GRANGERS ARE GATHERING FOR STATE MEETING

PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR ENTERTAINMENT TUESDAY NIGHT BY MEETING AT ARMORY—GOOD SPEAKERS AND MUSICAL PROGRAM—CITY WILL BE GAILY DECORATED

The members of the state grange, which opens its first session here tomorrow morning, are flocking in on every train. A number came in as early as last night, but the majority will be here this afternoon or tonight. Altogether two hundred people are expected from the state at large, including the Lane county granges.

The first business session will be held tomorrow morning in the Odd Fellows temple at 10 o'clock. Tuesday evening the main public event of the week will be held at the Armory under the auspices of the Commercial club in honor of the State Grange.

The military band will be present to furnish the music, it also having two special numbers. The address of welcome on the part of the city of Eugene will be delivered by Mayor Matlock, who will probably be followed by Judge L. F. Harris, on the part of the Commercial club, and soon after Master J. A. Younggreen, of the Springfield grange, and Master J. A. Hemphill of the Pleasant Hill organization.

The response for the delegates will be by Austin B. Buxton, of Forest Grove, master of the State Grange. Mrs. Clara Waldo, of Portland, who is lecturer of the state for the grange work, will deliver an illustrated address, and Superintendent Alderman will also give an address on "Industrial Education."

The University Glee Club will sing a couple of its popular numbers in the program. On the following morning—Wednesday—the members of the State Grange will probably visit the University and hear W. J. Kerr, president of the Oregon Agricultural College, address the student body. Luncheon will be served on the campus by the girls and ladies of the University and by the Women's Auxiliary of the Commercial club.

The rest of the time of the session will be taken up by the business meetings. On Friday, according to present plans, the Sixth Degree of the grange work will be conferred upon a number of applicants, and on Wednesday the officers for the coming year will be elected.

Master Younggreen, Mrs. Tobey and Mrs. McPherson of the Springfield grange, Master Hemphill of the Pleasant Hill, and two other members of his grange, and the masters of the other county granges, in conjunction with the committees of the Commercial club and others, are looking after the entertainment of the city's guests.

The lodging capacity of the town has been taxed to its utmost, and students of the University have been canvassing the town for rooms to take care of the grangers. Seventy-five additional rooms will be needed and so far some difficulty has been met in getting a sufficient number. As Eugene's reputation for hospitality is at stake, the committee requests any who can have rooms to spare to telephone Manager Hartog of the promotion department of the Commercial club. Fifty cents a night will be paid for each room.

Some of the Grangers. Among the grangers already here are the following: C. L. Moore and wife; Mrs. Mason, Hood River; J. R. Wells and wife, Condon; Mrs. Clara H. Waldo, Mrs. Abigail Scott Dunniway, Portland; J. D. Carroll, M. J. Carroll, Mosier; J. H. Eubanks and wife, Wanli; Warren Merchant and wife, McMinville; Eugene Palmer, A. C. Miller and wife, Albany; M. E. Wood and wife, Shedd; C. L. Shaw and wife, E. N. Emery, Montavilla; B. A. Smith, Carleton; W. H. Addis, Montavilla; L. C. Johnson, Minnie Chapman, Oscar Eaton, L. T. Turner and wife, Wm. Greshen-walke and wife, Mrs. E. P. Carpenter, Cyrus H. Walker, Albany; Mrs. Durbin, Salem; L. S. Lubbert and wife, Dayton; C. D. Huffman and wife, E. S. Huffman, La Grande; James Parvin, Dexter.

H. F. Mersdorf, a Portland real estate man, visited his family yesterday and today. He returns tonight. He also states that the real estate business in Portland is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Oden stopped off here yesterday to see Eugene on their way to their home in Portland from San Francisco.

Dean Hayes, Arthur Geary and R. Beech returned last night from their homes in Portland to take up their studies at the University.

Frank Critser, of Portland, was visiting his son, J. J. Critser, in the city yesterday, having stopped off on his way home from Portland.

Miss Modia Drain has returned from her home at Drain, where she has been for the last two or three weeks. She will take up her work at the University again.

Mrs. Rose L. McGrath went to Junction in the interests of the Royal Neighbors of America. Her home is in Portland. She was the guest here of Mrs. Jennie Higgins.

Little Josephine Schenk went to Portland today to visit relatives. On the front of her dress was the address to which she is supposed to go, if she should not be met at the train.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THE UNSOLVED PROBLEM.

They tell us figures cannot lie. That truth with them is never shy. That when by them we prove a case It's true right on the very face. In some lines that is doubtless so, But just a little deeper go. And let the figures man agree To raise a flock of hens and see.

He takes a dozen hens or more, Perhaps as many as a score. And turns them loose, expecting they Will lay for him eight hours a day. And then he takes his fountain pen And goes among his fellow men To show by figures how he must Get in return much yellow dust.

Two dozen busy hens to lay Will mean two dozen eggs a day. Sold in the market price will not A handsome profit, never fro. Spring chickens, too, will come along. And the demand for them is strong. His figures, on the whole, will show How profits large and fat must grow.

But let him run a season through And see if all his dreams come true: See if the profits come his way In quantities to fill a tray; See if his bill for chicken feed Will not make totals small indeed And if the net results supply A proof that figures will not lie.

Very Modest.

"Raise any live stock on your little place?"

"Only potato bugs."

Filling a Want.

"Here," said the gentlemanly agent, "is a patent imitation lobster so like the real article that only an expert could tell it from a live one. Every married man should have one."

"What for? To feed to brainless young men who call on his daughters?"

"Ah, no; for a loftier purpose than that."

"What could be loftier?"

"To carry around in his pocket?"

"Yes, and give himself a fit every time he reached in."

"No, indeed. To break his wife of the habit while he was slumbering."

Hid the View.

"And so you have returned. How did you like the climate?"

"Didn't see any?"

"No; the weather was so infernally bad that we couldn't notice the climate."

No Object Then.

"Why are you opposed to woman suffrage?"

"I fear a woman would always vote the same way her husband did."

"Oh, I don't know. She might not be wanting a new hat all of the time."

Another Catch.

The early bird may catch the worm. As round about the lot it flits, But in there any lesson there? The early worm—it catches its.

Give Spice.

"They say there is great danger in a kiss."

"Do you believe it?"

"Well, I had often wondered what made me so attractive."

The all day session of the Women's Union of the Baptist church has been postponed until one week from tomorrow.

The Ax Billy store at Marcola has been purchased by H. C. Neal, formerly of the firm of Nicklin & Neal of this city.

The Oregon Beaver, the publication of the Junior class of the University, was issued today. It is a very creditable production.

The rain last night prevented the Warren Construction Company from spreading the top layer of a part of Seventh street this morning.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the usual time in the home of Mrs. Will Gilstrap, 255 Tenth street.

Fishing at the mouth of the McKenzie is reported as being good yesterday. Dan Hill was down and caught a number of fine ones, and others report the finny denizens of the river bit voraciously.

Berger & Bean received today for George Nichols the first gasoline traction woodman in this county. The machine was run up Willamette street, and while not as fast as an automobile, it seemed as certain in getting there.

Fire warnings are being put out by the fire wardens now. All who leave their camp fires burning, who permit fire to escape from their land, or use combustible gun wadding, as well as those who set out fires, are liable to various penalties.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram" is billed to appear at the Eugene theatre Thursday night.

George Smith and his two friends caught 136 trout in their trip down the McKenzie river yesterday.

Work was begun this morning on the excavation for the Garrett, Wells and Mitchell brick on Willamette, between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Navel oranges are reported less plentiful than during the past month. Chief receipts are now of the Mediterranean sweets. The orange season will be over in about a month and a half. The season will open again during November.

Wm. L. McFarland will raise the building now occupied by Finnegan's blacksmith shop, when that firm moves to its new location three doors south, and Berger and Bean will use the reconstructed building for their agricultural implements.

The final debate between Lebanon and Astoria high schools has been changed from May 15 to 29 at the request of the Lebanon team. This is the conclusion of the whole winter work in which nearly every school in the state had a team.

Rev. E. C. Wigmore, of this city, has just completed a five-years' pastorate at the Christian church at Monmouth, preaching his last sermon yesterday. He returned from there today. He has accepted the pastorate of the Christian church at Springfield.

H. M. Cake, republican nominee for United States senator, speaks at Cottage Grove tonight in the interests of his candidacy. He was expected to spend this morning in Eugene, but was detained for some reason. He speaks here tomorrow.

One person has been approached during the last few weeks by twelve tramps. Of this number eight asked for old coats, though the ones on their backs seemed very good. It is said that brakebeam tourists use coats as a sort of coin of the realm. An extra coat is a valuable thing on a cold or wet night.

The University and High school baseball teams will play a match game Wednesday afternoon. The High school lads are developing remarkably into fast ballplayers, and the U. of O. bunch has established a reputation enough to induce the people to come out and see them perform. An admission of 25 cents will be charged.

Milvay Rohovsky caught 40 trout yesterday on the Rohovsky place out on the Long Tom. He maintains that stream is equal to any of Eastern Lane county for both hunting and fishing. Some of the trout were fourteen inches in length. Chinese pheasants are very plentiful in that district, and in winter some remarkable kinds of geese and ducks have been killed.

George Croner and wife leave in the morning for the Log House hotel at Belknap Springs to prepare for seven or eight people who will arrive here Wednesday morning. This is the earliest that the famous resort has ever been opened. The season will extend until October 1 and from the letters received by Mr. Croner concerning the springs, there will be more guests at the hotel than ever before during the coming season.
