MANY ACRES OF WALNUT ORCHARDS IN LANE COUNTY

JUNCTION CITY IS CENTRE FOR ACREAGE PLANTED TO NUT TREES—POSTMASTER MARTIN HAS 65 ACRES AND OTHERS SMALLER ORCHARDS

Junction City, April 23.—The English walnut growers of Lane county concede the largest acreage in English walnuts in Oregon to be elsewhere, but for quality of trees set out Lane county claims to hold first place. One of the largest, if not the largest, grafted English walnut groves in the United States is owned one mile north of this place, on the main line of the Southern Pacific, by Postmaster A. R. Martin, of Junction City. This grove consists of 65 acres of the grafted Marquette and Franquette varieties, grafted on the California and American black walnut. Mr. Martin also has ten acres of the second generation trees of the same varieties. The trees are set 50x50 feet each way, thus allowing plenty of sunlight.

Besides this 75-acre grove, J. N. Edwards has ten acres, Edward Bailey 20 acres of the grafted trees, J. M. Howard 40 acres, G. C. Millett 25 acres, John Harman 20 acres, and A. C. Nelson seven acres, all second generation trees, making a total of over 200 acres at this place, and the Woodcock-Dunn Land Company has 75 acres seven miles south of here.

The land in this vicinity is especially adapted to the growing of the English walnut and cherry trees, there being no hard pan for the roots of either to come in contact with. There is deep soil for a depth of ten or twelve feet, when a very fine gravel and sand is mixed with the soil, which permits the young, tender roots to penetrate to water easily. This condition of soil insures a permanent, healthy tree, and that they will not meet with the great disappointment some of the California walnut growers have had, where their groves have prospered for several years and gave fine returns, but where the trees began to die in large numbers each year. When the growers examined them to determine the cause and were unable to find any trace of disease, they concluded the trouble must be with the roots of the trees. They then dug up the trees and found that the roots had gone through the soil, struck hardpan, were unable to penetrate this in their efforts to find water, and thus died for want of moisture.

ATTEMPT TO DYNAMITE WILLIAMSON

It is believed at Prineville that an attempt was about to be made to dynamite the city residence of ex-Congressman Williamson, Sam Smith, an ex-sheriff of Crook county, and Larkin Elliott, a cattleman, are in the county jail, charged with arson. Stanley Smith, a 14-year-old son of the ex-sheriff, is in the custody of Dick Vandenberg. It is thought he was compelled to assist his father.

Smith and Elliott are thought to have burned a sheep-shearing plant belonging to Williamson, as well as a house and barn, and to have cut a mile of fence around the B. F. Allen farm, which was leased by Williamson. One day William Stroud, one of Williamson's herders, came to town armed with a knife and a gun and swore to kill Smith on sight, saying he and Elliott were going to use dynamite on Williamson's property. The ex-congressman was aroused from his sleep and swore out a warrant.

Evidence was found to connect Elliott with the destruction of the place that was burned in the shape of a piece of bridle identified by Elliott's little boy. Elliott made a confession implicating Smith.—Pendleton East Oregonian.

STANFORD SWINGS THE BIG AX AGAIN

Stanford University, Cal., April 23.—Professor Clark, of the student affairs committee, today posted a notice announcing the suspension of three students. One of the three is Dr. N. Smith, of Honolulu, secretary of the "Spartans," who will not be allowed to register in the university on account of a recent editorial in which he bitterly criticized the student affairs committee individually and collectively. Another student, whose name is not given, was suspended for being under the influence of liquor on the campus April 17. The third student suspended will not be permitted to register for failure to comply with the regulation requiring students under suspension to remain off the campus. While no name is given it is generally understood that this is Track Captain F. R. Lanagan, who is thus permanently suspended for attending the inter-collegiate meet last Saturday, where his duties drew him, contrary to the order of Professor Clark.

COLEMAN ELECTED AS DELEGATE TO CONFERENCE

Salem, April 23.—Word has been received by the friends of Dr. J. H. Coleman in Salem that the former president of Willamette University has been elected a delegate to the general conference from the Troy conference, which met at Saratoga, N. Y., Friday. Dr. Coleman's name is also prominently mentioned as a candidate for bishop before the general conference.

Dr. Coleman's election after six years' absence in the West is regarded as an excellent tribute to his popularity at home. The other candidates are reported to be his supporters and will work as a unit in forwarding his interests when the general conference meets in Baltimore in June.

BEGIN NOW TO TREAT HAY FEVER

April is the ideal time to begin to treat hay fever osteopathically in hope of warding off that scheduled attack next summer. Permanent cures are often accomplished by removing osteopathic lesions. Treatment should not be delayed until irritation of the mucous membranes of the eyes and nose has resulted. In early spring the predisposing cause may be treated alone without the handicap of having to combat the exciting cause also, as becomes the case later, when pollen is blowing.

He Got What He Needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then that my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at W. A. Rykendale's drug store, 59c.
