

YOUNG MOTHERS

A mother who is in good physical condition transmits to her child the blessing of a good constitution; sickly, ailing mothers, the reverse. The tiny babe brings to her a living responsibility. At such a time too great care cannot be taken to build up the mother's general constitution, and restore her feminine system to a healthy, normal condition. The greatest assistance that any woman can have in accomplishing this all-important work is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. M. Gilmer, of West Union, S. C., writes to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

"I was greatly run down in health, suffering from a weakness peculiar to my sex. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was not only restored to health but am the proud mother of a fine baby girl. I wish every sick and ailing woman would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."

Mrs. Paul Oliver, of St. Martinville, La., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "For years I suffered from the worst form of female troubles, and the doctor said I could not get well without an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to perfect health, and I have the sweetest little baby girl. I will never cease to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with the worst forms. Why don't you try it?

Candidates who cannot arrange to be at The Guard office this evening during the closing hours should have a representative on hand to look after their interests in the counting hours. This evening will see the finish of the most successful voting contest ever conducted in the Pacific Northwest, outside of Portland. The good-natured tug-of-war for the supremacy that has existed throughout the contest has assumed gigantic proportions and many of the candidates have created reserve forces that will be very much in evidence when the final count is published.

One of the many surprises that have been in store was sprung last night when Miss Maude Lewis, of District No. 4, polled her reserve of votes and placed her name in a winning position for the spring Kimball dance. Miss Lewis has been working hard throughout the contest and has secured votes and subscriptions announced on Tuesday, February 12. The prizes will be awarded at once.

EVERY CANDIDATE AND THEIR FRIENDS ARE REQUESTED TO BE ON HAND AT THE FINISH TONIGHT.

PORTLAND WITHDRAWS FROM NORTHWEST CIRCUIT

A clash occurred between the representatives of Boise, Lewiston, Spokane, Walla Walla, North Yakima and the representatives of the Portland Country Club and Livestock Association this morning at the meeting of the North Pacific Racing Association that will result in the complete separation of the Portland association from the Northwest circuit, says the Portland Telegram. The Portland club decided to hold its races during the week of September 21 to 26, regardless of opposition from the towns in the eastern territory.

The Portland races will follow the Oregon state fair at Salem, which will be held from September 14 to 19, and the Salem fair will follow in turn the California meet at Sacramento, which will be held from September 7 to 12. G. A. Westgate, who represented Portland, stated that the Portland association could hold their meet at no other time, and advised the eastern representatives to follow the Portland fair, which will be by far the largest racing meet ever held in the Pacific Northwest.

The eastern delegation stood firmly together and voted to follow the Salem fair and take chances on getting horses for their races. As the Portland association offers about $40,000 in purses during this meet, the eastern Washington and Idaho fairs will have to look to other sources for their attractions. Furthermore, the Washington fairs are dependent upon California and Oregon horses for their races, so that it is the opinion of racing men that the North Yakima fair, which it is decided should fall on the same date as the Portland fair, will be up against it for entries.

THE DOCTOR OF OSTEOPATHY

What His Title Means—How He Gets It and the Peculiar Abilities Acquired in His Long Course of Training

The graduate of a recognized college of osteopathy, after a long and exhaustive study of the highest authorities in anatomy, physiology, pathology, diagnosis, therapeutics and all kindred branches, is awarded a diploma that gives him a legal right to the title of Doctor of Osteopathy. That is the only title that he wishes, for he makes no pretense of practicing medicine, the word medicine being generally accepted as meaning drugs.

The abbreviation of the title of Doctor of Osteopathy is D. O., and the province of the D. O. is to help nature, in the human body, to right herself. He believes that drugs are not only unnecessary, but distinctly damaging, and that the body is a very perfect machine that will run along smoothly if supplied with the proper fuel (food), and if none of its parts get out of position.

Repairing the Structure.
But, while the most perfect of machines, it is also the most delicate, and derangement of its parts can be brought about in scores of ways. Pains, jars, strains, undue exertions, and local contractions or relaxations due to changes in temperature, are only a few of the things that may cause trouble in this delicate mechanism. Sometimes the effects are immediately apparent, sometimes long delayed.

It is for the especial work of finding the derangement and rectifying it that the osteopathic physician is trained. He is a master mechanic, and when anything is wrong with the machine it is the master mechanic whose services should be called in. If some little part has slipped out of place, the resulting trouble may be at a distant part of the mechanism, and but for the trained expert would be likely to attempt repairs in the wrong place and work further damage. But the skilled workman does nothing until he has made thorough examination and found that little part that has slipped out of place. Then his training enables him to replace it. That is the work of the osteopathic physician.

If you want an opinion as to the value of osteopathic treatment do not make the mistake of consulting any one whose whole training has been along other lines. Ask some one who has had experience with the system and knows; or, better yet, go to a good osteopath and give him the opportunity to demonstrate the thing to you.

CLOSING OF SAWMILL CAUSED FAILURE

MEN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT IN SPRINGFIELD RESULTED IN FINANCIAL EMBARRASSMENT

The Guard a few days ago stated that a trustee had been appointed for Harry Stewart's store at Springfield. This week's News tells of it as follows:

The citizens of Springfield were somewhat surprised Wednesday morning when it was announced that Harry M. Stewart had failed in business, and that James L. Clark had been appointed by his creditors as trustee of the store. The failure of Mr. Stewart was a surprise to the public, as it was generally believed that this store would be among the last to fail. However, when the hard times came on and the mill closed down, throwing nearly one hundred men out of employment, the sales of this large store dropped off about 100 per cent., thus making it impossible for Mr. Stewart to meet his obligations and the crash came. He has an immense stock of goods on the shelves and was not prepared for hard times. He had bought heavily and has more than double the stock that he should have during such a panic as now exists. Mr. Clark announced that sale will be carried on in this store that will discount anything that has ever before been conducted in Springfield. He says goods will be cut to actual cost and in many cases below cost, as they are bound to raise money enough in the next sixty days to satisfy the creditors, and as soon as this is done the business will be conducted by Mr. Stewart as before. The fact that he has failed for the time being is no disgrace nor due to lack of ability, but he was caught like hundreds of others, not expecting a sudden fall in business, and was unprepared, with an overstock of merchandise and a heavily in debt. The News, with his many friends, hope that the big sale that is now on will be a big success and that he will be able to pull out of the tight place that he so suddenly found himself in.

Don't miss the dance Saturday night, February 8th, after Company C's annual inspection. 18
