ture, with a miniature Christmas tree, tiny red and white candles, holly, etc. After the hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. H. Fisher, had served a dainty supper, each guest received a present from the tree. Mrs. M. M. Miller and Mrs. C. H. Fisher were the invited guests of the afternoon.

On last Saturday evening Mr. Ira Manville entertained at his home with a surprise party in honor of Mr. Claude Downing. The first part of the evening was taken up with games, after which Mrs. Manville served refreshments. The guests of the evening were: Misses Marjorie Young, Eulah Kinsey, May Gibson, Froids Rhodes, Margaret Rhodes, the Messrs. Verne Dyson, Edwin Platts, Olive Neetham, Claude Downing and Ira Manville.

Miss Hazel Humphrey entertained a small number of her college friends at dinner, followed by the playing of five hundred, in which Miss Vivian Holmes was the lucky one to make the highest score. Those present were: The Misses Barbara Eakin, Sabina, Kate Kelly, Rae Vogel, Ruth Moore, Bert Staunmayer, Curtis Coleman, Frank Mount, Ralph Dodson and Dell McClary.

The Thimble club entertained with their annual Xmas tree party on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Page. The ladies' husbands were invited guests, making in all forty who sat down to the six-thirty o'clock dinner, which preceded the disbursement of the presents from the tree. Both the table and the tree were gay with green and white candles. Mr. H. McMurray capably filled the role of Santa Claus.

The next meeting of the club will occur on January 9, at the home of Mrs. R. M. Pratt.

One of the greatest treats that Eu-gine is to have this winter is the exhibition of the National League of Handicraft societies, which will be exhibited here this coming week under the auspices of the local Oregon Arts and Crafts society. The display will include baskets, jeweled and enameled metal work, rugs, pottery, bead work, leather work, decorated china, embroideries, lace, etc. The exhibit will be open at the fortnightly club rooms in the Carnegie library building both afternoon and evening, commencing Tuesday and lasting throughout the week, with the one exception of Tuesday evening. Eugene is the only place on the Pacific Coast that has secured this exhibit and a small admission fee will be asked to cover the expense of bringing it here. On Xmas day the local club will make a social feature of the exhibit and serve tea and wafers. The members of the club will meet on Friday evening at the library building for a discussion of the exhibit, and all who are interested in any way are cordially invited to be present at this meeting.

A number of the University students gave Miss Therese Friendly a Xmas tree surprise party Thursday evening. Following the tree the guests adjourned to the dressing room, where dainty refreshments were served from the table, prettily decorated in yellow and green. Those present were: Misses Sue Hayes, Adele Goff, Jessie Bacon, Frances Nelson, Rae Vogel, Francis Oberbauer, Hazel McNeil, Hazel Brown, Cecile Wilcox, Cornelia Pinkham, the Messrs. Dudley Clark, Ralph McEwen, Harvey Houston, William Noon, Verne Beach, Cal Sweek, Tom Bailey, Ralph Dodson, Curtis Coleman, Cecil Espey, William Lowell.

On Monday evening, at Eilers' Piano House, the Eugene Musical club entertained with a recital, each number of which was excellent and thoroughly appreciated by the audience. Miss Palmer's numbers were especially worthy of mention. The program was as follows: Chant, San Paolos... Tschalkowski, Mr. Cecil Lyons.

Der Wanderer... Schubert-Litz, Miss Ethel Palmer, Two Persian Songs, Woodford Fenden, Miss Mary Caldwell, Scherzo, B-flat Minor... Chapin, Miss Ethel Palmer, Song Request... Eleanor Smith, Miss Louise Moran, Due Dramatique... De Villac, Miss Palmer and Mrs. Hollenbeck.

The Knights of Pythias were hosts on Thursday evening to a large number of their friends. The nature of the entertainment was a dramatic monologue by Mr. Newton Beers, who is a very clever artist.
