THURSDAY, JULY 11

TWO DAYS MORE

WILL DECIDE FATE

OF RAILROAD PROJECT

There should be a whirlwind finish in the canvass for Siuslaw railroad stock, which closes on Saturday morning. The committee intends to keep up the work until the last hour and make no more footings until the final one, when they hope that the amount needed will be over subscribed. If there is a balance either way, they are determined to win and cannot fall if given the earnest assistance of those who will be directly benefited by the construction of a railroad from Eugene to tidewater.

The reasons why every citizen of Eugene and Lane county should stand pat on this proposition are so obvious and so well known that it is not necessary to reiterate them at this stage of the proceedings. It is only necessary to emphasize the fact that this independent outlet to the sea means the rapid building here of a big city, surrounded by the most populous and prosperous county in the state. Until it is accomplished many of our industries will continue to languish and uncertainty shroud the destiny of Eugene.

The work done today and tomorrow must be effective; it must show to other sections of Oregon that a new spirit of progress is abroad in the land, and that the people of Eugene, who are setting the pace for other Oregon towns by laying street pavements and making other modern permanent improvements, are also alive to the broader principles of city-building, and recognize first the necessity for the best transportation facilities in order to promote business growth.

ARE PROMOTERS OF

EUGENE-SPRINGFIELD LINE

WORKING IN GOOD FAITH?

If one A. Welch, who, according to the county courthouse records, now owns the Eugene-Springfield electric road franchise, would return from the East and go to work with pick and shovel to make good the conditions of his franchise, it would inspire renewed confidence on the part of the public. Because The Guard has criticized the action of the alleged capitalists at the head of this enterprise, it has been accused of "knocking," but that has not worried us in the least. Some persons there are who do not comprehend the outspoken fearlessness of a newspaper that is not mortgaged to a corporation in some form; that is owned and controlled absolutely by the publisher whose name is printed at the head of its editorial columns; that, while it may not always be right, is at all times independent, as well as honest, in its convictions of duty, brooking no dictation whatever from any outside source; in brief has no mission but to print the news without fear or favor and protect the public interests whenever it is able to do so.

So far as Mr. Welch and his associates, whoever they may be, are concerned, if they carry out their promises and meet the conditions of the franchise they accepted, this paper is ready to accord them its moral support, and will do so as much as another to see that the capital invested in developing the country is properly protected from unjust assaults. We have, however, not the slightest sympathy for franchise grabbers or promoters whose capital consists solely of "hot air." Oregon has suffered too much at the hands of such men already.

The promoters of the Eugene-Springfield electric road may be all right and mean business, but they have not gone to work as they promised to do, and for some time past their good faith has been questioned by many persons who formerly were their staunchest friends. It is now in order for them to carry out the pledges made to the city council and the public if they would regain the confidence they have forfeited.

DIRECT LEGISLATION

DISCREDITED BY FOOL

FRIENDS IN OREGON

There is no doubt but the initiative and referendum system of direct legislation is right in principle, when properly safeguarded by statutory enactments. It is, however, a troublesome, expensive and dangerous system when cranks and chronic trouble-makers are allowed to use it at their own sweet will, as has been shown since the adjournment of the last session of the legislature. Only Judge Galloway's firm stand for right and justice in the strict enforcement of the law has saved the state much useless expense and trouble, and it will serve as a lesson to the crank element that ought to hold their tongue for awhile. As it is they have only succeeded in discrediting the system they profess to regard as essential to the preservation of real popular government, as the following editorial from the Dallas Observer tends to show:

"The referendum petitions have been knocked sky-high. Judge Galloway holds that the failure to print the warning against illegal signatures is fatal to the free pass referendum, and that the failure to copy the full and correct title of the university appropriation bill is fatal to that petition. And thus the Populist farce goes on. The people did not understand the initiative and referendum when they voted on it; they do not understand it now, nor is it probable that they ever will. The changing of the state constitution to suit the ideas of a few visionary cranks and Populist dreamers was a sorry piece of foolishness, and one for which the people will yet pay dearly. In adopting this revolutionary amendment the voters thought they were giving themselves more power, but now they find that the initiative and referendum is a bunglesome, impracticable measure, without a single redeeming feature in its favor. No one beneficial result has it accomplished thus far, nor is it likely that anything will come of it in the future save worry and expense. The U'Ren-Brownell outfit certainly handed the young and growing state of Oregon a life-sized gold brick."

Colonel John S. Mosby, who was a rough rider before most of the Roosevelt brand were born, was knocked down by a reckless bicycle rider in Washington recently, and to add to his chagrin, it was a negro. There was a time when such a feat would have attracted world-wide attention.

Jap impudence nearly reached the limit when the Japanese minister seriously announced that his government would not regard an increase in the United States navy as an unfriendly act. Ye gods! What a fall is ahead of that bunch.

That "money files" the officials of the Boston sub-treasury who have been unsuccessfully seeking $3000 which mysteriously disappeared are perfectly willing to believe. All the same it will have to be made good to Uncle Sam.

As a persuader Secretary Taft is a corker. His latest success in that line was persuading the republic of Colombia to recognize the republic of Panama, which was made in a night of territory belonging to Colombia.

Gambling by the "Ladies Bridge Club," of Newport, has grown to such proportions that a large villa has been leased for a clubhouse. Still we send missionaries abroad.

So long as blood is red men and nations will scrap, and the fact seems to be recognized at The Hague, where most of the discussion so far has been on the conduct of the war.

Though yellow editors continue to write about preparations for war, Admiral Dewey and the other members of the naval board have gone on their usual summer vacations.

Mayor Busse has been compelled to economize words in denying the numerous personal stories printed about him until he has got it down to "That's another lie."

No circle can be considered immune now that a red light chorus girl has plucked a husband from the staid and conservative bunch of Sleepy-town, alias Philadelphia.

This agitation to stir up American women against Turkish harems is of course all right morally, but if that sort of activity is sought, why neglect the home field?

A financial article in an exchange is headed "Unidentified interests are pushing prices up." We thought: all the trusts had been identified and tagged long ago.

Even John D. Rockefeller has to look pleasant and give a man a cigar occasionally when he would much prefer giving him the "hook."

Judge Landis may mean well, but it cannot be blinked that there is danger that his acts may lead to another rise in the price of oil.

Nearly every member of our family has used them at one time or another. It does not seem to make any difference what the symptoms may be, if the trouble exists in the kidneys Doan's Kidney Pills will cure it. I used to have a sort of lumbago and pains in the back, and it was for this trouble that I used them. I would not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in any case where there is hope of cure."

LIQUOR MEN ARRESTED

DOWN AT NEWPORT

People returning from Newport tell of some lively times there with violators of the local option law. Judge McFadden had been over there and made things pretty tropical, a way the judge has. A Corvallis young man furnished the evidence, and of course incurred the enmity of the liquor people. Gene Williams, John Porter and Charles. Winant pleaded guilty before a Newport Justice and were each fined $100. Gus Olsen's case was in the circuit court at Toledo and he got $200. Besides these there are two indictments each against Williams, Porter and Olsen, which will be tried later.

If you are going to the coast or mountains for your summer vacation, have the Daily Guard sent by mail to your postoffice address. It will be better than a daily letter from home.

Long Live the King.

is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America the cry of the present day is "Long live the King's New Discovery, King of throat and lung remedies, of which Mrs. Julia Ryder Paine, of Turin, Mass., says: "It never fails quickly cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Paine's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this country. New Discovery cures weak lungs and sore throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds it is the only sure cure. Guaranteed by W. L. DeLano, druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
