JEROME FAILS TO CONFUSE YOUNG MRS. HARRY THAW

SHE TELLS HER STORY EXACTLY AS SHE DID IN THE FIRST TRIAL—JEROME CONCLUDES HIS LONG CROSS-EXAMINATION THIS AFTERNOON

New York, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw continued today under the lash of District Attorney Jerome's cross-examination. The prosecutor spent much time in going over by evidence at the former trial, but the witness adhered to her original story, declaring it all to be true. Jerome was aggressive in his attitude today, but his manner of questioning lacked the fire of yesterday. He and the witness constantly engaged in lulls and the honors were about even. Mrs. Thaw matched herself both with Mr. Jerome and his assistant, Mr. Garvan, who was ever at his chief's elbow with new suggestions. She fenced with them as skillfully as she did a year ago, and at times rejected the mood of the district attorney by answering in a voice pitched in as loud a key as his own. The prosecutor's pitiless and aggressive questions often struck fire, and once, when Jerome demanded to know if the young woman had told Thaw certain things, she replied: "Yes, I told him, but I did not use the language you are using."

"Don't argue with me, madam," shouted Mr. Jerome, who then had the reply stricken from the record. But one new feature appeared in the testimony of the witness. This was when she told of Thaw's swallowing the contents of a bottle of laudanum at Monte Carlo in 1904, in an attempt to end his life. Previous to this, at the Grand Hotel in New York, Thaw had talked of suicide, his wife declared, and had suggested that she also should take poison, as both their lives had been ruined. Mrs. Thaw said she humored Thaw at the time and diverted his mind.

THE LATE LORD KELVIN.

Famous English scientist who was the first electrician of the Atlantic cable and who made many marine discoveries. Lord Kelvin died recently at the age of eighty-three.

She was out of the room, when he finally took the poison. "Why didn't you tell us of this at the first trial?" demanded Jerome. "Mr. Dolmas said it might make Harry out too crazy," the witness reported before the district attorney could stop her. Jerome finished his long cross-examination of Evelyn at 2:43, after which Littleton asked some redirect questions. The witness was excused at 2:47.

MINE WORKERS IN CONVENTION AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Jan. 21.—The nineteenth annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America opened today with one thousand delegates present, representing the anthracite and bituminous coal mining districts of the country. They will probably remain in session until after January 30th, on which date the miners and operators of the central competitive field will meet in conference to discuss the rival interstate wage agreement. Should the operators decline to meet the miners the organization will determine as to its future course.

The convention has especial interest in marking the official retirement of John Mitchell, who has been at the head of the organization for nine years and seven months, and refuses to stand for re-election on account of ill health.

BOISE BANK FAILED TO OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Boise, Jan. 21.—The Capital State Bank of Idaho, limited, of this city, failed to open its doors this morning. At a directors' meeting last night it was decided that temporary suspension was necessary, owing to recent heavy withdrawals of deposits. The expert accountant who advised the action expressed the opinion today that the bank is solvent, and will pay dollar for dollar.

Reports reflecting on the stability of the bank have been in circulation for two months, and helped to precipitate the failure.

When its last report to the state bank examiner was made in December the deposits aggregated nearly $1,500,000. George T. Ellis is president and Hurdie Neal cashier, several prominent local financiers being stockholders. A petition for a receiver will be filed today. The bank asked the assistance of the clearing house association some time ago, but after an examination it was decided that no help could be given. The bank asked for $250,000 to tide it over until its assets could be realized upon.
