AMUSEMENTS

The Gingerbread Man has come and gone, leaving behind him only pleasant memories that carry one back to and mingle with childhood's days. It was a remarkable creation in that it is something made from practically nothing, its foundation being simply the "Old Mother Goose" jingles, but it is certainly artistic and poetical, for surely the author "gave to airy nothing a local habitation and a name." A good show and a full house struck the Eugene theatre the same night, and the audience got its money's worth. There was catchy music, and lots of it; good voices, a pretty and graceful bunch of chorus girls; bubbling hu-

DOUGLAS COUNTY JAIL UNFIT FOR HUMANS

Roseburg, Jan. 29.—The grand jury finished its labors today, after a nine-day session returning six indictments, two for selling liquor without licenses, three for robbery and one for burglary.

The Yellow Creek tragedy, two months since, in which Hiram Snook and Manse Kincaid lost their lives at the hands of Louis and King Carlisle, was investigated, 3 witnesses being examined. Nothing was found disagreeing with the former verdict of the court, which justified the killing.

In its report the jury condemned the condition of the county jail as not a fit place in which to confine a human being. This is particularly interesting in view of the fact that George Putnam, editor of the Med-

DIED.

At the family home on College Hill January 31, 1908, at 3 a. m., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Judkins, of diphtheria. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock p. m. tomorrow afternoon with interment in the Masonic cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Soverns, known as "Grandma" Soverns, died at her home at 47 West Fifth street, Eugene, January 30, 1908, at 6 p. m., of old age. She was 84 years old. A suitable obituary will be printed later. The funeral will be held Sunday at 11 a. m. with interment in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

BERNARD DALY IN KERRY GOW

mor and wit; sparkling comedy and pretty costumes, and the quaint conceit of the play was carried out smoothly and perfectly.

Years ago when General Grant saw "Kerry Gow" at the Old Park Theatre, New York, he made the generous remark that "there was no play that took one nearer to nature than 'Kerry Gow,' and how true his remarks, as has been demonstrated those many years since.

Think of that old Irish homestead in the first act that is about to fall into the hands of the heartless landowner, and how the bleeding hearts of the members of the Drew family stake their all on the success of Raymond's horse that is about to race to save their home. Then there is the conspiracy that results in the arrest of Dan O'Hara, the young village farmer, who is cast into prison just because he harbors an innocent love for Nora Drew. The third act is a real picture of motion. There have been produced many times since plays with a horse race as a feature but never has one of them been able to introduce the realism this one does. Here is Dan O'Hara at his forge, making a horse shoe in full view of the audience and the shoeing of the horse is accomplished in a like manner. The last act is one of simplicity and beauty combined. The glad tidings when the doves come back from the track with the news that the race is won and that the home is saved has always aroused the most enthusiastic appreciation. It is just such features as this that make good plays and it is just the reason why "Kerry Gow" has been so successful. It is a simple story, plainly told. The story will be told in its usual very interesting style at the Eugene Theatre, February 3.

ford Tribune, was confined in this jail and afterward, in his own and Portland papers, scathingly denounced his treatment at the hands of the Douglas county officers.

EVIDENCE IS DAMAGING TO HALL

Francis J. Heney's cross-examination of John H. Hall yesterday materially strengthened the case of the government. One letter that will be followed by others today, was introduced by Heney showing that Hall in 1901 and 1902, when frequent complaints were being received against the Butte Creek Company, took immediate and effective steps toward prosecuting settlers who had from 300 to 400 acres of government land inclosed. The purpose of these letters is to show conclusively that Hall did not molest Stelwer's company, whose enclosure of public land embraced about 20,000 acres. Neither further evidence, contradictory of the testimony of Hall on direct examination, was offered by Heney at last night's session. It consisted of a letter written by the department of justice to Hall in November, 1902, in response to a request from the department of the interior on the application of Special Inspector Greene, assigning Greene to report to Hall for the specific purpose of investigating complaints of unlawful fencing by W. W. Brown in Harney and Lake counties, that had been reported to the interior department by Greene in the month of October, 1902.—Oregonian.
