SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1908

I would be true, for there are those who trust me. I would be pure, for there are those who care; I would be strong, for there is much to suffer; I would be brave, for there is much to dare. I would be friend of all, the foe, the friendless— I would be giving and forget the gift; I would be humble, for I know my weakness— I would look up, and laugh, and lift. —Selected.

MOUNTAIN WATER FOR EUGENE THIS YEAR

The city council is going about the matter of procuring a suitable water supply in real earnest and without any undue waste of time. The visit to Ritchie creek, described by The Guard's representative in today's paper, was the actual beginning of the great work undertaken by the municipality. The members of the council and the engineers who accompanied them are satisfied that a plentiful supply of water may be secured from the streams visited and that it is within the means of the city to lay a main that distance, giving ample pressure from sources that may be kept free from contamination if due and necessary precautions are taken.

There is every reason to believe at this time that the present year will witness the end of Eugene's long struggle for a good water system, owned by the people and operated in their interest.

REFERENDUM LAW REALLY ON TRIAL

The Cottage Grove Western Oregon views the University appropriation issue in the following light: "It is not so much the University of Oregon that is on trial in the matter of the appropriation as it is the referendum law. If by any mishap the appropriation should be vetoed in June, it would mean the beginning of the end of the referendum in this state. There are some things commendable about the initiative and referendum, but the law can be abused and prove dangerous to the state and its people.

"Above the true status of the state is judged largely by the standard of its educational institutions. Let it go out that the people are loyal to its institutions of learning and Oregon is discredited throughout the country. But the people of Oregon are of too high a grade to go against the interests of its present and coming generations."

SAM HILL'S VIEWS ON PANAMA CANAL

Sam Hill—not the original, however, whose name has become a by-word all over the civilized world, but the son of Jim Hill, the Great Northern railway magnate—was in Portland not long ago, where he was interviewed by the irrepressible newspaper reporter, and talked with amazing fluency for a corporation magnate. Mr. Hill does not like the Panama canal and says it will not amount to much in the first instance this generation declares that the right now is not handling the work and in the second it is alleged that the big ditch will prove an object failure. Mr. Hill accordingly concedes that in the event of war the canal might be a benefit to the United States, but otherwise not. Probably Harrison and other men handling transcontinental freight traffic would give out similar information if anybody should happen to ask them about it. As a matter of fact, the Panama canal will be a wonderful factor in a commercial way, but certainly it will not have a tendency to hoist railroad stock, and to the people of the Pacific coast the enterprise will prove a boon that from the present day can hardly be estimated.

J. Dalzell Brown pleaded guilty in San Francisco the other day to the charge of embezzling sixty-five mortgage bonds of the Sacramento Gas & Electric Company. He was sentenced to a term of eighteen months in the penitentiary. These bonds are of the value of $55,000. Suppose some obscure man had stolen a horse of the value of $100, says the Woodland Democrat. His sentence most likely would have been eighteen years. It is said that Brown's light sentence was due to the fact that he has promised to give testimony that will send a lot of trembled financiers to the penitentiary. Reef promised to do the same thing, but now he has a staff of unscrupulous lawyers who are resorting to every subterfuge and quibble known to the law to escape the penalty he so richly deserves, and to the everlasting shame of San Francisco a lot of men who wear the garb of respectability are trying to shield him. Poor old San Francisco seems to be completely dominated by criminals of high and low degree.

They had a banquet in New York the other night, and the guests at the feed were made up in about equal numbers of negro men and white girls. The affair was pulled off by the Cosmopolitan Club, an organization calculated to promote marriages between the whites and blacks. Several of the white girls present responded to toasts, as did also the negroes. The affair was said to be a great success. Now we have no special dislike for a negro—in his place—but the idea of a white woman marrying a black man is somehow revolting. But then, if there are any of the women who prefer a negro to a white man as a life partner, they can have him for all we care. But we pity the negro.

Hatfield, the rainmaker, who operated in Eastern Oregon last year, has shown his wonderful inability to make the showers descend this spring says the Exeter (Cal.) Sun. He has been working in the vicinity of Crow's Landing, about 125 miles north and west of here, all the latter part of the winter and spring, but instead of making the clouds assemble and give forth the needed moisture, they have been dissipated every time he shot some of his hot stuff into the air. As a rainmaker he is a success in a wet year, but when it comes real dry he is worse than useless.

John Bull and the mikado are snarling at each other over the Manchu question. John is of the opinion that his brown Oriental partner is gobbling up too much trade in that section, and he is becoming grouchy about it. Our British cousins have all along been chuckling over what was considered the foregone conclusion that the United States would have the Japanese to whip, but now it seems that the task may be undertaken by England. Indeed, we sincerely hope it may, and we cannot say that we would be particularly sorry if the people of Great Britain found the job somewhat difficult, though in the end Japan would be compelled to succumb.

Eugene's efforts to build a model city is winning more votes for the University appropriation than all the excellent arguments that have been made in favor of the institution. Those who visit Eugene now at once experience a feeling of pride in their "University city," and become boosters for the school as well as for the city that has made itself the worthy home of a great state school.

Let us be fair, even to a United States senator. This year about Jeff Davis having become famous enough to count out of the hand of the octopus, we are reminded of an exclamation: Jeff lent names—the devil, isn't it? With his strenuous exertions in the campaign, as his stomach in the actual presidency indicated.

An Eastern editorial paragon says: Oregon throughout seems to think the diet of the United States senate too plain, as they have voted to send it a Cake (Judge H. M.). At the same time they handed Senator Fulton a turkey, which was grown by the administration.

Is this story that Cardinal McGowan's only income is a pension of $10,000 a year? It is a fact that he is a member of the United States senate. He is a member of the United States senate. He is a member of the United States senate.

CARDINAL MICHAEL LOGUE.

Among the distinguished visitors at the Catholic centennial in New York city was Cardinal Logue of Ireland, who came to America expressly to attend the celebration. The cardinal is archbishop of Armagh and primate of all Ireland. He is a man of most engaging personality and a brilliant orator. On the occasion of his departure from Ireland he said he was going to America to carry greetings to the native sons of the Emerald Isle who were in exile in the new world.

ous, about the way trusts should be regulated, the trust magnates chuckle and order another turn to be taken on all the screws.

Boss Murphy might get a valuable tip by devoting a little time to ascertaining what happened to all of the Tammany-made candidates for the presidential nomination—he doesn't seem to know.

The more effectively Congressman Lilley is sent to Coventry by his colleagues the longer it will be before another Congressman dares to attempt to show up lobbying.

The most careful observers of the stock exchange have not been able to locate any signs of a stampede among the Standard Oil stockholders to unload.

While it may be true that Fairbanks would be well satisfied to have the old ticket nominated at Chicago, it is certainly true that many other Republicans would not.

"NOW I LAY ME"

These verses were found in the knapsack of a dead soldier on one of the battlefields of the civil war: Near the campfire's flickering light In my blanket bed I lie, Gazing through the shades of night At the twinkling stars on high, O'er me spirits in the air Silent vigils seem to keep As I breathe my childhood's prayer: "Now I lay me down to sleep."

Sadly sings the whippoorwill In the boughs of yonder tree; Laughingly the dancing rill Sweets the midnight melody, Foemen may be lurking near In the valley dark and deep; Low I breathe in Jesus' ear: "I pray thee, Lord, my soul to keep."

'Mid those stars one face I see— One the Savior called away— Mother, who in infancy Taught my baby lips to pray; Her sweet spirit hovers near In this lonely mountain brake. Take me to her, Savior dear, "If I should die before I wake."

Fainter grows each flickering light As each ember slowly dies; Plaintively the birds of night Fill the air with sad-sounding cries; O'er me they seem to cry: "You may never more awake." Low I whisper: "If I should die— I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take."

Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray thee, Lord, my soul to keep; If I should die before I wake— I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take.

AN APPEAL TO VOTERS.

(East Oregonian). To following earnest and eloquent appeal to the voters of Oregon from a pioneer mother of the state, should be enough to melt the hearts of those who are prejudiced against the ballot for women. It comes from the heart of a noble woman who has given her life to the service of her sex, who has suffered through the entire span of her mature years for the enfranchisement of womanhood.

It is an appeal which cannot be ignored. It is a woman's prayer for liberty, the most sacred speech that can fall upon man's ears. It is a letter from Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway to the voters of Oregon and is as follows: "Gentlemen, voters, sons, brothers: I am growing old. But I cannot rest until you give us victory. Every hour I spend in this service is a labor of love. Every dollar I donate is personal sacrifice. Have the faithful members of Oregon not sworn your allegiance to us? Have they not sworn to be true to us? You ought not to be afraid of us."

The grand old with better life are together in the same way.
