

PRIVATE BEACHAM RAN AMUCK AND KILLED COMRADES

Manilla, May 11.—A telegram from Camp Stotsenberg, at Los Angeles pampango province, Island of Luzon, announces that Private Mike Beacham, of the First United States Cavalry, ran amuck and killed three, fatally wounded another and seriously injured two other comrades. The dead are: William Hoey, private, Wilson, private, and Thomas Woodward, fatally wounded, Private Edward Clark.

All the killed and wounded were members of Troops F, First Cavalry, but details are lacking.

It is presumed that Beacham was insane when he committed the deed.

WOULD INVESTIGATE OFFICER'S ASSIGNMENT

Washington, May 11.—Senator

Rayner today introduced a resolution authorizing the president to convene a court of inquiry to consist of five officers of the army to investigate the charges and accusations against Col. William F. Stewart, of the army, who had been detailed to serve until his retirement at the abandoned military post of Fort Grant, Arizona.

Rayner will speak on the resolution tomorrow.

For Larger Homesteads.
By a vote of 139 to 74 the house passed the Mondell bill providing for homestead entries of 320 acres, instead of 160 on non-mineral, non-irrigable, unreserved, non-appropriated public lands of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California and other western states.

Agricultural Bill.
The senate today passed the agricultural appropriation bill.

No Race Track Betting.
Washington, May 11.—The house accepted the senate amendments to the bill prohibiting race-track gambling in the District of Columbia, and thus finally passed it.

TRY BARNES FOR ALLEGED MURDER

Walla Walla, May 11.—The trial of Bud Barnes for the alleged murder of Mrs. Anna Aldrich has been set for May 25.

MRS. GUNNESS BELIEVED TO BE IN PITTSBURG

Pittsburg, May 11.—The Pittsburg police and detectives are looking for Mrs. Helge Gunness here, a railroad conductor being their authority for believing the woman to be in this city. He says he brought the woman here yesterday morning but the suspect eluded the brakeman detailed to watch her. An officer sent to make the arrest agreed she looked like the alleged murderess, but was afraid to make the arrest on account of the mistake made at Rochester.

La Porte, May 11.—That Andrew Helgelein did not give up his life without a struggle is evidenced by the fact in his clenched hand was a tuft of brown, short hair, very much resembling that of Ray Lamphere, who is in jail here.

Picking up the shreds of evidence tending to connect Ray Lamphere with the deaths of Mrs. Gunness, three children, and perhaps Andrew Helgelein, is the main purpose of the authorities today. Whether the search for more bodies will be prosecuted has not finally been determined. It is reported that the authorities are in possession of letters taken from Lamphere's trunk which seem to indicate his alleged connection with the murders in the Gunness home.

IMPOSING CEREMONIES MARK THE OCCASION OF LAYING CORNER FOR FINE BUREAU OF AMERICAN REPUBLICS' HOME

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Washington, May 11.—In the presence of the President of the United States, and representatives of every other American Republic as well as all branches of the National Government and of the state governments, the corner stone of the proposed new home of the International Bureau of American Republics was laid today. Addresses fitting to the occasion and expressing the great benefits to be derived from the formation of the Bureau of American Republics in many ways were made by President Roosevelt, Secretary Root, Mr. Nabuco, the Brazilian ambassador, and Andrew Carnegie, while messages of congratulations and wishes for success in the work about to be undertaken were read from the Presidents of nearly all of the American Republics. A very large audience listened to the speeches and witnessed the laying of the corner stone. The invited guests in addition to those actively participating in the exercises were Vice-President Fairbanks, members of the Cabinet, the Diplomatic corps, both Houses of Congress, the Governors of the states and prominent citizens of Washington and elsewhere. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Marine band while the decorations for the grand stands and smaller stands erected to accommodate the guests were made up largely of the flags of the twenty-one American Republics.

Director John Barrett, of the Bureau, in a very brief talk in which he referred to the great assistance given by Secretary Root toward the accomplishment of the work and his effort in behalf of the advance of the Bureau work introduced the Secretary of State, who is chairman of the governing board of the Bureau as the presiding officer. Cardinal Gibbons delivered the invocation, which was followed in turn by an address by Mr. Root; the reading of congratulations from American Presidents and addresses by President Roosevelt, Ambassador Nabucco and Andrew Carnegie. Ceremonies incident to the laying of the corner stone closed the exercises. Inscribed on the cornerstone are the following words:

"Building of the American Republics. Erected through the public spirited gift of Andrew Carnegie and the contributions of all the Republics upon the land provided by the Government of the United States, May 11, 1908."

The imposing international building will stand on an attractive site covering about five acres to the south of and in close proximity to the White House, the State, War and Navy Department buildings, the Corcoran art gallery, and that of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It is also near the Washington monument. The dimensions of the building will be approximately 160x150 feet, its main portion standing two stories above a high studded basement and being in turn surmounted by dignified balustrades. The rear portion in order to cover a capacious Assembly Hall will rise still higher. The general architecture will suggest Latin-American treatment out of respect to the fact that 20 of the 21 republics are of Latin origin, at the same time possessing such monumental characteristics as will make it harmonize with the general scheme for the improvement of Washington. It will be constructed throughout of steel and concrete, with the effect of a Spanish stucco finish and with white marble steps, foundations and trimmings. A large reading room will be a feature where can be seen all the South as well as the North American publications besides important historical data. A beautiful Assembly Chamber that, for present purposes, may be called the "Hall of the American Ambassadors" will provide the main room of its kind in the United States especially designed for international conventions, receptions to distinguished foreigners, and for diplomatic and social events of a kindred nature. The Bureau is strictly an international and independent organization maintained by the joint contributions, based on population of the twenty-one American governments.

Nearly $1,000,000 will be spent in construction and fitting up the building of which Andrew Carnegie contributed $750,000. It will be unique, not only for Washington, but in all the world, serving as an international headquarters or offices in one National capital of twenty-one American nations, the nearest approach to it being the new Temple of Peace, now being erected at The Hague.

President's Speech.
President Roosevelt said: "This is a memorable occasion of all the peoples of the Western Hemisphere. The building, the cornerstone of which we lay today, emphasizes by its existence the growing sense of solidarity of interest and aspiration among all the peoples of the New World. It marks our recognition of the need to knit ever closer together all the Republics of the Western Hemisphere, through the kindly bonds of mutual justice, good will, and sympathetic comprehension."

"At our outset, on behalf of all of us I wish to thank Mr. Carnegie for his generous gift—a gift to all the nations of the New World, and therefore preeminently fitting as coming from one who has so sincerely striven for the cause of peace among nations; for while we have yet a long path to tread before we can speak with any certainty of the day when wars shall cease from the earth, we of this Western Hemisphere, by movements such as that symbolized by this building, have taken great strides towards securing permanent peace among ourselves."

"In the next place, as President of this Republic I greet the representatives of all our sister Republics to the south of us. In a sense, you are our elder sisters and we the younger

MARTIN MUST STAND TRIAL FOR WOLFF MURDER

Portland, May 11.—Martin must face a jury of the circuit court on the charge of murdering Wolff. Information was filed by Deputy District Attorney John Stevenson, and Martin was taken before Judge Cameron this afternoon and formally accused of the crime. He was allowed a week in which to enter a plea.

EX-SHERIFF SMITH GETS PRISON TERM

Portland, May 11.—A special dispatch from Prineville to the Evening Telegram says that C. Sam Smith, who was convicted yesterday of burning the shearing plant of Representative Williamson, and Larkin Elliott, principal witness against Smith, and who pleaded guilty to the charge of conspiring with Smith to burn the plant, were each sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

Prineville, Or., May 11.—After deliberation covering more than 15 hours the jury in the case of C. Sam Smith, charged with burning J. N. Williamson's shearing plant, brought in a verdict of guilty, at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon.

The verdict was a huge surprise to the people here, most of whom were expecting a disagreement. Witnesses were freely offered at two to one that if the jury reached a decision at all the verdict would be acquittal. This opinion was owing to the bad reputation of Larkin Elliott, the alleged accomplice and principal witness for the prosecution, for truth and veracity, the unreliability of whose statements was thought to be clearly established by
