CORNER STONE OF NEW CHURCH WILL BE LAID

CEREMONIES WILL BE HELD TOMORROW AFTERNOON AT NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

PROGRAM WILL BE RENDERED INSIDE OF BUILDING, WHICH IS NOW UNDER ROOF AND PLASTERED - MAYOR MATLOCK WILL LAY STONE

The ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Central Presbyterian church will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The program, which will be brief, will be held inside the building, which is now under roof and plastered, and will be as follows: Invocation; hymn; Scripture reading by Rev. C. C. Bell; selection by a male quartet; prayer by Rev. O. C. Wright; oration by Rev. W. F. Goeburn, D. D., of New York; offering; laying the corner stone by Mayor Matlock; and the prayer of consecration by the pastor; hymn; benediction, Rev. C. A. Woolley.

The Central Presbyterian church is the result of the union of the First Presbyterian and Cumberland Presbyterian churches of this city. The First Presbyterian church was organized by the Rev. Robert Robe on May 5, 1855, who served as first pastor until his death January 27, 1866. Rev. Joseph Hanna, brother of our fellow townsman, Elder Calvin Hanna, supplied the church until 1870, when he was succeeded by Rev. J. B. Wilson, whose labors were ended by death January 2, 1873. The next pastor, that of the settled Edward R. Geary, D. D., was one of the most successful as well as the longest in the history of the church, continuing from January 5, 1875, until October, 1886. He was followed by the Rev. George A. McKinley, D. D., who continued to serve the church until 1890; then Rev. M. S. Riddle supplied the church for a brief interim. On September 16th, 1892, Rev. William S. Gilbert entered upon his pastoral duties and continued as pastor until October 17, 1899, when he resigned to accept the pastorate of Calvary Presbyterian church, of Portland. About a year and a half of Mr. Gilbert's pastorate was spent in the Philippine Islands as chaplain of the Second Oregon volunteer regiment, and in this capacity, as also in the general activities, he greatly endeared himself not only to the church, but to the whole community. During his absence the pulpit was supplied by the Rev. J. H. McKinley, of Missoula, Mont. Following the pastorate of Mr. Gilbert came Revs. J. A. Cleland, William R. Henderson, D. D., and Charles F. Woodward. On May 1st, 1904, the present pastor, Rev. H. N. Mount, began his labors with this church.

The church has had a long and useful career in the community. Among those who have served the church as elders are some of the leading men of the community, pioneers and their sons. The old First Presbyterian church was erected in the fifties. On February 4, 1882, the building was slightly damaged by fire. It was then remodeled and enlarged, and rededicated February 2, 1883. This church, like all other Presbyterian churches in Oregon save one, was made possible by the fostering care of the board of home missions. But February 4, 1899, the church decided to become self-sustaining, since which time it has received no aid from outside sources.

The Cumberland Presbyterian church was organized in the Bogard school house in the forks of the Willamette on the third Sunday in June, 1853. The charter members were Rev. Jacob E. Gillespie, Amelia Gillespie, W. A. Masterson, Eliza Masterson, A. A. King, P. B. Young, A. L. Day, P. Gillespie, M. S. Gillespie and Veranda Alexander. Rev. Jacob Gillespie was the first pastor, and W. A. Masterson was chosen first clerk of session. The minutes of the session from date of organization to December, 1878, have been unfortunately lost, hence no account of the church in that time can be recorded. Those who have served the church at different times as pastors are the Revs. J. H. Cornwall, J. W. Sneed, C. A. Woolley, E. P. Henderson, W. V. McGee, W. F. Sparks, G. E. Blair, J. A. Longbottom, J. P. Claycomb and others who temporarily supplied the pulpit from time to time. Rev. C. A. Woolley's frequent ministrations to the church, and twice as its regular pastor, the last pastorate extending for some six years previous to the union of the two churches.

In the spring of 1894 the general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church met in Eugene, during the pastorate of Rev. George A. Blair. The sessions of the assembly were held in Willard Hall of the University of Oregon. When the proposals were first made to reunite the two great churches, denominations none were more hearty in support of the proposition than the local Cumberland church and its pastor, Rev. C. A. Woolley, whose efforts were constantly directed toward the reorganization of that union. The union of the two denominations was consummated in May, 1896, and of the two local churches June 21st, 1906. As a result of the union a new organization was effected known as the Central Presbyterian church. The First church had long been disestablished with its location, and the united church resolved to change its location. A lot was secured at the corner of East Tenth and Perry streets. On said property were disposed of, and a new building commenced. The building will be of stone, Gothic architecture, after a plan furnished to the architect, John Winkler by the building committee, consisting of Dr. George O. B. DeBar, Rev. H. N. Mount, M. F. McClain, R. H. Shacklett and Professor P. G. Young. The building committee and furnished will cost nearly $20,000, and will seat between twelve and thirteen hundred people. The officers of the church at present are H. N. Mount, pastor; session consists of Robert Pattison, Calvin Hanna, F. G. Young, C. J. Howe, R. H. Shacklett, M. S. Miles, E. J. Moore, W. A. Dill and Jonathan Johnson; the trustees are Dr. Geo. O. B. DeBar, M. F. McClain and J. J. Holt; treasurer, S. H. Eakin, who has served continuously for 21 years, and Ethan Collier, clerk.

DR. ANDREW TAYLOR STILL IMMORTAL

For the ailments peculiar to woman, an Osteopathy is simply incomparable. It uses no drugs, seldom has recourse to the knife, and so the body is preserved intact and normal; it corrects adjustments, removing every obstruction to proper blood flow, proper drainage to parts, and adequate nerve supply. Thus it restores natural conditions which mean health. It has often been declared by prominent women well qualified to speak, that Osteopathy, even had no other application than to the ills of woman, would have made Dr. A. T. Still immortal. As local treatments is not often necessary the system is much less embarrassing to women than are other methods.
