ing, he became an enthusiast. The result was that the trade of that town fell off until more than 40 per cent of all the larger merchants failed in two years. These people didn't buy their merchandise any cheaper, and they didn't recognize the fact that they had unconsciously participated in a scheme that emptied their houses, cut real estate to less than 40 per cent of its former value, and almost wrecked a community that had been very prosperous.

Pendleton has just sold a bond issue of $135,000 at par to Rollins & Son, of Chicago, the rate of interest being five per cent. This issue is made for the following purposes: City hall bonds, $40,000; levee, $85,000; sewer, $10,000; street intersections, $18,000.

The Washington Post says it wouldn't take a week to put a bill through congress giving publishers free paper. If the leaders would allow it. A sizable "if" that, brother.

Without in the least doubting the story now on its rounds of the cure of a sick man by a course of funny stories, we feel constrained to say that it is a risky treatment—something on the order of the test for telling mushrooms from toadstools.

Believing that the mission of the paragrapher is to add to the gaiety, not the trouble of the nation, we protest against the reprehensible disposition shown to rub it in on the brave man who has married his mother-in-law.

Former Secretary Shaw says the Aldrich currency bill is impracticable. If Aldrich desires to be witty, he can get back by asking if that wasn't also what the Iowa republicans said of the Shaw presidential boom.

The late H. C. Havemeyer, king of the sugar trust, only left a measly little wad of $10,000,000 to his wife and children. John D. Rockefeller doubtless holds the opinion that he shamefully neglected his opportunities.

"Let us build $50,000,000 worth of battlements every year," says Captain-Congressman Hepburn to commander-in-chief Ted. "That's the stuff," replies the big chief. Now, they'll put it up to congress.

Now they are trying to put a hoodoo on the useful silver quarter, because forsooth nearly all the characters in it focus up thirteen in number. However, they are good enough for us, even in bunches of thirteen.

Wonder if this bill to make ex-presidents life members of the house isn't a scheme on the part of somebody to get even with somebody?

Speaking of the woes of ex-presidents, one of the worst of them must be to find that their best jokes no longer command a laugh.

Men frequently speak of "How silly I used to be," though you never hear the silliest of them say, "How silly I am."

ELMIRA ITEMS (Special Correspondence.) Elmira, Jan. 22.—Mrs. Colquhoun and daughter, Manilla, went to Eugene Saturday, returning home Monday. They were attending the meeting.

WALTERVILLE NEWS (Special Correspondence.) Walterville, Jan. 20.—Another wedding in this place has taken away one of Walterville's fairest daughters. On Wednesday, January 15, Marion A. Brubaker and Miss Ada M. Millican were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Millican, Rev. H. N. Mount officiating. Miss Millican has been a Lane county teacher, but kept house for her brother, an extensive rancher, the last few years. Mr. Brubaker was formerly interested in banking at Gold Hill, but is now a conductor on an electric line in Portland.

Both have made Walterville their home for a number of years, and have a host of friends here who wish them happiness and prosperity. As they passed through the village their friends greeted them with a rice shower. They go to Portland to live. On January 16th the I. O. O. F. organized at this place with six old members belonging to different lodges and twenty-seven new members. Those previously belonging were Miles Stacy, Zara Potter, Claude Campbell, Mr. Farham, Pleasant Hartwig and Lawrence Millican.

There were about fifty visitors from Eugene, Springfield, Cottage Grove, and Colburg combined. At 12 p. m. the ladies of this place had supper for the crowd of visitors and members of the new order, and at 4 o'clock a. m. they had breakfast for all who wished to partake. This was especially for those who had to take the long ride back to their several homes. All who attended had a very enjoyable evening.

AS TO ACUTE DISEASES In many quarters of the country osteopaths are not very numerous; as a result, the news of their good work having spread, they are kept busy treating patients who come to their offices suffering from diseases that have become chronic, so that the impression has grown that osteopaths treat chronic diseases only.

In many quarters of the country where osteopaths have become numerous the doctors of this new school have become the regular family physicians. They have been called in alike for the troubles of children and parents, and their marked success in the treatment of diseases of every character makes their services much sought after. Any one who wishes a thoroughly convincing demonstration of osteopathy's effectiveness should call in an osteopath when some member of the family is suffering from an acute attack; and it is quite certain that the osteopath will thereafter be the family physician.

REGARDING THE LOCAL POST OF THE G. A. R.

Editor Guard:—There has appeared at various times in the Eugene papers items in reference to the Grand Army of the Republic at this place that have had a tendency to mislead many people regarding this organization. To correct any wrongful impressions thus formed is the purpose of this communication. J. W. Geary post No. 7, Department of Oregon, Grand Army of the Republic, is the name and title of the post located at Eugene, this post having been in existence for more than 25 years, and has held the field alone. This post is in a most healthy and flourishing condition from every point of view. It has upon its rolls at the present time 121 members in good standing and its finances are in better condition at the present time than ever before in its entire history.

The officers and members of the post are constantly and practically carrying forward the great principles upon which the order is founded, and they are daily making great sacrifices of time and means in caring for him who has borne the heat of the battle and for his widow and orphan. Unity and harmony are ever the prevailing sentiment in the minds of the veterans of this fast fading organization.

Thirteen former members of the G. A. R. recently made an effort to organize another G. A. R. post at Eugene. This would lead many people to believe that there was something radically wrong and that J. W. Geary post was upon the verge of dissolution, and in order to save the life of the G. A. R. at Eugene it was necessary to organize another post here. Nothing could be further away from the truth than this, and the department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, being apprised of existing conditions, for good and sufficient reasons refused to grant a charter for another post here. J. W. Geary post occupies the field exclusively, and doubtless will continue to do so.

The citizens of Eugene have always been generous with both their sympathy and means when appeal has been made to them for assistance, and we feel that they are entitled to the facts in the matter. No doubt J. W. Geary post will remain in existence as long as the Grand Army lives in the department of Oregon.

The life of the organization, both nationally and locally, is limited, and the line of limitation is being rapidly approached. Peace, harmony, loyalty and charity are the sentiments that should unite and cement all members of this patriotic and charitable organization in its duty toward all worthy and distressed veterans of the great civil war and to their widows and orphans.

C. H. BAKER, Commander J. W. Geary Post and Chief Mustering Officer for the Department of Oregon G. A. R.

EUGENE PROPERTY WILL GROW VALUABLE

Blair street addition property is sure to double in value within the next two years. Two electric railroads are coming up the valley from Portland and both of them must enter the city from the west, and the line that will tap the Sluslaw country can not go out in any other direction. As sure as water runs down the valley, Eugene must build down the valley, because the business is there.

There are both acreage tracts and large lots in this addition, only a mile from the business center and three blocks from the Geary public school. Prices are very reasonable and you may make your own terms, a small payment down and monthly installments if you desire.

See the Oregon Land Co. at 412 Willamette street, or write them for particulars and prices.

NORMAL SCHOOL OFFERS SPECIAL OPPORTUNITIES

The Southern Oregon State Normal school at Ashland offers special opportunities for teachers to review for the teachers' examinations in February and August, and to take work in pedagogy and special methods in teaching the various grades of the training school. Since the public schools of Oregon are calling for teachers who can teach manual training, many are taking advantage of the industrial work lately installed in the school. Expenses of board and lodging and tuition nominal.

The State Normal School at Ashland is enjoying the largest appropriation of state funds ever granted a normal school in the history of Oregon. Catalogues sent on application to the president. 31
