MEETING OF COLLEGE HEADS IS FRUITLESS

NO DECISION ON UNIFORM ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS IS REACHED—O. A. C. REQUIREMENTS NOT UP TO STANDARD.

Because the standard of entrance requirements at the Oregon Agricultural college does not equal that of the other Oregon institutions, and because there seems no immediate prospect of raising the entrance requirements at the Corvallis school, the perfecting of a state inter-collegiate association which shall fix the entrance requirements in all the Oregon universities and colleges on as uniform a basis as possible, will not be consummated for probably another year at least.

At a meeting of the committee of college presidents yesterday afternoon in Eugene, the matter of uniform entrance requirements in the Oregon colleges, was discussed, but the result of the meeting was apparently fruitless as far as accomplishing the purpose for which it was called. The committee was named by the State Teachers' association last May, and consists of President H. M. Crooks, Albany College; President Campbell, University of Oregon; Presient Kerr, of the Oregon Agricultural College; President Coleman, of Willamette University, and President Riley, of McMinnville College.

According to the statement of one of the committee who attended the meeting yesterday, the majority of the representatives of the various Oregon schools were agreed on the qualifications for students who entered the different schools. The only bar seemingly which prevented any definite action being taken was the fact that at the state agricultural college there are one or two courses which make it possible for persons who have not gone further than the sixth or seventh grade in the public school to enter. These courses are said to be in the mechanical department.

The other remaining Oregon colleges feel that they cannot compete on an equal basis with the agricultural college, since most of the other schools require a much higher standard of scholarship for any prospective student. President Kerr, of the agricultural college, since coming to the head of this institution, has raised the admission standard in some courses, but there are said to yet remain one or more courses where the entrance standard required is not vrey high.

As a result of the difference found to exist, it was thought impossible to do anything at the meeting yesterday, and it was therefore decided to call a meeting of representatives from all the Oregon colleges and universities before the state teachers' association, and to further take up this problem.—Albany Herald.

AMUSEMENTS

The Nixon & Zimmerman Company have decided to perpetuate the famous characters of "Simple Simon Simple" namely Mose, Tony DeBumski, Hans Spiegelberger, and they will all be introduced in the new musical piece which Manager Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger will present in Philadelphia early in May. The new vehicle will be constructed by Mr. Nirdlinger, Charles H. Brown and Ottis F. Wood, of "Simple Simon Simple" fame, while the music will be of the composite sort, a number being furnished by each and every musician and composer that has been on the Nixon & Zimmerman staff of royalty getters. The new piece, it is claimed, will be a novelty.

A. L. Chase, Pastor M. E. Church, Longmont, Colo.:—

I wish to express to you the extreme pleasure we had at the Colorado Assembly in the work of the Robley Male Quartet, who sang for us on the evening of August 8th. It was one of the happiest hits of the season. Their superb singing, Robley's splendid impersonations, and the genial, manly character of the boys themselves combined to make the evening given them an evening of real joy. Very truly yours.—J. E. Pickett, Pres.

An audience which crowded the seating capacity of the First Baptist church and caused standing room to be at a premium was splendidly entertained Friday evening by the Robley Male Quartet. The program consisted of vocal quartets and solos by the membersthe members and several entertaining readings by Mr. Robley. Encores were frequently demanded and graciously responded to.—Fort Coffins Express.

Sobieski

He held the audience intensely interested at all times. He is a born orator and possesses the rare qualities necessary in a public speaker.—Mt. Vernon Daily Register.

At the Baptist church Friday and Saturday evenings, under the auspices of the Baraca Male Quartet. Admission, 35 cents. Children, 25 cents.

The Menley Quartet.

Eugene will be glad to again hear the Menley Quartet, which appears at the high school on Monday evening. Ricketts, their impersonator, is a show in himself. Te music is always good, and the addition of the musical chimers is a splendid new feature.

Mr. Ricketts is an impersonator and reader of rare ability.—Fairfield Republican.

In their singing they showed rare ability, and no better was ever heard here.—Golconda Herald.

The Menleys are great, and the readings of Chester Ricketts was one of the many excellent features of an entertainment filled to overflowing with admirable things.—Metropolis Herald.

RESUME WORK ELECTRIC LINE IN SHORT TIME

A. M. Utterbach, foreman of construction for the Portland, Eugene & Eastern Railway Co., informed The Guard today that he has orders to begin the work of building a switch Monday at the end of the electric line at the car barn in Fairmount, preparatory to the beginning of the work of extending the line on to Springfield. He says the latter work will begin about the first of February. The ties which have been piled up along the road between Eugene and Springfield for several months past, are now distributed along the route of the line. It is expected that cars will be running into Springfield or at least to the river this side of Springfield by the middle of the summer. L. N. Roney, who has the contract for building the bridge across the river, is now ill, and it cannot be learned when he expects to begin work on the structure.

JUDGE PARKER GOES AFTER BRYAN

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Commenting on Bryan's statement before the Kentucky legislature yesterday that Parker in 1904 was the "man above all others I did not want," Judge Parker today said that it was because Bryan had stated he would bolt Cleveland, Hill, Gorman and Gray, but would support Parker, that induced Parker to change his life's work and take the nomination.

When the tide proved too strong to be breasted, and Bryan found that he could not stop Parker's nomination, Parker says that Bryan then started on his famous tour of denunciation.

Parker says it would have been very much better for the party had Bryan said in 1903, as he says now, "Parker is the man above all others I did not want."

SCHOOL EXHIBITION LAST OF FEBRUARY

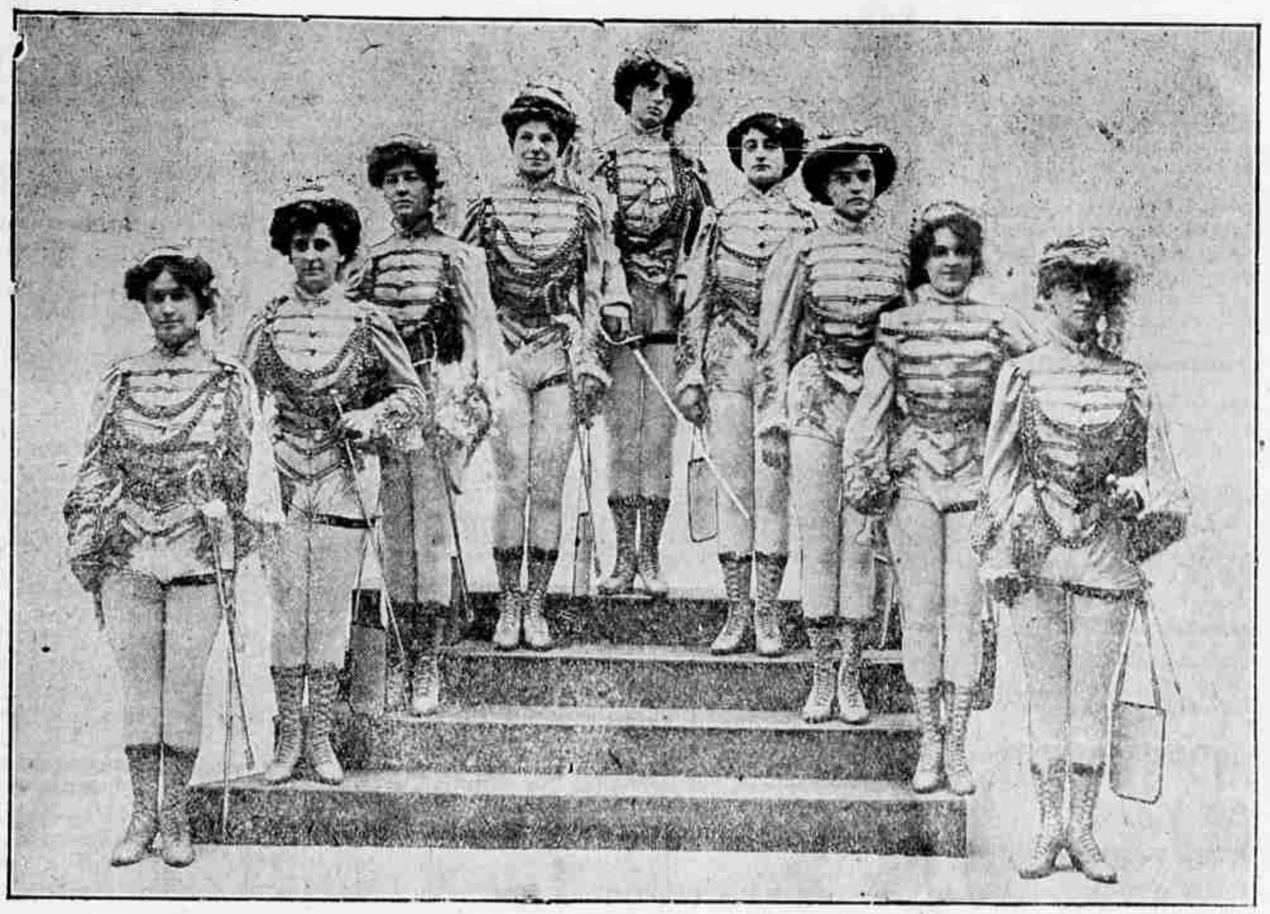
WORK OF PUPILS WILL BE DISPLAYED TO PUBLIC—SECOND SEMESTER BEGINS MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3.

During the last week in February the Eugene public school pupils will give an exhibition of their work. All the work done by the pupils of all the grades will be displayed to the public. This will be done so the patrons of the schools and the public in general may gain an idea of the class and nature of the work being done in the schools.

Eighth grade examinations are in progress at the several schools today, having begun yesterday. There are 36 taking examinations.

The new semester begins on Monday, February 3. The final examinations will be held next week. The list of questions are now being prepared by Superintendent Alderman.

Twelve hundred letters have been written by the pupils of the schools to send to the East under the direction of the Commercial club. A committee will award the prizes for the best written letters at a later date.



GINGERBREAD CADETS IN "THE GINGERBREAD MAN," AT EUGENE THEATRE THURSDAY, JAN. 30

DR. MARTIN WILL TALK ON SPIRITUALIMS

Beyond a question all who heard Dr. Martin last night can consider themselves very fortunate in being present. With a clear and direct purpose in mind and with a heart wholly given to love and its triumph, the evangelist entered into his theme with such vigor that he opened the hearts of his hearers to the glorious beauty of heaven's message to earth and the triumphal result.

Schiller has said "Love illumes the realms of night." One of old said "the entrance of Thy Word giveth light." Truly it is the love of God that sent the Saviour (the Word made flesh) into this once dark and hopeless world of sin, and by His breaking the bars of earth's mightiest prison He has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel.

It was "Love's Triumph" which induced five persons to go forward when the gospel invitation was given, thus making the number of accessions about 90.

Look out for "spooks" tonight. Dr. Martin will deliver his great lecture this evening on "Spiritualism—the Devil is in it." Instead of the regular offering an admission fee of 10 cents will be requested. Most surely many hundreds will make the most of this opportunity to hear a masterly discussion on "Spiritualism."

Remember the time—7:30. The announcement of an intensely interesting subject for Saturday night will be made at the service this evening. Come early.

CARD OF THANKS

We hereby extend our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy in our time of bereavement, in the loss of husband and father.

University of Oregon News

The Athletic Council met last Saturday and decided that the O. A. C. game might be played in Portland next fall, but that in such a case, the precedent should not bind the place of the game the next season.

No official announcement has been made as to the choice of coach, but a well authenticated report states that it will be Forbes, who handled West Point this year. Forbes is a Yale man, and after his graduation, was offered the head coach ship at his alma mater.

He made the All-American two years.

His home for the present is in Ballard, Wash. He was in Eugene last Saturday and talked with the members of the council, and football enthusiasts, including some of the fair ladies at the Freshman Glee.

Forbes is a man of good appearance, large and powerfully built. While talking, he said that the men in the West are larger than those of the East, and that the material seems much better on the Pacific coast than in the East.

In view of this, it is not unlikely that an American championship might fall to some Pacific Northwest team in the future.

Addresses Y. M. C. A.

C. W. Converse of the University of Oregon faculty addressed the students of the last meeting of the Y. M. C. A. on "Romance of History; The Story of the Ten Tribes of Israel." After considering various aspects of the question, he said:

"Some seventy-five years ago, John Wilson developed a hypothesis which has since demonstrated its claim to credence. Wilson discovered that according to the Irish Chronicles, there landed, 2500 years ago, in the north of Ireland, a man named Jeremy (cf. Jeremiah) and a king's daughter. The Bible relates that Jeremiah had the care of the daughter of Zedekiah, who was taken captive by the Assyrians. Previous to this time an invader had conquered Ireland. He is claimed to be of the line of the scarlet thread, the untraced line from Judah in Genesis. He married the Princess Tephi and the two houses of Judah were united. From this union, through the houses of Ireland and Scotland came the ruling house of England.

"The westward migration of the ten tribes may be traced, because the tribe of Dan, always fond of naming things for itself, exercised that penchant and we find the route traced by many names of Hebraic origin from the Danube to Denmark.

"That the early name of the Welsh is found on Assyrian monuments, that the Welsh language contains about 5,000 Hebrew words, that the Anglo-Saxon race is fulfilling prophecy by occupying the waste places' are corroborative evidence. Queen Victoria believed this version and hoped to live to give over her throne to Christ."

Oregon Man Certain.

Only one candidate presented himself for the Rhode Scholarship examinations, he being Cornelius Beebe, of this city. Two others who passed the examinations last year are eligible, but they are all from the University. Bolton Hamble and Cecil Lyons are the scholars, and the question of who shall go to Oxford, lies between the three, in case Mr. Beebe successfully passes and demonstartes his scholarship. In any case, an Oregon man will win the scholarship of $1500.

Crooks Speaks.

President H. M. Crooks of Albany College addressed the student body Wednesday morning on the subject "Morality and Literature." The subject was well handled, and some important thoughts were brought to the minds of the students present.

The President is a fluent speaker, cultured. He is a strong supporter of education.

Debate Changed.

The final preliminaries for the Interstate debate tryouts will be held Saturday night in Villard Hall instead of tonight. More interest is being taken in debate than ever before, not alone in Oregon, but in Idaho and Washington. From every indication the final debate the last of March, will be a very hard battle.

Varsity Notes.

O. A. C. defeated Willamette at basketball last week.

The University of Washington will have six debating coaches this year, one for every man.

Dr. James Gilbert, of the economics department, went to Albany Friday, where he acted as judge of the debate between the Albany and Brownsville high schools.

Merle Chessman has been ratified as Assistant Manager of the track team. Next year he will be the manager. Chesman is a well known bay here, having graduated from the local high school.

"Cramming" has begun for the first semester examinations.

At last Friday's meeting of the Eutaxian Literary Society the following officers were elected: President, Caroline Dunston; vice-president, Jennie Lilly; secretary Frances Young; assistant secretary, Helene Hughes; treasurer, Allie Beebe; censor, Ethel Johnson; editor, Elsie Davis; sergeant at arms, Mary Foshay. At the first meeting of the society next semester the following programme will be given: Current events Ethel Johnson; recitation, Ruth Balderee; a paper, Mary Foshay; and a reading, Helene Hughes.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

The question has often been asked, can there be good water secured in the Gross addition? We say, yes. G. W. Taylor, the well driller, has just informed the company that he has completed two wells of excellent water in said addition at a depth of 65 feet.

G. GROSS, Manager.
