CATHOLICS CELEBRATE WITH EXERCISES

shares with St. Paul the glorious title of apostle of the nations.

We are assembled here this morning to celebrate with joyful praise and thanksgiving the hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the diocese of New York.

A retrospect of the principal personages who figured in the history of this see during the past century would be manifestly incomplete if no mention were made of John Carroll, the first archbishop of Baltimore, the Metropolitan, in his day, of the Bishop of New York, and the Patriarch of the American church.

John Carroll was appointed the first bishop of Baltimore by Pius VII. in an apostolic brief dated November, 1789. The see of Baltimore then embraced the whole United States.

He was consecrated in the chapel attached to the Lulworth castle in England, the elegant seat of Thomas Weld, Esq. Mr. Weld had the honor of entertaining, more than once, King George III, of England, and the friendship of the sovereign secured for his, most religious concessions which were denied to the other Catholic prelate and nobility in those days of persecution.

The consecrating prelate was Dr. Walmsley, vicar apostolic of the London district. This bishop was not only a learned churchman, but also a distinguished scientist. When England had determined in 1850 to adopt the Gregorian calendar, Dr. Walmsley was selected with other scientific men to arrange the calendar, and adopt it to the British realm.

The sermon, on that occasion, was preached by Rev. Charles Plowden, an intimate friend of Dr. Carroll, and a member of the Society of Jesus. Father Plowden then uttered a prediction that has amply been fulfilled. He said that the day would come when the daughter would surpass the mother, when the church in America would outgrow in numbers and influence the Church of England.

His words have been abundantly verified, for today the Catholic church in the United States vastly exceeds the Church of England in the number of the hierarchy, her clergy and laity, and in the splendor of her institutions of religion, charity and education.

I regard the selection of Bishop Carroll as a most providential event for the welfare of the American church. For, if a prelate of narrow views, a man out of sympathy and harmony with the genius of the new Republic had been chosen, the progress of the Catholic religion would have been seriously impeded.

To cardinal then followed the history of the church in America down to the present time, dwelling upon the most important epochs and incidents in the order of their occurrence.

But of all the nations that have contributed to the upbuilding of the church of Christ in the city of New York, you will all avow with gratitude, whatever may be your ancestry, that the post of honor must be assigned to the children of the ever faithful Ireland. They have borne the brunt of the battle. Whatever may have been the causes that led to the expatriation of so many of Ireland's sons and daughters from their native soil, an over-ruling Providence has made their exile subservient to higher and nobler purposes. I can safely say that there are but few cities or towns in the United States where the Catholic religion has not been proclaimed by priests and sustained by laymen of Irish birth or descent.

Daniel Webster, in a speech delivered in the United States senate, thus speaks of the vast expanse of the British empire: "She has dotted over the surface of the globe with her possessions and military posts, whose morning drum-beat, following the sun, and keeping company with the hours, encircles the earth with one unbroken strain of the martial airs of England."

And may we not affirm, with equal truth, that wherever England has enlarged her boundaries the Irish missionary has extended the kingdom of Christ, wherever she has proclaimed her laws, he has preached the gospel; wherever England has built a fort or a custom house, the missionary has erected a house of prayer, and wherever England has planted the banner of St. George, the Irish missionary has raised the cross, the symbol of salvation.

When I contemplate this army of sturdy immigrants leaving their native shores of Europe and advancing toward your beautiful harbor, when I behold them assimilated with the native population, and become "bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh," when I see them contributing to the material wealth and prosperity of the country, and above all, when I observe them enriching our nation with the blessings of the Christian faith, and uniting with us in building up the walls of Jerusalem, when I survey this scene, the glorious vision of the Prophet Isaiah looms up before me: "Arise, be enlightened O Jerusalem, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee. The Gentiles shall walk in thy light and kings in the brightness of thy rising. Lift up thine eyes round about and see; all these are gathered together; they are come unto thee; thy sons shall come from afar, and thy daughters shall rise up at thy side. Then shalt thou see and abound, and thy heart shall wonder and be enlarged when the multitude of the sea shall be converted to thee, the strength of the Gentiles shall come unto thee."

A word, in conclusion, to you, my brethren, who are the heirs of the faith of your fathers. It is your sacred mission to see to it that the glorious prophecy of Isaiah will be amply fulfilled, and that the twentieth century will emulate the century just closed by the growth and expansion of the church of Christ. This result you will accomplish by co-operating with your bishops and clergy in promoting every good work undertaken in the cause of religion and humanity.

When the bishop, his clergy and people are united, there is no such word as fail. They are sure to succeed. They for a triple chord that cannot be broken. They are engaged in a triple alliance more formidable and enduring than the alliance of kings and emperors; for yours is an alliance, not of flesh and blood, but a compact cemented by faith, hope and charity.

Take an active, personal, loyal interest in all that concerns the temporal and spiritual welfare of your beloved country. No man should be a drone in the social beehive. No one should be an indifferent spectator of the social, economic and political events occurring around him. As you all enjoy the protection of a strong and enlightened government, so should each man strive to have a share in sustaining the burden of the commonwealth.

Above all, take an abiding and vital interest in all that affects the welfare of your holy religion. Let the words of the royal Psalmist be your inspiring watchword: "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand be forgotten; let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth; if I do not remember thee, if I do not make Jerusalem the beginning of my joy."

Acre Tracts in Blair Street Addition are Nearly All Sold

IF YOU WANT ONE YOU'LL HAVE TO HURRY

Best Place in Eugene's Suburbs to Build a Home---Best Opportunit for Investment

PLAT OF BLAIR STREET ADDITION TO EUGENE, OREGON.

Only two of the acre tracts and two of the three-quarter acre tracts remain unsold, and there has been a good sale of lots. Several houses will be built in the addition this spring and summer, and other purchasers will set out shade and fruit trees. The property was priced very reasonable to start with; and rapid sale and improvements made and contemplated justify a Steady Advance in Price on all unsold lots and tracts. Blair Street Addition property will double in value in two years. It is at present prices the best investment in Eugene, because it is situated where the town must expand over it.

Just as sure as water runs down hill Eugene must grow down the main valley roads, where the electric roads will come up from Portland, and where the largest part of the city's business will always come from. If you want a home or wish to save money by investing it on easy installments in desirable real estate, you can't miss it in BLAIR STREET ADDITION. Small Cash Payment and your own Terms on Balance.

Second street will be graded through the addition this spring--the time to buy one or more of the large lots, 68 1/2 x 143 feet, is NOW--before the price is advanced.
