The names of the chaperone candidates who will compete for free trip to Los Angeles will be published next Saturday. Be sure the name of your favorite appears.

The candidates who have been industriously working for the $1000 in prizes to be given by The Guard will not be disappointed when the prizes are awarded immediately at the close of the contest.

The capital prize (grand upright Kitchell piano), now on exhibition at the store of the Eilers Piano House on Seventh street, near Willamette, which will be given to the candidate who secures the largest number of votes, is indeed a beauty, and the candidate who wins it will be well repaid for the effort. All candidates and their friends are requested to call at the afternoon of the Eilers Company and inspect the instrument and satisfy themselves that it will be worth their while to make a determined campaign from now until the close of the contest to win it.

Following is a communication received from Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles:

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 31.
Mr. Chas. Fisher,
Ed. Daily Guard,
Eugene, Oregon.

Dear Sir:—Your communication of the 20th inst. at hand and contents carefully noted. I am sending you unseparated separate cover reading and advertising matter pertaining to Los Angeles and surrounding country which I hope you will publish in connection with contest news; for the benefit of the candidates who are competing for the prizes.

It will acquaint them with the different parts of interest in and around Los Angeles so that, when the arrive, they will not be total strangers.

However, when you send the party this way kindly notify me and I will give them my undivided attention to see that every courtesy is extended them while guests in our city.

If I can do anything further to interest the prospective winners and chaperones, kindly recommend me.

Very truly yours,
FRANK WIGGINS,
Secretary.

The hospitality of Southern California people is too well known to dwell upon the subject, especially to strangers who visit that part of California.

Points who have the interest of the city at heart are always glad to be of service to newcomers. The winning candidates and chaperone and others who may accompany the party will be shown every point of interest.

VOTE COUPON

ernation culture, for which the district has long been famous, and visitors are always welcome.

Then there are the scholarship prizes, for which many of the candidates are working early and late.

These tuitions are to be had at the Eugene Business College, and are ones that the average girl, after graduating from the high school, always seeks.

The Eugene Business College is recognized as one of the best educational institutions in the state of Oregon, and is under the personal supervision of Professor Hooker and Mrs. Mary Ransom, who devote their untiring efforts to the welfare of all students who become pupils of that institution.

To every candidate in The Guard's popular ladies voting contest is vitally interested in the outcome is proven beyond a doubt by the amount of subscriptions that are turned in at the office each day. Contestants and their friends are busy from morning until late at night and from all indications on the night when the final count is to be made the interest will have far surpassed any election ever held in Lane county. From now on every candidate in the race must look for her laurels. Get down to work and keep steadily at it for the remainder of the contest in securing subscriptions for The Guard. Call on your friends who subscribed in the early part of the contest for a short while and ask them to re-subscribe for a longer time and you will find they will be only too glad to do so for a year or more.

The contest from now on until the close will assume some surprising proportions.

While most of the contestants are already up in the tens of thousands, and one past the 20,000 mark, those who are following are making a determined effort to come out first and are sparing no time in securing subscriptions and votes.

Some think that in holding a great reserve they may win in the final stretch.

It is a good idea to keep well up with the leaders and play around first place.

Your friends, in looking over the list of contestants and their respective standings every day, may see your name at the very last and think that the votes given to you on the subscriptions would be useless, as you are too far behind to catch up. Consequently you do not receive those votes, whereas, if you are near the top their help would come more readily.

So do not hold back too many votes, but stay even with or pass the leaders.

The time is getting shorter each day and you have only a limited amount of time.

You want to win or you evidently would not be in the contest, so go after the subscriptions and get the extra votes, as they count the most.

Every subscriber can save the coupons in their paper and give them to you also.

Do not give up because you are a few thousand votes behind, but put in an active day in calling upon your friends in search of subscriptions.

Now that you are in the contest, make good.

Roll up the votes and coupons for yourself and get up with your opponent.

Make a vigorous campaign and keep right after those who have promised you subscriptions and stay in the contest with a determination to win.

One of the features of the contest is the absolutely fair and impartial treatment accorded all the contestants. The publishers of The Guard realize that the one essential thing to its complete success is to have it conducted so that in no event can any person raise a question as to the integrity of the contest.

Every candidate should be particular to see that his coupons are clipped from the papers and are properly filled out. Many are received without names and when the count is made each evening it is a case of guess to whom they belong. If properly filled out and pinned together there can be no chance for any of them to go astray.

A number of candidates have already sent in the name of their favorite chaperone candidate. Have you? If not, clip the chaperone coupon published below and send or mail it to the contest department, as the name of your particular favorite will appear when the list is published next Saturday.

NORMAL SCHOOL OFFERS SPECIAL OPPORTUNITIES

The Southern Oregon State Normal school at Ashland offers special opportunities for teachers to review for the teachers' examinations in February and August, and to take work in pedagogy and special methods in teaching the various grades of the training school. Since the public schools of Oregon are calling for teachers who can teach manual training, many are taking advantage of the industrial work lately installed in the school. Expenses of board and lodging and tuition nominal.

The State Normal School at Ashland is enjoying the largest appropriation of state funds ever granted a normal school in the history of Oregon. Catalogues sent on application to the president.
