PRES. CAMPBELL MAKES REPLY TO STATE GRANGE

BELIEVES ALUMNI FIGURES RIGHT AND REITERATES THE NEEDS OF UNIVERSITY OF OREGON — INSTITUTION MUST HAVE LARGER APPROPRIATION OR CLOSE ITS DOORS

Concerning the reply made by the state grange to the University of Oregon Alumni appeal for the State Univedsity, President P. L. Campbell Campbell made the following statement:

"As I have not seen the full text of the reply filed in answer to the statement issued by the committee of the alumni of the University of Oregon, but only the extracts printed in the newspapers, I cannot express a very definite opinion as to the merits of the arguments in advance. The figures used by the alumni committee in their statement were fair and accurate as far as I can judge. It is clearly stated in the committee argument that the total number of students, including those in the departments of law and emdicine, is used in making the camparison of per capita expenses of the state, for the reason that the reports of other universities use similar figures, and do not segregate in their funds the amounts apportioned to the different departments. The approximation to the per capita cost in the various institutions seemed to me a fairly accurate one, and it shows the university to be at the botom of the list. The estimate is made on the basis of the new appropriation, and not on the basis of the present appropriation of $47,500.

"As to the question of the courses of study at the agricultural college and the University, those are details that can easily be arranged, either by the boards of regents of the two institutions or by the state legislature, if necessary. The relationships existing between the college and the University are very friendly, and there should be no difficulty in reaching thoroughly satisfactory agreements.

"As far as I have known, no undue or unfair influence was brought to bear in the legislature by the friends of the University in securing the passage of the appropriation bill. A large delegation of the members of the legislature visited the Universnty and examined into its needs in person The budget of expenditures for several years to come was explained to each member as thoroughly as possible, and the general opinion of those who looked into the matter was that the appropriation asked for was a very reasonable one in view of the urgent need at the University for additional buildings and equipment. The intention of the friends of the University was to rely upon the strength of the case presented. The bill carried by so overwhelming a majority that there would seem to have been no need of anything but a clear statement and fair argument.

"The simple fact is that the University is at present receiving very meagre support from the state and that it must be either given a larger appropriation or practically close its doors against the increasingly large number of students who are each year applying for admission. The number of high schools in the state is increasing rapidly, and they are sending a larger number of graduates to the University each year. The state should not make a pretense of providing adequately for these yong men and women when in reality not doing so."

SLIGHT CHANGE IN THE DATE FOR ELKS MINSTRELS

Owing to the fact that Friday, March 6, is the date the University boys have decided on for their indoor track meet, the Elks have taken Saturday, March 7, for their second night's perfomance. The first night will be the same as advertised, Thursday, March 6, and their second night's performance will be held on Saturday. A big rehearsal is called for tonight at 7:15, and all Elks are requested to be present at the lodge rooms, as all parts are to be assigned by the director. On Thursday, the first day of the show, the Elks will give a big minstrel parade in which 50 of the performers will appear in full minstrel regalia.

AMUSEMENTS

Tuesday, March 3, at the Eugene theatre we are to see the Kirk La Shelle dramatization of Owen Wister's novel, "The Virginian." For a play typical of the West, "The Virginian" has been adjudged one of the best that has been produced. From the first to the last scene the play teems with that breezy ranch atmosphere that obtained in the Wyoming cattle country a quarter of a century ago, when ranch owners and cowpunchers were the leading lights and cattle thieves the only criminals. It is small wonder that the play has not only been a monetary but an artistic success, for few dramas on the stage today more closely follow the original story and yet maintain the thread of the plot in such an absorbingly interesting manner. W. S. Hart, who plays the nameless cowboy, is known to have won unstinted praise for his conception of Wistar's hero. His interpretation of the character, we are told, is in strict accordance with the author's ideas. Frank Campeau as Trampas is is exceptionally good.

OSTEOPATHY IS SCIENCE OF ITS OWN

There are but few people who have not heard of Osteopathy, also of some of ts achievements. But there are far too many who have accredited it with being good for only those conditions from which they have been cured, or which have come under their immediate observation.

Not in frequently there is mutual surprise when one man who was cured of eye trouble meets another who was cured of constipation. The above is a homely illustration, but it only shows that neither was curious enough to learn the possibilities of Osteopathy while being treated for their respective conditions.

They may have been persuaded to undergo Osteopathic treatment only because a friend had been cured of a like condition.

You may be one of those who do not know that Osteopathy is intended for ither conditions than those you have already heard of as having been treated successfully. If so, remember that if the principles of Osteopathy are right, it is a science of its own and a complete system of treating disease, and has been recognized as such by legislative enactments in more than two-thirds of the states in the Union.
