SUPT. ACKERMAN ADVOCATES SUPPORT FOR UNIVERSITY

OREGON'S FIGHT ON APPROPRIATION FOR UNIVERSITY USED IN WASHINGTON—STATE OFFICIAL MAKES EFFECTIVE ARGUMENT FOR THE APPROPRIATION OF $125,000 FOR THE STATE UNIVERSITY

That immigration boosters in the state of Washington are already using Oregon's attitude on the University of Oregon appropriation bill as an argument for the purpose of diverting homeseekers to that state was one of the declarations made by Superintendent J. H. Ackerman Sunday afternoon at a people's forum meeting in Grange hall, when the appropriation bill was up for discussion.

Superintendent Ackerman and Eugene Palmer were the principal speakers. The former advocated the adoption of the bill at the June election, the latter argued against the measure.

Superintendent Ackerman said that Washington appropriated $475,000 for its agricultural college at Pullman and that when Easterners come to the coast seeking homes Washington boomers urge them to locate in that state and remind them of the amount of money Washington is spending on its schools, while Oregon is holding up and may defeat an appropriation of $125,000 for the State University. In his opinion this argument is being used effectively and it will be to the advantage of this state if homeseekers can be told that Oregon has passed the appropriation bill.

Arguments for Appropriation. Briefly stated, his arguments in behalf of the bill were: That money put into education is not a tax, but an investment; that an education is valuable, not merely to the man who gets it, but to the entire state, for the educated is more efficient than the uneducated; that the State University, because tuition is free, enables every boy and girl to get a college education if desired; that higher education should be provided at home, for if boys go away to college we lose the brightest of our young men; that it must be expected that the cost of education per capita will be much higher in the university than in the common schools, for the instructors must be paid higher salaries and can teach a smaller number of pupils; that the adoption of this law, providing for a continuous appropriation, will take the State University out of politics by making it unnecessary for the legislature every two years for an appropriation; that the University is the head of the educational system of the state, and its standard must be maintained; that wealth does not produce education, but education produces wealth; that if the education of the people of Oregon could be doubled today the wealth of the state would be more than doubled.

Mr. Ackerman said that to the states he visited on his trip East the educational system of Oregon could not be compared. "Show me the state university and I will tell you about your whole educational system. It is not a fight against the common schools; it is a fight against education; every friend of the University is a friend of the common school. The educational advancement of a state marks the progress of the state."—Salem Statesman.

"KID" FARMER IN SHADOW OF DEATH AFTER A KNOCKOUT

Pearla, Ill., May 13.—Jack Morgan, of Indianapolis, knocked out the original "Kid" Farmer last night. The first six rounds were slow, but the last four were furious, though Morgan clearly outclassed his opponent. Farmer did not recover promptly, and after half an hour's work by three physicians he was removed to a hospital, where he lies in a semi-conscious condition. Examination showed the man to be suffering from concussion of the brain, with slight chances for recovery. Morgan and his seconds, Charles Barthol, the promoter, and Referee Ryan were arrested pending the outcome of the injuries.

WORK SOON BEGINS ON ALBANY DEPOT

Within eight or ten days active work will begin on the Albany depot. People are wondering when things will be going on at the depot. The cement blocks have been made at Portland, and are now coming. They will be in a condition for laying with safety. The structure, it is reported, will be forty feet bigger than heretofore stated, and inside finishing will be modern in every particular. It will be the biggest depot between Portland and Sacramento, a union affair, with a regular yard, gate keeper, train caller for the twenty-four passenger trains a day, etc., one Albany, as well as the S. P. Company, will be proud of the architecture is after the fashion of the depots on the O. R. & N., neat and slightly, as those who have seen the one at Walla Walla will testify.—Democrat.

LOWELL ITEMS

(Special Correspondence.)
Lowell, May 13.—The rush in the logging camps continues at Rush Island, and will until the drive starts in June. The late rains have been a good thing for the loggers, as well as to growing vegetation, and farmers and loggers are all rejoicing together.

Rev. D. E. Baker, of Eugene, and Mr. Kelly, of Madol, are holding a protracted meeting at the Rush Island schoolhouse. There have been several conversions up to the present time and interest is increasing. Quite a number have attended from Lowell. There will be baptizing in the river Sunday, the 17th, at 1 o'clock. Several will be baptized by immersion.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm, of Hazel Dell, made a trip to Eugene last week to see the medical fraternity in the interest of Mrs. Wilhelm's health, as she has been indisposed for some time.

Miss Fara Howard, teacher of the Middle Fork school, was compelled to give up teaching on account of sickness and has gone home. The directors have employed Miss Grace Saylor to finish the term.

Bert Kelley will begin the erection of a new residence and barn soon. Part of the material is already on the ground.

TO ELIMINATE CO-EDUCATION AT SEATTLE HIGH

Seattle, Wash., May 14.—High school boys and girls in this city are to be educated separately in the future. This edict has gone forth with the approval of Superintendent Frank F. Cooper, Principal William F. Geller, of the Washington high school, and a substantial majority of the faculty.

In explaining the new plan, Mr. Cooper says that next year not only will the boys and girls be separated while taking the high school course, but that separate honors will be provided for them. He contends that the most critical period, both as regards a boy's physical development and his mental processes, is the high school period; that the boy at that time is at a disadvantage; that he should not be expected to accomplish the same tasks as the girl, and that the instruction given him should be of such a nature at least in some respects that the girls cannot partake of it.

"It is a mistake," he says "to suppose that there is a period of danger to the girl in the early stages of development that is not fraught with equal peril to the boy. In fact, the boy's condition between the ages of 14 and 18 is infinitely more perilous than the girl's. It has been clearly demonstrated that the girl's brain at 14 is a perfect machine, and has greater capacity for development than at any other period in life. On the other hand, the boy at that age is in a condition where he becomes mentally confused and is unable to think as clearly or work as well as the girl. Such and many other reasons can be given for separation during the high school period."

RAILROAD FIGHTS INCREASE IN RATES

Suit was filed in the United States court yesterday by the O. R. & N. Company to enjoin the Oregon railroad commission from enforcing its order of April 22, directing a reduction of 15 per cent in its distributive rates in Oregon, between Portland and points east of The Dalles. In support of its application for a temporary injunction the railroad company alleges that the proposed action of the commission is in violation of Federal and state constitutions, conflicts with interstate commerce and necessarily would involve a complete revision of all interstate rates. By the order of the railroad commission the reduced tariffs were to go into effect tomorrow, but it is probable that following a conference with Attorney-General A. M. Crawford, who will be in Portland today, an arrangement will be reached by which the operation of the order will be suspended for several days until United States Judge Wolverton can examine the bill of complaint and fix a time for hearing argument on the suit.—Oregonian.
