SATURDAY, AUGUST 3

"ON TO THE SIUSLAW" MUST BE OUR SLOGAN

It seems that the Eugene-Siuslaw railroad matter is dragging somewhat. Mr. Carver and the committee representing the local stockholders not having agreed upon a definite plan of action.

Eugene wants this railroad for the development of lumbering and other interests. This desire was voiced in the subscribing of $60,000 worth of stock. These subscribers are willing to put their money into the first thirty-mile section, which will tap one of the best timber districts in Western Oregon, making it a dividend-payer from the start, and with this section in operation there will be no trouble in securing funds to complete the road to tidewater. This $60,000 was put up by men who mean business and who purpose to do business with some one. That amount of money, with right-of-way and terminal grounds easily secured, where not already actually provided for, will be sufficient inducement to interest capital.

Primarily we want that road, and will not quibble with Mr. Carver, or any one else, over small matters, but we want to do business yet this fall. If Mr. Carver and the committee cannot get together then a meeting of the stockholders should be called at once and the consensus of opinion obtained as to what general course ought to be taken; the matter of financing placed in the hands of a duly elected executive committee, and the construction of the road proceeded with.

The main point that should not be lost sight of is that this stock subscription should be used, now that it has been secured as the result of considerable effort, in the carrying out of the one central idea—the building of a railroad to the Siuslaw. It makes no great difference who builds the road, but it MUST be built, as a result of the present movement in that direction.

Eugene is growing and her people have the means to build that thirty miles of easily constructed railroad even without outside help. All that is necessary is to keep going now that we have made the start.

Next week should not pass without coming to a definite conclusion on this most important matter.

ON TO THE SIUSLAW!

EUGENE ATTRACTING WIDE-SPREAD ATTENTION

A gentleman who is touring the coast in an automobile stated in the Guard office that Eugene was the best town he had visited. Two other gentlemen representing large commercial interests voiced the same sentiments; another, who recently visited Coos Bay and other widely advertised sections, made a similar observation while accompanying the excursion to Wendling Thursday.

"You have got the resources and the geographic location," said this observer, "and have mines, timber and agricultural resources to back a city that is ideal for home-building and educational purposes. Better, perhaps, than all else, your people are waking up and making the improvements necessary to attract the attention of investors, placing Eugene far in advance of any other city in the state outside of Portland."

That the people of other towns are beginning to sit up and take notice of Eugene's progress is evident from the comments of the state papers. Here is a couple of samples:

Madford Daily Tribune: Eugene is in the hands of a number of citizens who have taken the initiative in housing and the result is apparent at every turn. The street railway is under way and other railway projects are in a fair way to materialize to the advantage of that city.

Brownsville Times: The Eugene way is to go after things and get them.

This week fifty of the business men of that thriving and most progressive little city boarded the train and going to Portland had a conference with the managing officials of the Southern Pacific railway system in Oregon, with the result that they returned home with the assurance that the Southern Pacific would build a new depot in Eugene at once and would put on a twice-a-day train between that city and Wendling. The Eugene way is all right.

And now that we have things coming our way, the only thing to do is to keep-a-going.

SLIPPERY AGENT FOR INSURANCE CONCERN

Some weeks ago the American Mutual Benefit Association of Portland, Oregon, had an agent named George Larrabee "working" Eugene and vicinity. He secured considerable business, which the company accepted without question and from which it is now receiving regular monthly payments. Larrabee, however, contracted many bills in the name of the company he represented and left for greener pastures, after which the Portland concern repudiated his obligations as promptly as it accepted the business he sent them as a duly authorized agent.

This is a case wherein the insurance company, while it might not be legally responsible for the acts of its agent, will be held by all right thinking persons to be morally so. Larrabee secured credit because of his connection with an apparently responsible company, and the latter should stand behind any obligations made in the procurement of business from which it derives a revenue. The lesson of this incident is that transient agents for insurance concerns are quite frequently slippery individuals and that it is best to do business with resident agents, whose character and responsibility are known quantities. Furthermore, it would be a good idea for those who are paying assessments to the American Mutual Benefit Association to keep their eyes open. A concern that employs agents of the Larrabee type to hustle business may not be averse to doing the same kind of work when the opportunity is presented.

It is the intention of the government to have a perfect wireless system all along the Pacific coast and on the Gulf of Mexico. It has just placed orders for a number of towers for Alaska. These are to be 175 feet high. From them communication will be established between all coast points of Alaska. The chain of towers will be extended down the coast until perfect communication will be maintained all the way from the Arctic to southern California.

The Guard press dispatches today tell of the filing of Standard Oil by Judge Landis to the tune of $29,400,000. Probably it will require a raise of about three cents a gallon on the trust's products to pay this off in a month. Nobody suspects that it will be allowed to interfere with the saintly John D.'s dividends.

Write your friends in the east telling them of the magnificent country around Eugene, and get them to visit this country this fall. Tell them also about Eugene's paved streets and electric railway, her mills and educational institutions.

Charles G. Dawes, who went from the job of Comptroller of the Currency to the head of a big bank, is out for the amendment of the anti-trust law, so as to exempt good trusts. Now, Charlie, give us the name of even one good trust.

A real English lord was jailed in Allentown, Pa., because he couldn't pay a $6 fine, imposed for fighting. Here's a chance for some fool-god to secure a title at a bargain price, unless some other woman has a legal right to it.

A female of the New York section of swollen fortunes went out to do a little shopping, and misplaced a handbag containing $45,000 in cash. She found it, though she hardly deserved to.

A cure for laziness is claimed by a scientist. It may be the goods, but those in need of it will be too lazy to use it, even if it does only require the pushing of a button.

Atlantic City now has a municipal baby bureau—not for the sale of kids, but for the restoration of those lost (averaging 100 a day) to their mothers.

The Albany Democrat has an editorial on "Our Street Car System." Wouldn't that render you speechless?

The growing suburb of Fairmount wants the Wendling train to stop there. Of course they should.

Nevertheless and notwithstanding, ours is not a government of lawyers, by lawyers and for lawyers.

A thousand miles of mighty wood.
Where thunder storms stride
A thousand plants at every foot.
A steady tree at every road.
Ten thousand leaves to every tree.
And each a miracle to me—
Yet there be men who doubt of God!

—Joaquin Miller.

BACK TO LINDY'S

I want to go back to Lindy's—back to the old farm place, where the friends I knew were true as blue and poverty no disgrace.

I want to forget the sighing, the rush and the rattety-bang, the whistle's toot, the rumbling car and the car bell's noisy clank.

I'd like to go back a-roving in the drowsy afternoons, and drown the sounds of the grimy town in the ocean of clover blooms.

I want to go back to Lindy's—back to the "Stubtoe land."

Where it didn't take much of learning to make folks understand: Where the grasp of a hand was rugged but the clasp was firm and true.

And the eyes of the man behind them looked honest and frank at you. I want to steal off at twilight as I did when the sun sank low, and dream the dreams that were mine to dream in the hazy afterglow.

I want to go back to Lindy's—back thro' the stretch of years, I want to go back to the boyhood track beyond the doubts and fears:

It seems but a step back yonder to the fields and the roses in rain. A step in miles, but ah! the years—they're linked in an endless chain.

What little of spoil I've garnered, what little the world has doled, I would barter it all three ovens to live in its sweet enfold.

I want to go back to Lindy's—where the white roads wind away O'er valley and hill and dale and rill to the rim of distant gray:

I want to get out in the open, where a fellow has elbow room—Where he's never afraid to cross the street for fear he will meet his doom.

Back to the fragrant orchards and the cool of the grateful sod, For that was as near, I reckon, as ever I've been to God.

—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A PIONEER OF COTTAGE GROVE

The birthday of Aunt Jane Veatch was observed at her home last Saturday, July 27, 1907, when her son and son, Olive Veatch, and family and youngest daughter, Eva Heikola, and family, sat to dinner with father and mother, H. C. Veatch. Another guest was Noy J. Wharton, of Lakewood. Mr. Veatch's sister, Hilda, at 76 years, Mrs. Veatch finds herself active and in full possession of mental faculties. Her maiden name was Margaret Jane Knox. She was born at Hancock county, Illinois, June 27, 1831, when that state was the extreme west. No cities, no towns, just unfenced prairies. When Jane was ten years of age her father moved to Missouri. There she grew to womanhood, participating with her brothers in all the open air activities of a frontier farm. In 1853, at the age of 22 years, mounted on her favorite horse, she crossed the continent, helping to drive the loose stock of her father Knox's train.

In a tip-over that occurred on the London springs road last Monday, Mr. Rodgers, the driver, was hurt so that he was brought to town on a stretcher swung on a wagon box, but after two or three days he finds himself not so seriously hurt as he at first feared. The team was made restive kicking at flies. One horse got a leg over a runaway. Mr. Rogers reined the horse into a fence corner, but in doing so, uneven ground was encountered, on which the wagon turned on its side.

Mrs. Blaine Jackson, who has been quite ill at Bohemia for some time, was brought to Cottage Grove last Saturday and taken to the hospital in Portland for treatment Monday—Western Oregon.

LOCAL NOTES FROM COTTAGE GROVE

A pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday evening, July 31, at the home of the bride's uncle, D. H. Hemway, the contracting parties being Miss Grace Mae Lincoln and Harry A. Matteson. The parlors were beautifully decorated with ferns and sweet peas and the bower under which the couple stood was profusely draped in green and pink.

The bride was gown in cream silk over taffeta and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

A case was filed in the probate court in which the Pacific Timber Company is plaintiff and Philip Hohl of this city is defendant, in which the plaintiff asks judgment for $687.81, being a balance due on goods sold and delivered to the defendant.—Leader.
