FULL AMOUNT OF STOCK PLEDGED FOR EUGENE-SIUSLAW ROAD

POPULAR SUBSCRIPTION FOR RAILWAY TO COAST PASSES REQUIRED MARK

The railroad from Eugene to the big timber in the western end of the county and eventually to the mouth of the Siuslaw river is now assured. The committee of businessmen who have been working earnestly and ardently for the past several weeks have at last been successful in securing the required $60,000 in stock subscriptions to the enterprise and everything is now ready for the incorporation of a company and the building of the first ten miles or more of road before the winter rains set in.

The committee this afternoon announced that the amount had been raised and the work of organizing will at once be attended to and the surveys for the line will be started as soon as possible. Already written contracts for the right-of-way for the first six miles out of Eugene have been secured, this matter having been attended to by the committee.

MAYOR SCHMITZ LOSES APPEAL TO HIGHER COURT

San Francisco, July 13.—The district court of appeals today refused to grant Mayor Schmitz a writ of mandamus compelling Judge Dunne to set the date for settling the bill of habeas corpus proceedings in the case in which the mayor was convicted of extortion and sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary at San Quentin.

Route of Road. The route chosen for the road, as now planned, will lead due west from Eugene for a distance of ten miles, then turn northerly in the direction of Franklin, thence west again to Goldson and past the Anderson & Warner sawmill, past Triangle lake and down the Lake creek valley. This route was selected by the committee and Stephen Carver as the most feasible, and, while the surveyors may not follow the exact route selected, this will be the general direction in which the line will be built. This route affords an easy grade in the mountainous section which the line will traverse, and some of the finest timber land in the world will be tapped in the Lake Creek valley and vicinity.

Build Thirty Miles First. The board has before given an outline of the plans of Mr. Carver in the construction of the road, but for the information of those who have not read of them we will state that it is the intention to build thirty miles of the line with the money subscribed by the citizens, together with what Mr. Carver and his associates will put up. This will extend the line into the big timber and when that much is built it will be no trouble to raise money for the extension of

REFERENDUM GRANKS APPEAL U. OF O. CASE

Guard Special Service. Salem, July 13.—The referendum petitioners, through their attorney, T. H. Ford, today perfected their appeal in the University of Oregon case. Judge Galloway decided that the petitioners were illegal, because the title of the bill given in the petition circulated and signed was defective, and the warning clause, provided for by law, was entirely omitted. From his decision an appeal to the supreme court has been taken, and the effect will be to stall further hold up the university appropriation, which seems to be the object of the petitioners.

Attorney-General Crawford stated today that he expected that the briefs would be filed at once and understood the supreme court was ready to take the matter up without delay. This being the case, a final decision should be handed down in a short time.

ONE WAS KILLED AND TWO INJURED

Bellingham, July 13.—J. J. Larson, liveryman and garage owner, of this city, was crushed to death in an automobile smash last night a few miles south of here. He attempted to turn the machine in a narrow road and backed over a 40-foot embankment. Glenn Hyatt, capitalist, and D. E. Biggs, local physician, who accompanied Larson, were not seriously injured.

STOLE FOUR MILLIONS WORTH OF JEWELS

New York, July 13.—Jewels valued at $20,000 were stolen from the private safe in the offices of J. M. Ceballos & Co., bankers, who failed not long ago for $4,000,000. The jewels were the personal property of Ceballos.

ADMIRAL YAMAMOTO VISITS NAVY YARD

New York, July 13.—Admiral Yamamoto and staff, who have received much attention during their stay in New York, left for Philadelphia today to visit the League Island navy yard.

ROOSEVELT AND BRYAN PRAISED BY MINISTER

Seattle, July 13.—Before a large gathering of Christian Endeavorers Rev. Ira Landrith, regent of Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn., delivered an address on the subject of "Graft" in which he linked the names of Roosevelt and Bryan together as the greatest fighters against graft the country has ever known. He stated that graft such as is practiced in many portions of the country is little less than murder, bringing in as it does impure milk and impure and adulterated foods that cause alarming mortality.

General Secretary Shaw denounced bridge whist in severe terms.

PHILANDER C. KNOX. Junior senator from Pennsylvania and the Key Stone State's "favorite son" for the Republican presidential nomination.

DEFENSE CLOSES AND PROSECUTION BEGINS REBUTTAL EVIDENCE

Boise, July 13.—With the opening of court today Attorney Richardson sprung a surprise by announcing that the defense rested. At adjournment yesterday Attorney Darrow announced that a powder expert would be put on the stand today to testify regarding the Bradley explosion at San Francisco, and the change of plans took the state's attorneys unawares, so there was some delay in the beginning of the rebuttal.

John C. Rice was first recalled and testified that in November, 1905, Orchard did not wear a mustache. This is in contradiction of one of the defense's witnesses who swore that he heard Orchard make threats against Governor Steunenberg, describing Orchard as a man with a large mustache.

Dan Gainey, who lost both feet in the Independence mine explosion, lived at Coeur d'Alenes in 1898-99 and roomed part of the time with Orchard. Gainey swore that Dominick Flynn, who testified he was playing poker with Orchard on April 19, 1899, the day of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan explosion, had told him he had not seen Orchard since February, 1899.

Cross-examination brought out the fact that the witness knew that Orchard blew him up, but had corresponded with him since his arrest.

R. E. Grimshaw, of Deadwood, S. D., was called to identify the prison register, showing that in 1889 John M. O'Neill, for many years editor of the Miners' Magazine, was in the Dakota penitentiary. An objection was made by the defense and authorities are to be cited before the court decides.

In contradiction of John D. Elliott, who testified that he heard Orchard make threats against Steunenberg while on the train, the state introduced several railway officials who produced records showing that the train on which Elliott said he and Orchard traveled together did not make the connections which Elliott had described as part of the journey.

The state called J. K. Stephenson, a hotel clerk, of Salt Lake, who testified that Orchard's name appeared on the books of the Hotel Cullen on November 25, 1905, and that he remained there for three weeks. He paid for his room nightly in advance but his name was only entered on the books November 25.

August Paulson, of Wallace, Idaho, one of the owners of the Hercules mine, in which Orchard held one-sixteenth interest, was called. A long argument between counsel ensued as to the witness' ability to tell when Orchard ceased to exercise control over the mine. Paulson could not remember the exact dates, but early in the spring of 1898 Orchard had nothing further to do with the property, his interest having been succeeded to by Daniel Cordonor.

The defense claims that Orchard had a personal enmity against Steunenberg because of his loss of property when he was driven out of the country in the 1899 troubles. The state claims he sold his interest a year or so before the trouble started.

The deed by which Orchard transferred his interest in the Hercules mine to Cordonor was admitted in evidence over the protest of the defense. It bore the date of March 7, 1898.

J. H. Moser, proprietor of the Kettle Block rooming house in Denver, testified that Orchard, under the name of Dempsey, stopped with him two weeks in the latter part of July or August, 1904. Dr. McGee, a witness for the defense, testified several weeks ago that he saw Orchard in the Cour d'Alenes at that time. On cross-examination Moser said he kept no record of his guests, and could not remember the name of any
