This is the date of the annual inspection of the company, and the dance will be held after the inspection ceremonies. The Eugene Military band will play at the inspection. The public is invited to attend.

BIG BASKETBALL GAME TONIGHT

Everything is in readiness for the big basketball game tonight between the fast five of the Ashland Athletic Club and the University team. Last night the southerners trimmed the Eugene high school team with two of their best players on the side lines. Tonight Ashland will put her strongest team against the varsity. At large will be found "Happy" Eastman and Herndon, two of the cleverest forwards in the business. This is the third successive season these two men have played together, and understand each other's passes perfectly. Their centre man tonight will be "Cupid" Spencer, the strongest and best built man on the team. He has also been a member of the team for three years. The guards, Edgington and Robertson, are both tall, shifty fellows, and are very clever at blocking their opponents' passes. They also have been playing on the team for the past three seasons, making the whole five intact for three years.

The varsity team will line up with Hathaway and Farrington at guard and Stevenson at centre, Moore and Van Sney, forwards. Every one knows the ability of these men so an introduction is not needed. Coach Murphy, while not confident of victory, thinks that Oregon will win by a close score. The game will be called at 8:15 with George Marksbury, of Halsey, referee, and Sid Smith, umpire.

The Huntsman's Mass. "Once every year, on St. Hubert's day, one may see hundreds of dogs in the Cathedral of Notre Dame at Brussels. At the huntsman's mass on that day the owners of hunting dogs take the animals to church with them, and for a short time the sacred edifice becomes a dog show place," says a writer in a Berlin paper. To lighten the effect all the worshippers attend in hunting costume and the bugle plays an important part in the musical service. When the last celebration took place a stranger in the city, who was staying at one of the large hotels near the place, strolled toward the cathedral and took with him a pet spaniel. "Every dog has his day," he said, "and this is his." At the church entrance two pointers growled at the little dog and did it so fiercely that the little fellow turned and ran. He was coaxed back, but again driven away by another large dog. "The owner took the hint," says the writer, "and returned to the hotel with his little pet, convinced that the big dogs looked upon the spaniel as an intruder, that he had no part in the St. Hubert's mass and that the day was not every dog's."

Holme and Philadelphia. The gridiron pattern upon which Philadelphia was laid out was the work of Thomas Holme, the surveyor general of Pennsylvania. The design, however, was Penn's own. Little seems to be popularly known of Thomas Holme, although some of his descendants still live in the city and bear his name, but it is said that all of his vast tract of land and his city lots have long since passed out of the possession of his family.

A Remarkable Hat. A woman wants a divorce because her husband has purchased her only hat in twenty-five years. It would be interesting to know if there is enough of the hat left to get on straight.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Social Duty. The idea of social duty dominates our time. We are impregnated with it. It is the most urgent aspiration of the modern conscience and in the midst of our controversies defies all our ironies.—Georges Touchard in La Nouvelle Revue, Paris.

A Case of Luck. Benevolent Lady.—But, my poor man, if you have been looking for work all these years, why is it that you have never found it? Tramp (confidentially)—It's luck, mum—just sheer good luck.

Often the Case. "A man should think twice before he speaks." "And a woman three times before she stings."—Harper's Weekly.

BOY RUN OVER BY WAGON, BADLY INJURED

Lawrence Kelsey, a school boy, was hurt near the Geary school this afternoon by being run over by an empty lumber wagon. One shoulder is thought to be broken and his head was bruised severely. The boy fell off the wagon, which was in charge of a driver named Temple. The boy is only five years old and had just entered school.

Gambling

The supreme objection to gambling in all its forms, whether in sport or in speculative business, is that it works harm and loss to society. As soon as any practice or conduct is found to be socially hurtful it thereby becomes wrong, whatever men may have thought of it before. Does not all morality rise to consciousness through the fact of social advantage or injury? Now the long and costly experience of mankind bears uniform testimony against gambling till at last the verdict of civilization has become as nearly unanimous as human judgment can be that it is an intolerable nuisance. It is a dangerous or unequal form of excitement. It hurts character, demoralizes industry, breeds quarrels, tempts men to self destruction, and it works special injustice to women and children. We may not know precisely why morphine preys upon the nervous system and has to be labeled "poisonous." The fact is the main consideration. So with the stimulus or exaltation of gambling. Grant that I profess myself willing to pay for my fun. The fun is degraded, like the prize fight or bear baiting.—Charles F. Dole in Atlantic.

Waltz Is Not Modern.

Many people labor under the impression that the waltz is of modern origin, owing to the fact that it was comparatively unknown in America of old. In England until the early part of the nineteenth century. But it was brought originally from Provence to the court of Henry II, of France, at Fontainebleau, by the Comte de Saulte. Mary, queen of Scots, imported it into Scotland, for history records her as having incurred the bitter wrath and fierce denunciation of John Knox and of other divines of the "land of cakes" for dancing it on one memorable occasion at the palace of Holyrood. Toward the end of the seventeenth century it was danced throughout southern Germany and Austria, the celebrated waltz tune and popular song, "O, Du Lieber Augustin," dating from 1670. But, as already stated, it was not until the first two decades of the nineteenth century that it made its first appearance in England and the United States, when it was alternately denounced and lauded by the poets of the epoch.

It Is Prudent to Insure.

your life or your property.
Why is it not as important to insure against adversity in the future by keeping your funds in a bank account?
Allow it to accumulate until a time comes when you need it badly—that is when you will appreciate its true worth.
Just as the value of your life insurance increases as you grow older, so will your bank account grow as you add to it weekly or monthly.
In fact, the possibilities of your bank account are limited only by your earning and saving capacity.
An account with this bank is good insurance.
