedy. It is a sure cure for coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza and all pulmonary diseases. Every mother should keep supplied with this wonderful cough medicine. Linn Drug Co.
