EUGENE IN NEED OF PAID FIRE FIGHTERS

The fire of yesterday afternoon illustrates the necessity for a more thoroughly organized fire department. Eugene is growing very rapidly now and following the construction of the electric road and the completion of the present paving operations we may expect an unusual increase in population.

Applied to the matter of fire protection, there must be more attention paid to apparatus and organization. A long step in that direction was taken when a team was purchased for the chemical engine, and a driver employed.

Senator Bacon says he thinks the Democratic presidential nomination can be secured by "any good Southern man" who will go after it South and hard. Why not go after it yourself, senator?

Strange to say no one has thought of a law compelling all holders of swollen fortunes to buy and ride in high speed automobiles, as a speedy and sure method of distribution.

THE BRAVEST BATTLE

The bravest battle that ever was fought. Shall I tell you where and when? On the maps of the world you will find it not.

PREPARING TO BEGIN RAILROAD OPERATIONS

The committee in charge of the Eugene-Siuslaw railroad project are preparing to take definite action, and a meeting of the stockholders for the purpose of permanent organization will be called shortly.

EUGENE'S RAPID GROWTH AN ASSURED FACT

A gentleman who resides in Walla

Walla was a caller at the Guard office today, and remarked that Eugene could look forward to a remarkable growth in the immediate future. He based his conclusion on the street paving and electric road building now in progress.

This gentleman simply endorses the view expressed by the Guard so frequently in the past year. We expect to see the 10,000 mark in population passed by the end of next year, and after that the city's growth will be rapid and steady.

We gather from Senator Foraker's recent open letter that he thinks his distinguished friend, Secretary Taft, won't do for a presidential candidate because of his tariff views.

Though the business policy of John D. Rockefeller has always been "do them good," he tells his Sunday school class that the way to be prosperous and happy is to "do good."

The only white Republican in Jefferson county, Florida, is authority for the statement that negro votes are purchased by those who control the party organization at 50 cents a head. That's about the low water mark, eh?

We suppose the South Dakotan who tried to collect $1500 from the United States treasury, believing that amount due him as a prize for being the dad of six boys straight, has become a doubter of the gratitude of nations.

Henry Clews has joined the ranks of those who claim that jail sentences for officials is the only effective remedy for corporate violation of the law.

Senator Bacon says he thinks the Democratic presidential nomination can be secured by "any good Southern man" who will go after it South and hard.

Strange to say no one has thought of a law compelling all holders of swollen fortunes to buy and ride in high speed automobiles, as a speedy and sure method of distribution.

The number of summer resort hotels burned this year indicates a hard season for landlords as well as for insurance companies.

Perhaps some of the peek-a-boo girls think it better to be engaged for the summer only than never to be engaged at all.

THE BRAVEST BATTLE

The bravest battle that ever was fought. Shall I tell you where and when? On the maps of the world you will find it not.

Nay, not with the cannon or battle shot. With a sword or nobler pen; Nay, not with eloquent words or thought.

But deep in a walled-up woman's heart— O woman that would not yield, But gravely, silently bore her part— Lo, there was the battlefield.

No marshalling troops, no bivouac— No banner to gleam and wave; But oh! these battles, they last so long. From babyhood to the grave.

Yet faithful still as a bridge of stars, She fights in her walled-up town— Fights on and in the endless wars— Then silent, unseen, goes down.

Oh ye, with banner and battle shot, And soldiers to shout and praise, I tell you the kindest battles fought Were fought in these silent wars.

SOME ANIMALS I HAVE KNOWN

I am no hunter, but I know some animals quite well. And I'm no faker when I say "Strange stories I can tell."

I've chased Welsh rarebits down a lane. Till weary stomachs quailed. And I have steered the tiger, too. And had a buck that failed.

On groaning horses I've sawed all day. With calves I've danced at night. And often I've sailed a cat. And reached my port all right.

I've seen a blind pig lead a man Along a rocky road. And I have seen a donkey try To walk home with a load.

A Wall street lamb once owned a goat. A young dear loved a hound; I've seen a woman have a rat Above her forehead bound.

But strange as all these things may seem, As they do half compare With that wild monster of the woods, The dreadful Teddy bear.
