CAUSE OF STATE UNIVERSITY CAUSE OF THE PEOPLE

Do we want universities that will teach plutocracy of democracy?

Private universities have to be maintained by gifts of wealthy patrons. Their teachers must cut their teeth on the opinions of the men who foot the bills. The weakest professors submit. The bold and truthful ones are turned out. This has been shown on the Atlantic seaboard, in the Mississippi valley and on the Pacific coast. Benjamin Andrews, president of Brown University, was turned out by the rich men who control that university because he stood by the people in 1896. Professors Ely and Veblen, of Chicago, were daring enough to speak for the people's rights, and to criticize some of the encroachments of corporate wealth. John D. Rockefeller inquired of President Harper what he thought he was supporting the university for, and Ely and Veblen were turned out for that reason.

At Stanford, too, E. A. Ross said some truths about corporation schools, and Mrs. Stanford insisted on having his head. Professor Howard stood by Ross and his head came off, too.

Mark what became of these men. Turned out of private institutions for their courage and honesty, these men were promptly reappointed to better positions in state universities. Andrews is the head of the University of Nebraska. Ely and Ross are professors of the University of Wisconsin, which LaFollette is a product. Howard is in the University of Kansas. These universities are paid for by the people, and the cause of the people may be preached in them when their voice is smothered in the universities the millionaires own, the men who pay for the universities control them.

Or do you think Standard Oil maintains Chicago and Syracuse and Brown and other universities out of the pockets of mankind? The one man who speaks loudest for Standard Oil and against the Roosevelt policies is the oft-named—In Chancellor Day, of the trust-owned Syracuse University. The majority of our presidents, senators, congressmen, governors, judges and prosecuting attorneys are named in the universities. It is with the wills of the trusts to control the universities, and to train the men who are going to make, interpret and enforce the laws to see that the trusts see them? Rockefeller thinks so. It is worth millions to him to control the universities. What is it worth to the people? Now the University of Oregon, like the state universities, is on the side of the people. The University professors are for government not only of the people and for the people, but by the people, too, and not by the trusts. Let no one forget that Allen Eaton, who introduced the University appropriation bill in the last legislature, and who speaks for the University, signed Statement No. 1, when other friends of government by the will of the people were scared to do so.

Why, then, are Palmer and Walker and the like young men so hot to get the State University? Do they want to turn the control of education over to the meat packers? It is soon as their Portland plant is completed. Their motto is "no education except for those who can pay for it." Let the rich have the money of college education, and the poor man do without. The rich furnish all the judges, lawyers and legislators, and control the interests of the people in the State.

Will we stand for it, or will the State of Oregon support a university that is the property of the meat packers?

Let us see if we can get an education just as good as young Rockefeller got at Brown? This country has turned its resources and business opportunities over to the few with hardly a murmur. Will it turn its education over to them, too? Will it adopt the theory that all a poor man needs is education enough to read what the state thinks best to print for him? Oregon will if Eugene Palmer and Cyrus Walker can persuade it. But who is putting up the money for their campaign?

The proposals for aiding drydock companies submitted by the government to the Canadian house of commons will, if adopted give new drydocks a subsidy or bonus equal to 3 per cent on the cost of the works, to be paid for in twenty years, the limit to any one concern being fixed at $45,000 a year. Owners of existing drydocks who wish to enlarge them are to be given a like subsidy also for twenty years, but the total is not to exceed $15,000 a year. The Canadian government now gives subsidies or bonuses to railway builders, steamship lines, manufacturers of steel and iron, smelters of lead, to owners of petroleum wells, spinners of binder twine, to cold-storage warehouses and to shipbuilders. Canada is subsidy ridden, a system that will no doubt in time give that country as much trouble as our protective tariff system.

Life, a humorist weekly published in New York, has the following to say regarding the newspaper as a business venture, which is all too true in many instances: "Considered as a manufacturing business, a newspaper is enormously hazardous and absurdly unremunerative. With other manufacturing concerns the rule is that if they don't make profits they quit, but that is not the rule with newspapers. They always have moral and political reasons for clinging to life long, long after there has ceased to be any pecuniary warrant for it. A newspaper in these days is about as likely to declare a dividend as a church is."

A jail of Washington's time would not be tolerated now, says an exchange. Lunatics were whipped and sewed up in strait-jackets. The deaf and dumb received no help. The feeble-minded were sent to the poorhouses. So terrible a place was the poorhouse that to this day people shudder at the thought of being obliged to close their lives there, though now the county house is usually a comfortable home. Undoubtedly life in America from 1776 to 1800 was in many ways coarse and less humane than now.

To judge from the news reports, the battleship fleet received almost as much attention from the people of Los Angeles as was given to Jim Jeffries. Jim might have kept out of sight and given the navy a chance for the spotlight.

Congressman Dalzell seems to think the minority members of the house ought to consider themselves lucky to be allowed to draw their salaries and perqs without trying to have a hand in legislation.

This daring American who is trying to popularize ice cream soda in Japan may find himself up against it good and hard, as the price is about what the average Jap gets for a day's work.

We take it that J. Pierpont Morgan is still making a little money occasionally, as he has just paid $180,000 for one of Raphael's paintings.

"Good morning! How many battleships are you for?" is reported to be the newest form of White House greeting to Senators.

He Got What He Needed. "Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then that my dentist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at W. A. Kuykendall's drug store, 50c.

DON'T FAIL TO SEE The new show at the work at OPHIUM THEATRE

THOMAS FORTUNE RYAN.

Few men have been more actively conspicuous in the world of finance in the last decade than Thomas F. Ryan. His manipulation of the street railway system in New York city has been criticized far and wide and in some quarters is regarded as strongly contributive to the panicky conditions of last fall. Ryan's rise in Wall street has not been particularly spectacular, but has been fraught with shrewdness that marks the man as the peer of any of the American fortune builders of the last fifty years.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS ARE INCREASED

The widows of old soldiers in Eugene and Lane county are rejoicing over the fact that the Sulloway pension bill, increasing their pensions, has been adopted by both houses of congress, and is now a law. Their pensions will hereafter be $12 per month. Widows should understand that no application and no services of an attorney are necessary to secure them the increase under this law. Those who are on the roll will have their pensions increased at the next payment by the pension bureau without any action on their part. The only application necessary will be from those who have heretofore been denied pensions on account of having an income in excess of $250. This qualification has now been abolished and those who have heretofore been rejected for that reason can now apply and receive their pensions.
