RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION IN EUGENE'S TERRITORY

It is now officially given out that the Oregon Electric Company, operating the Portland-Salem railway, will have its line extended south to Albany by the end of the year. Then work will be commenced at once on the extension to Eugene. In the meantime the Portland, Eugene & Eastern will also be doing some construction work, both north and east from this city. Certainly the outlook for railway construction and development in the country tributary to Eugene could scarcely be brighter.

THE PREACHERS AND THEIR METHODS

Rev. Liston D. Bass, of St. Louis, made some comment in the papers last month or two ago by making the comment in the pulpit that young men should go to the marriage altar dressed. Whereat forty of his lady parishioners dropped their membership in the church and furthermore refused to contribute longer to the preacher's salary. Rev. Bass stated it improper for girls to work in offices or public places where they were brought into contact with men. He said every bride should go to the altar in a long dress. It is improper, he said, to wear short sleeves, vulgar to wear and tempting the devil to wear trousers with a low neck. Nothing is the matter with Bass. He is a man who sees evil in everything and had sort himself. Mothers attending his church should keep an eye on him.

The Rev. John A. Earl, pastor of the Alden Avenue Baptist church of Eugene, said in a sermon recently: "Any time you buy a ticket to a city that ticket is printed in blood and sealed with the tears of a ruined man." The Rev. John Earl is a man who sees evil in everything and had sort himself. Mothers attending his church should keep an eye on him.

sively in the East would have been at least $2500. For double this sum they have started a cannery which will begin at once to bring returns. It will bring new people into the town to find labor and make homes. It will swell the schools, add to the taxable property and give new vitality to every enterprise in Independence. It is an example worthy of highest consideration."

Much is heard relative to the donations made to the Chicago University by John D. Rockefeller. In exact figures, the oil magnate's most recent gift to that institution of learning is apportioned as follows: A portion of it, at his own request, goes to pay an increase of nearly 25 per cent in the salaries of the teaching staff. This addition to the salary budget will amount to $32,000. The salaries of the deans will remain as at present. The salaries of the full professors, $3000 at present, will be increased to $3500 on July 1, while the associate professors will get $3,000 instead of $2500, and the assistant professors will get $2500 instead of $2000. The teachers with the rank of instructor, who are now paid $1,200, $1400 and $1600 for their first three years, will be paid $1800 the fourth year.

Ruef's ball has been reduced to $795,185, and it now does seem that he had better raise the money and get out in order to enjoy this nice spring weather for a few days. But perhaps he doesn't care much for the joys of springtime, which, after all, are nothing compared with the excitement of having seven or eight hundred indictments hanging over one's head. Really Ruef is the most indicted man in the entire history of the world, with the exception of his friend and associate, Eugene E. Schmitt.

Montana's contribution to the season's fish stories is a petrified trout, showing all the colors and lustre of life, alleged to have been found imbedded in granite, twenty feet below the surface, by well diggers. If the same diggers have good luck, they may find truth at the bottom of that well.

Whatever the result of the submarine investigation, public opinion has enabled Congressman Lilley to convince the house committee that it was expected to make a noise like a real investigation, and the witnesses he asked to have summoned in the beginning have been sent for.

Talk about being in bad. We don't see how it would be possible to be in worse than this poor chap, Two-good, who is touted as having been picked by Evelyn Thaw to be her next hubby.

Some men would doubtless show more friendliness in greeting their fellows if such displays were not so frequently followed by a "touch."

This newspaper report about Albany "waking up" must be a mistake. Possibly, however, a resurrection is in progress there.

With two of its members in the senate, the Smith family is beginning to feel that it's nearly time to put one in the White House.

Nothing small or obvious about us. We want everybody to get ahead of everybody but us.

HIRAM P. MAXIM AND THE SILENT GUN.

The new noiseless gun invented by Hiram Percy Maxim, son of the inventor of the Maxim quick firing gun, promises to revolutionize the manufacture of small arms. The device, which may be applied to pistols, revolvers and rifles of small caliber, is a valve arrangement which releases the gases from the barrel of the weapon in such a way as to completely muffle the report of the exploding powder. The passage of the bullet from the muzzle of the piece is accompanied by a hissing sound that cannot be heard more than a few yards away. The device has been offered to the United States government.

ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM THE SPRINGFIELD NEWS

Isaac Skeels and family took their departure for Jacksonville, Or., Sunday, where Mr. Skeels has a position in a sawmill awaiting him. For the past several months they have been away from home.

W. B. McKinney has accepted a position with the Oregon Mercantile Company at Fall Creek, and will commence work the first of April. His family will remain here until after school closes for the summer vacation, and will then join him for the summer at least.

The appearance of the Hotel Springfield has been greatly improved during the past week by the addition of an electric light placed under the porch of the lower story. If Mr. Westley would continue the improvements and put one on the upper porch it would greatly help the appearance of the building.

A new telephone line is now running into Springfield, known as the Mt. Vernon Telephone Company. They have five miles of line strung, starting at the place known as the Sheriff Withers farm. There are eleven farmers on the line and they are very much pleased with their new service.

John Hines, while engaged in work at the head of the race, met with an accident last week that resulted in the breaking of his right arm between the elbow and the wrist. The fracture is a very severe one and it will be some time before he will be able to go back to work. The accident happened while he was working on the Booth-Kelly boom.

Robert Riggs, while passing in the depot yards with other boys last Saturday afternoon, had the misfortune to break his arm. As reported to us he was playing on the switch engine and one of the boys gave him a jerk, causing him to fall, and in an attempt to save himself he fell on the member, breaking it just above the wrist.

Good for Everybody. Mr. Norman Coulter, a prominent architect in the Dalbert Building, San Francisco, says: "I fully endorse all that has been said of Electric Bites as a tonic medicine. It is good for everybody. It cures stomach, liver and kidney disorders in a prompt and efficient manner, and builds up the system." Electric Bites is the best spring medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter; is a blood purifier; it is adequate; 50 cents at W. A. Kuykendall's drug store.

FOR COUNTY ASSESSOR

I hereby announce that I will be a candidate for re-election to the office of county assessor, subject to the vote of the Republican party at the primary election April 17.
