BEN TILLMAN IMPALES TEDDY ON PITCHFORK

Washington, March 15.—Citing that be claimed to be "cold-blooded ity" to show the executive responsibility for many evils which exist, Senator Tillman in a speech to the senate today said:

"In the most pronounced languge he has denounced combination between labor unions and boycott, but on the eve of election he panders to the same vote by demanding changes in the law as interpreted by the supreme court. Organized labor is to be relieved from the prohibition of the supreme court's decisions, but along with it must go the relief of capital. Once relieved the malefactors of great wealth will smile in triumph over their victory while labor will find itself no freer than before."

Tillman charged many of the evils in connection with the recent financial flurry to the president and his administration and said:

"These are only a few of the achievements of this uncrowned king. With others of his kind he has created a Frankenstein monster which unsatiated by the blood of suicide and fears of heart-broken women, threatens to devour and consume his creators, who were able to quench his thirst by torrents of gold poured out of the federal treasury."

Tillman charged the senate and house with absolute subservance to the wish of the chief executive.

LANDIS FINES WINDOW WASHER ONLY ONE CENT

Chicago, March 15.—George S. Miller, who wrote a dozen postal cards attacking the character of Dr. David W. Wilkins in vehement, defamatory and sometimes unprintable terms, was fined one cent by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis yesterday in the United States district court, after Dr. Wilkins admitted that he had failed to pay a debt of $2 to Miller for washing the windows of the doctor's office.

"You are technically guilty, Mr. Miller," said Judge Landis to the defendant, "because you said these things on postal cards. Don't use the United States mails to say such things in the future. Go to the man and say them to his face, if you think you are justified. I will fine you one cent and you need not pay any costs." Miller paid the fine at once.

JUDGE K. M. LANDIS.

Dr. Wilkins had a witess fee of $1.50 coming to him and assistant District attorney Shirer suggested to the worthy doctor that he could add 50 cents to the fee and pay the window washer what he owed him.
