PHYSICIANS DECLARE ELECTRICITY HARMFUL

The Illuminating Engineering Society of Chicago held a meeting the other day and invited a number of experts to be present and tell them what they had discovered in laboratories of lighting dwellings, schools and stores.

The doctors strongly condemned incandescent light bulbs and as they recommended the old-time gas lamp of our fathers.

Both in America and the European countries the oculists agree that the incandescent lamp is the least harmful illuminant and it is alleged that the incandescent lamp has done more to cause eye degeneration than any other light used for work.

All the doctors said that the incandescent light could be made with a trouble as harmless as the kerosene light, but nobody seems to be taking the trouble. The demand for more and brighter lights is the whole trouble in with the light.

Everybody has noticed the great increase in the number of people who wear glasses during the past few years. This is true particularly of the young. While no doubt a part of this is due to the fact that people are adopting the use of glasses because they have an idea that they add dignity to their appearance, the majority of them are wearing them through necessity.

Now, in our country neither the president nor any one else can execute the laws faithfully or execute them at all unless the American people wish them executed.

But I, for one, believe firmly that the people have no such wish, and I believe further that practically every one else believes about this as I do.

of course is the need of immediate action if the nation is not to be robbed entirely of one of its most important natural resources. The Appleton article points out that other sources of national wealth are being depleted in the same way as the forests, although in these other cases the limit of actual exhaustion is not so near at hand.

Here is a pointer for Eugene and other woolen mills in the Willamette valley: Statistics show that a large trade in rugs and blankets is opening up in China, which is constantly increasing, and should serve as an outlet for American-made goods.

Taft and Cannon has been suggested by the Baltimore American, and we suppose the editor is prepared to attempt to convince Joe that he should give up his present autocratic job to play second fiddle.

Imaginative writers speak of our being called on by China to drive the Japanese out of Manchuria as confidently as though they had seen a written contract binding us to obey any call than China makes for us to do her fighting.

If any old physician, wise or otherwise, thinks the talkative can be scared into keeping their mouths shut by the germ bugaboo, he has several more things coming to him and would better be getting busy right away.

No shortage of cash in the Standard Oil Company's till. It has just declared its regular quarterly dividend of $15 per share, payable on March 14.

Maybe it isn't our butt-in, but anyway, we'll say that the bunch of Indians school teachers who signed a petition for the immediate release of Harry Thaw might easily have found more useful work at home.

A Connecticut man arrested for ordinary forgery pleaded "financial insanity" as a defense, which somehow seems an infringement of the vested rights of our high financiers.

It's very unjust for a man to criticize women for talking, as everybody knows that a man is the cause of most of the talking done by women.

Nothing to do but work; Nothing to eat but food; Nothing to wear but clothes; To keep one's form going nude; Nothing to breathe but air; Quick as a flash 'tis gone; Nowhere to fall but off; Nowhere to stand but on; Nothing to comb but hair; Nowhere to sleep but bed; Nothing to weep but tears; Nothing to bury but dead; Nothing to sing but songs; Ab, well, Alas, Alack! Nowhere to go but out; Nowhere to come but back.

THE PESSIMIST. Nothing to do but work; Nothing to eat but food; Nothing to wear but clothes; To keep one's form going nude; Nothing to breathe but air; Quick as a flash 'tis gone; Nowhere to fall but off; Nowhere to stand but on; Nothing to comb but hair; Nowhere to sleep but bed; Nothing to weep but tears; Nothing to bury but dead; Nothing to sing but songs; Ab, well, Alas, Alack! UNIVERSITY SUPPORT. (Aurora Herald.) The last session of the Oregon legislature passed a bill appropriating $125,000 annually for the support and maintenance of the University of Oregon, erected of buildings and purchase of land, apparatus, library books and supplies.

The University of Oregon is an educational institution in which everyone in Oregon should take a personal interest and should use his endeavor to see that it is given proper support. It is true the legislature sometimes makes appropriations for objects that are foolish and useless, but a reasonable sum set aside for the maintenance of an institution where the youth of the state can be educated is not one of them.
