FORTY-SIX BAGS MAIL RECEIVED LAST NIGHT

EASTERN MAIL DELAYED BY FLOODS IN EASTERN PART OF OREGON ARRIVE AFTER SEVERAL DAYS' DELAY—TRAINS RUNNING ON SCHEDULE TIME AGAIN

Forty-six bags of mail, a greater part of it from the East, arrived in Eugene on three trains last night, and it kept the postoffice force working to distribute it until after noon today. The cause of this rush of mail is the floods that have prevailed in Eastern Oregon along the line of the O. R. & N. railway over which all of the Eastern mail comes to Oregon. The waters have subsided during the past two days and the trains have been able to resume their regular schedules although in some places the tracks are in bad shape and slow time is necessary.

The Dalles Chronicle of Tuesday gives some idea of the extent of the trouble in the following news story:

"A few trains are being put on the run over the O. R. & N. lines which have been tied up for the past few days owing to the rains which caused landslides and washouts in several places between Portland and the mountains east of Pendleton. Train service has been at a standstill until yesterday, when a local train service was established between Portland and Pendleton. A train was sent out from Portland on a local schedule, and ran as far as Pendleton. Another train was made up here and went to Portland as a local. The Shaniko train was run to this city. The Spokane train made the run between this city and Spokane. During last night all the stock which had been held was sent out.

"During the forenoon of today there was no service, but No. 2 came out from Portland this morning on a local schedule to run to Pendleton and arrived in The Dalles at about 1:10 this afternoon. A train was started out of Pendleton this morning to take up the local service, but was delayed several hours by a work train and will arrive here about 6 o'clock this evening.

"The Spokane division has not suffered in the least from the storm and could have been operated on schedule time had it not been for the slide below this city.

"Last night the rain started again in the Pendleton district and changed to snow at an early hour this morning. This change in the weather will have a tendency to allow the rivers to fall into their normal courses and this will give the repairers a better chance to make time. The trouble in the Blue Mountains east of Pendleton has been caused by serious washouts on all streams in that section being very high. It is hoped, however, that the trouble will be remedied before tomorrow morning so that Eastern mail trains can get through on time and the Eastern schedule resumed. Trains Nos. 4 and 6 will leave Portland this evening on time and everything will be clear for them to run up to schedule."

INCREASING GRAZING ALLOTMENT ON NATIONAL FOREST

Special to Daily Guard.

Washington, March 19.—The forest service has recommended that the number of cattle and horses allowed to graze upon the Blue Mountains (W) National Forest in the state of Oregon during the season of 1908 be increased from 16,000 to 17,900 head and the number of sheep from 150,000 to 152,500 head. This forest has recently been divided into three administrative units, and the increase in the number of head of stock to graze on the range this year was made to permit an equitable adjustment among the former users of the forest.

WELLS-FARGO REFUSES TO PAY IN DOUGLAS

Roseburg, Or., March 18.—The Wells-Frgo Express Company has refused to pay the taxes levied upon its property in this county because the tax heretofore has been about $8.50, while this year it is $500. It has 12 offices in this county, of which Roseburg is the largest, and the authorities believe the amount of business transacted by the company and its assessable property amply justify the assessment Assessor Staley has seen fit to levy this year. It seems the company's holdings have been overlooked before.

MUCH CONCERN FELT.

Ordinary Methods for Treating Catarrh Prove Unsuccessful.

Written statistics show that an increase in catarrh have shaken confidence in the usual prescriptions to safeguard human health from the ravages of this disease.

When stomach dosing was proven ineffective, it was natural to look for some other treatment, and it is believed that in Hyomei an absolute cure for catarrhal troubles has at last been found. Inhaled with the air you breathe, its healing medication reaches every part of the nose and throat, and soothes the irritated mucous membrane so that relief is almost instant, while lasting cure is practically sure to follow.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, and is sold by Hull Drug Company under an absolute agreement to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.
