The final score in the Oregon-Whitman baseball game at Recreation park yesterday afternoon was 5 to 1, as it stood at the end of the sixth inning, as given in The Guard last evening.

Dixon P. Burton beat B. F. Keeney in Eugene for assessor by ten votes, but the latter won in the county precincts. Keeney received nearly twice as many votes as Burton and Newell together, according to the returns received thus far.

Late returns from Portland this afternoon state that E. C. Bronaugh is renominated for circuit judge by the Republicans. C. N. Hart McArthur is also nominated for joint representative from Multnomah and Clackamas counties, being one of the few anti-unionists. Three candidates who were successful there.

A marriage license was issued today to Charles McKibben, aged 28, of Cottage Grove, and Miss Marie L. Schmutz, aged 19, of Creswell. Also one to William Shaw, aged 23, and Miss Hazel Lewis, aged 16, both of the Mohawk valley. Yesterday afternoon a license was issued to Isaac Dompier, aged 23, of Springfield, and Miss May Mikswell, of Coburg.

The Guard has not the time to foot up the returns from the Republican primaries printed in tabular form today. The result is announced in our local news columns elsewhere and the twelve or thirteen small precincts yet to report will not change the result. It seems difficult to get the returns from some precincts, although every effort has been made to do so.

F. G. Vaughn requests those who drew lots in the Fair Grounds Park addition and who want to look them over to come out tomorrow (Sunday). Mr. Vaughn has the ground rented and sowed in grain, and does not want people coming out at all times tramping over his fields. He is willing they should all come out tomorrow, however, and take a look at their lots.

A Dog Story.
A Columbus man who likes to hunt quail, who is handy with the gun and has a fine bird dog whose work as a retriever is remarkable loaned him to a friend who was only an amateur at the business. About the middle of the forenoon of the first day the dog returned to his master's home. The latter, not knowing what had happened, took his gun in the afternoon to try the dog. He worked all right, and a number of birds were secured. The next day he met the friend who had borrowed the dog. "What is the matter with that dog?" he asked. "We got up a covey of quail and shot at them, but missed. We afterward got up a number of the scattered birds and took a dozen shots or more, but got nothing, and the dog put his tail between his legs and struck across the fields in the direction of his home."

It is evident that the dog, disgusted at the poor shooting, decided that the men with the guns were not in his class and decided to cut it out.—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

Another Glass.
The seventeenth century puritan preachers talked for two hours or more not "by the clock" but by the hour glass. At least one of them turned the glass to humorous account. He found himself no further than the middle of the sermon when the sands had run out. "Drunkness" was his subject, and, reversing the hourglass, "Let's have another glass," said he. Sir Roger L'Estrange tells of a parable clerk who sat patiently until the preacher was three-quarters through his second glass and the majority of his hearers had quietly left the church. Rising at a convenient pause, he asked the minister to close the church door when he had done, "and push the key under it, as he and the few that remained were about to retire."

Enchantment of Distance.
"Jones is looking so cheerful these days."
"Yes; he is taking absent treatment."
"From some great specialist?"
"Not exactly. His wife is away on a vacation."

"Uncle" Laughed Last.
In a crowd waiting for a car at Eler street and Grand avenue the other day was an old negro who was inclined to be discursive. Two high school boys believed they saw a chance to make fun of him and made several remarks at which they themselves laughed heartily. Finally one of them said, "You're a preacher, aren't you, uncle?"

"Yes, sah," replied the negro, bringing forth a card. "Ah'm a undertaker too. Ah don't wish you no bad luck, but Ah'd lak teh have yo' business."—Kansas City Times.

Floral Love Message.
South American lovers have a pretty custom. It is well known that when the petals of the great laurel magnolia are touched, however lightly, the result is a brown spot, which develops in a few hours. The fact is taken advantage of by the lover, who pulls a magnolia flower and on one of its pure white petals writes a motto or message with a hard, sharp pointed pencil. Then he sends the flower, the young lady puts it in a vase of water, and in three or four hours the message written on the leaf becomes quite visible and remains so.

The Rich Are Poorer Than Beggars.
So also the wise man will not admire himself even if many rich men admire him, for he knows that they differ in no respect from beggars—nay, are even more wretched than they, for beggars want but a little, whereas rich men want a great deal.—Seneca.

GIRL THAT CAUSED HIGHBINDER WAR.
The police of San Francisco estimate that fully sixty men were shot in the highbinder wars for the possession of Wen Len, a Chinese slave girl. After seven years of fighting in various California cities over this girl the rival Chinese gangs signed a truce. This, however, was not accomplished until Consul General Sun Yee threatened to cause the execution of the relatives of the hostile leaders in China. The highbinder leaders signed the truce in the presence of the chief of police of San Francisco and the consul general.

Grove, who passed through here yesterday on her way to Salem, received word of the death of her sister there as the train reached Eugene.
