TRIANGULAR TRACK MEET FRIDAY AFTERNOON

An interesting track meet is promised Friday afternoon on Kincaid Field when the track athletes of the Portland high will try conclusions in a triangular contest with the Eugene high and the Oregon freshmen. The Portland high will bring up twelve men, the Eugene high will enter ten, and the freshmen all that can qualify. No line has been obtained on the comparative strength of any of the aggregations.

The usual events will be run by the competitors. The freshmen have a number of men on the first team who will strengthen their entries considerably, but as many others are old high school and academic stars, there will be a competent bunch of athletes to win the Oregon honors.

The Eugene high has a remarkably good team, too, and should make a hard race for place. Tryouts are being held each evening on Kincaid field. Trainer Hayward has improved the track, the hundred yard dash being on the east side of the quarter mile. The track has been widened until it is wide enough for ten men to run abreast.

Moore's Out for Season.
Gordon Moore broke a muscle in his thigh the other night, and is likely to be unable to compete for the remainder of the season. He is easily the star of the team and the loss will be badly felt. Ralph McEwen also hurt himself while hurdling, and has not been out for several nights.

Saturday to play against the University team.

The department of the interior has handed down a decision affirming the decision of the Roseburg land office in dismissing the homestead contest of Clifford B. Edwards vs. Chester B. Blaker. L. M. Travis and L. R. Edmondson were the attorneys for the homesteader.

G. D. Gould and son Fred, recently from Garden City, Kansas, have leased the Gilbert Bros. stables on West Fifth street, near the Hotel Gross, and will hereafter conduct a general livery business. They are experienced horsemen and will no doubt succeed in the business.

The rear portion of the old building on the Odd Fellows' lot at East Ninth and Oak streets is well on its way to the Hall warehouse on the depot grounds. Prymer & Hunt are making good progress with it. J. W. Barringer has begun to move the other portion of the building.

George A. Peel, the popular traveling salesman for Hexter May & Co., is being congratulated by his many friends here and elsewhere as being the proud father of a bouncing baby boy. The boy's name is George Alexander Peel, and bids fair to follow in his father's footsteps.

S. W. Curtis, who is said to be acting for the Southern Pacific Company, today filed with the county clerk notices of appropriation of the waters of Salt creek and Diamond creek, tributaries of the extreme upper Willamette. This is simply a re-filing as required by law, the initial filing having been made over a year ago.

Miss Jessie Linton has been selected as the young lady to represent Eugene at the Portland Rose Festival as the guest of the Pacific Monthly. The trip will include a two days' stay on the Pacific Coast at Seaside, Oregon, an excursion on the Columbia river, as well as participation in the carnival festivities, and excursions in and about Portland. All the expense of maintenance and transportation will be borne by the Pacific Monthly.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH
PERT PARAGRAPHS.

The trouble is when you make a fool of yourself you have to levy on your friends when you are forced to make up the price you have to pay for it.

Faithful is the touch of a friend as long as the response is satisfactory.

The lies that are told about you are not so very harmful unless they are true.

The only way to avoid having to take things as they come is to carefully see that they are satisfactorily prearranged.

Starch in your backbone is all right as long as you keep out of a thunder shower.

The reason why the consciences of some people do not trouble them is because they have none.

The ill nature of a person is simply unbearable when it comes in direct contact with your own.

It is well known that a rich father-in-law is much more easily offended than a poor one.

A bone of contention is very likely to get the members of the family in the soup.

The fool loves a cheerful flatterer.

There isn't so much credit in overcoming temptation that doesn't tempt.

He is a wise man who praises his friends and lets their enemies sly the bricks at them.

The Busy Year.
The voters stand around in groups, Expectant, more or less. They hear a rumbling in the air. Whose portend they can guess. They want to, should there be a chance. Get next or very near. Where they can be in touch with things. For this is campaign year.

Once every four they come around. These strenuous campaigns. And give us pleasure that is not At times unmixed with pains. The candidates at once proceed To cheer the rag for fair. And on the started atmosphere Is wafted much hot air.

It is the time the voting king Proceeds to pick and choose. And though he shuts his eyes and votes. He really cannot lose. For every candidate is pledged To walk the narrow way. And each be better than the best. How can you beat it, pray?

It is a time for common sense To mingle in the game. But that is not a certain sign That it will do the same. It is not sanity's long suit To on the scene appear And do its best to boss the job. For this is campaign year.

Unarmed.

"Where are you going, Bill?"
"Over to hear Jones' new phonograph."

"Why, man, what's the use? You haven't got an ax along."

Suspicious Circumstance.
Why does the man who shaves himself always feel called on to explain that he doesn't boycott the barber to save money? It seems to be on his conscience. The man he is telling all about it doesn't care what the object is—whether it is to save enough money to buy an automobile or whether it is to test a scientific experiment.

Certainly it is constitutional for him to shave himself, and we do not see why he doesn't proceed with the pleasure of nicking himself up and let it go at that without so much protesting.

Parts He Saw.
"Now, Tommy," said the visiting school director to the small boy who was supposed to know something about grammar, "what are the parts of speech?"

"The tongue, the lips and the throat," replied the bright child without hesitation.

The Trust Magnate.
"Do you believe in the freedom of contract?"
"You bet, but I always make one stipulation."

"What is that?"
"That the freedom shall be all on my side."

With the Other Tied.
"I didn't know you played the piano."
"Sure, I do."
"Expert?"
"All of that. Why, I can play with my hand."

The Danger Period.
Every spring there are some people who get into a dangerous state of mind. They don't know where they are going. If you have these friends, it is better to avoid them.

Spring Medicine

The best is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best because it does the most good. While it makes the blood pure, fresh and lively, it tones the stomach to better digestion, creates an appetite, stimulates the kidneys and liver, gives new brain, nerve and digestive strength. An unequalled list of cures—40,366 testimonials in two years—proves its merit.

Sarsaparilla—For those who prefer medicine in tablet form, Hood's Sarsaparilla is now put up in chocolate tablets called Sarsaparilla, as well as in the usual liquid form. Sarsaparilla has exactly the same curative properties as the liquid form, besides accuracy of dosage, convenience, economy—there being no loss by evaporation, breakage, or leakage. Sold by druggists or sent by mail. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

WHAT A STOUT WOMAN SHOULD WEAR.

"It is a mistake for a fat woman to wear long, loose, sweeping lines. She should wear fitted or semi-fitted clothes, and choose dark materials," said a prominent dress-maker notable for making "good figures" of stout women. "My success in making stout women appear thin, however, is due, in reality, to the fact that I can make them thinner if they will take my advice. I advise all the stout ones to go to their druggist, get 1/2 ounce of Marmola (being careful to get a sealed package), 1/2 oz. of Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 3 1/2 ounces of Syrup Simplex. These ingredients are mixed together at home and taken a teaspoonful to a dose after meals and at bedtime."

"All three are simple, wholesome remedies that cannot do harm to anyone. They even help to improve the health, while the way they reduce fat is truly astonishing. I have known a woman to lose over thirty pounds between visits to me. It takes the fat off symmetrically, too, without causing wrinkles, does not interfere with the diet in any way, and does not require a whole lot of fatiguing exercise to show results. I wonder more dressmakers do not try this plan of mine, for the ingredients are cheap, easily secured, and pleasant to take and, as I said, really improve one's health and appearance."

Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea tones the stomach, stimulates the liver, strengthens the bowels and makes their action easy and natural. The best tonic for the whole system. 35c. Tea or Tablets.

BEGIN NOW TO TREAT HAY FEVER.
April is the ideal time to begin to treat hay fever osteopathically in hope of warding off that scheduled attack next summer. Permanent cures are often accomplished by removing osteopathic lesions. Treatment should not be delayed until irritation of the mucous membranes of the eyes and nose has resulted. In early spring the predisposing cause may be treated alone without the handicap of having to combat the exciting cause also, as becomes the case later, when pollen is blowing.
