

OBSTINATE ULCERS MAY LEAD TO CANCER

There is no difference, at first, in the appearance of a cancerous and a common ulcer, and for this reason every sore that is obstinate or slow in healing should excite suspicion, for the sore is nothing more than the external evidence of a polluted blood, and if allowed to remain may degenerate into cancer. Efforts to heal the ulcer by means of salves, plasters and other external remedies always result in failure, because such treatment can have no possible effect on the blood, where the deadly germs and morbid matter form, and are carried through the circulation to the place. No sore or ulcer can exist without a predisposing internal cause, and the open, discharging ulcer or festering old sore will continue to eat deeper into the surrounding flesh as long as a polluted, germ-infected circulation discharges its impurities into it. S. S. S. goes to the fountain-head of the trouble, and drives out the germ-producing poisons and morbid impurities which keep the ulcer open. Then as this rich, purified blood goes to the diseased place the healing begins, all discharge ceases, the inflammation gradually leaves, new tissue and healthy flesh are formed, and soon the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots and herbs of a healing, cleansing nature, and unlike mineral medicines, which often do great damage to the delicate parts of the system, S. S. S. tones up every part of the body. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice desired free.

University of Oregon News

The students at the University, as well as the townspeople have the greatest objections against the movement to play the O. A. C. game in Portland each year. An agreement has been reached by the committee representing both institutions, to play the game on November 21, next year, and thereafter on the second Saturday in November.

O. A. C. is the booster of the plan, and the student body, as far as may be judged, are altogether unfavorable to it. The Idaho game has been transferred back to the college campus at Eugene and Moscow. The reason for the change, is in order to make more money. As it is, the gate receipts have been entirely satisfactory, netting both managements nearly $1000 a year. In case the game is played in Portland, the students will probably be obliged to spend in the neighborhood of $10 for one football game, if they see it at all. That the change would be false economy on the part of the management, when considering the welfare of the student body as a whole, there can be little doubt. Furthermore it adds to the spirit of making the game a professional affair.

It is not actually certain that the Athletic Council or faculty will permit the change, neither having passed upon the arrangement. Most of the students seem to be sincerely hoping that the contest will not be removed to Portland, as well as the enthusiasts in Eugene who support the sports at the University.

The Oregon Weekly says in regard to the matter: "The effect of transferring our game with the Agricultural College to Portland, would have the tendency to commercialize our athletics, as well as to destroy the college spirit which has been the glory of an enthusiastic student body. We ought not, we must not, change our policy. Let the Athletic Council take careful consideration before they ratify the provision in regard to changing the place of our big annual football game."

Preliminary Debate. Sixteen students—every one well prepared and capable of putting up a strong debate—appeared in Villard Hall on Saturday afternoon and presented themselves as candidates for the preliminary eight who will compete in two weeks for places on the Interstate debating teams which will meet the Universities of Washington and Idaho on March 27.

Sixteen men is the largest number of aspirants for debating honors who have ever offered themselves as university representatives. The good showing in quantity as well as the good showing in quality of the men is something which deserves special mention. Many of those who were unsuccessful in winning a position will be in college again next year and so the debating outlook for the University is splendid.

The subject of the debate was the Interstate debate question, "Resolved, That the present laws with regard to Chinese immigration should be extended so as to include Japanese immigrants." The question is an exceedingly live one, and one which being practically a new issue will demand a great deal of original work on the part of the men.

The list of those who were chosen as handed out without regard to rank by the judges was as follows: Those

ANOTHER WOMAN SHOPLIFTER IS CAUGHT AT ALBANY

MRS. DIXON IS FOUND STEALING WAIST AT CHAMBERS AND McCUNE'S STORE — ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY TAKING MORPHINE

Detected in the act of concealing a valuable lady's waist under her cloak in Chambers & McCune's store at Albany, Mrs. Dixon, a woman of about 50 years of age who claims to reside in Halsey, this morning attempted to commit suicide by swallowing a dozen morphine tablets which she had in her possession, says yesterday's Herald. The woman swallowed three of the morphine tablets before she could be prevented.

Mrs. Dixon when seized by E. H. McCune who had watched her conceal the waist under her cloak, struggled desperately to escape, and screamed loudly. A boy of eight years who says his name is Roy Corken, a grandson, was with the woman when caught stealing the waist from off the counter in the store, and attempted to defend his grandmother by snatching a pair of scissors from one of the lady clerks who was aiding Mr. McCune in holding the struggling woman and making vicious stabs at both Mr. McCune and the clerk. When an officer arrived a search was made of Mrs. Dixon's clothing with the result that over a dozen lace collars identified as taken from the counters in the store were found. While being searched the woman tried to commit suicide by swallowing the morphine tablets, but was prevented. A short time afterward, while in Justice Swan's office, the woman succeeded in swallowing three of the morphine tablets. She was in a very hysterical condition this afternoon and with the effects of the drug it was difficult to examine her and the examination will be held sometime this evening, or late this afternoon.

The prisoner had a suit case which was examined and found to contain numerous articles such as perfume, wafers, silk remnants, spools of thread, and even a large quantity of Bologna sausage. Some of the articles were identified as having come from various stores in town. A bottle supposed to contain whiskey was also in the suit case. Where the woman procured her "dope" and the liquor is not positively known as yet, but Deputy District Attorney Gale S. Hill is investigating the affair. From indications the woman is addicted to the use of morphine. In her struggles to escape from Mr. McCune Mrs. Dixon's cloak was badly torn. She has been under suspicion for some weeks and for this reason Mr. McCune watched her when she entered the store. This is the second case of shoplifting by women in the last ten days in this city.

A later report states the name of the woman arrested for shoplifting is Mrs. Vanderlip of Shedd, and not Mrs. Dixon, as she herself states.

AMUSEMENTS

"An altogether delightful company" is the universal sentiment of the immense audiences which have witnessed Oliver J. Eckhardt's splendid company "Eckhardt's Ideals," which comes to the Eugene theatre for four nights, commencing soon, presenting new royalty productions never before purchased on the coast. The "Ideals" are reported to be, without a doubt the strongest popular price organization in the west, and the only repertoire company with an established reputation from the Mississippi river to the Pacific coast.

While in the east last summer Mr. Eckhardt secured from a well-known dramatic agency, the exclusive western rights to the following plays, all of which are now currently controlled in the west by Mr. Eckhardt: "The Village Schoolmaster," a pastoral comedy drama, which has enjoyed the longest run of popularity in the East, of any rural play ever written. "In Louisiana," a beautiful story of love and devotion, in the southern state where it gets its name. "A Man's Broken Promise," the latest success and masterpiece of Lillian Mortimer, the famous authoress' entire efforts. "The Woe of Kitty," a high class comedy. "Wormwood," a dramatization of the popular story of the same name. "Bertha Thorne," the only old piece in the "Ideals" entire repertoire, a dramatization of Bertha M. Clay's famous novel, and one of the sweetest and most popular dramas of today.

In addition to the strong acting company of fourteen people, Mr. Eckhardt carries as a special feature between acts, the latest subjects in moving pictures and illustrated songs besides numerous specialties, which are entirely changed each night.

The company will open their engagement at the local play house with "The Village Schoolmaster." Reserved seats can now be reserved at the usual place. Prices 15, 25, 35c, and 50c.

HAUDENSCHILD AT M. E. CHURCH

The Methodist church was full again last night to hear Haudenschild's argument on the Divinity of Christ. His logic was unanswerable. He summoned witnesses from both the saved and unsaved in the audience to testify to their positive knowledge that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. About 500 persons rose instantly to this call to the opposite statement. "How many know positively that Christ is not the Son of God?" No one dared to rise—theory and positive knowledge are two different things.

This series of meetings positively closes Sunday with three great services. There will also be a meeting Saturday night, though none in the afternoon.

His subject tonight is, "The Drama of Life." Saturday night, "The Heart Broken Cry."
