

SOCIETY

May showers of the past week have been conducive to indoor entertainment, and as a result there has been a number of pleasant social affairs. Mrs. P. E. Southgraves was hostess Thursday and Saturday at afternoon teas. On the former afternoon a number of ladies were invited to an afternoon at which Mrs. Hoffman succeeded in scoring a large number of points in a number of prize a bunch of carnations. Mrs. J. W. assisted the hostess in the dining room serving a delicious lunch. A bowl of pink carnations on an attractive centerpiece on the table. The guests were: The Messrs. P. K. Hammond, L. E. B. A. Washburne (Spring), M. E. Watson, Dilley, C. W. S. P. Sladden, J. M. Shelley, Harris, J. K. Pratt, Charles Jeffrey, James F. Robinson, M. G. J. W. Hobbs, Geo. McMorris, C. Hughes, Charles A. G. and Miss Pauline Davis.

Afternoon, provided by a short business meeting. Mrs. L. E. Tidball also assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

In musical circles the event of the week was the piano recital given at Villard hall on Thursday evening by the pupils of Miss Veda Quackenbush and Miss Ina Watkins, assisted by Miss Daisy Gilbert and Miss Georgine Ransome. The recital was well attended by an appreciative audience. The young performers all deserve praise, as each number on the program was very well rendered. If any are more deserving of special mention than the rest, they are per-

MISS JEAN REID.

Miss Reid, the daughter of Whitehall Reid, American ambassador to England, is soon to become the bride of John Herbert Ward, brother of the Earl of Dudley. The announcement of the betrothal caused a stir in society circles both in America and England. Mr. Ward is a lieutenant in the British army and a prime favorite with King Edward. The wedding probably will take place at Dorchester House, the London residence of the ambassador.

Perhaps the Misses Ethel Gibson, Henrietta Hales, Emma Lackey, Eno Hendrichott, Hattie Steiner, Dorothy Wheeler and May and Albert Gillette. Miss Gilbert sang in her usual charming manner, and Miss Ransome won the hearts of her audience with her dainty child's voice.

JUNCTION HAD CLEAN-UP DAY

Clean-up day, Tuesday, May 22, proved a success, the same length and breadth of the town. The majority of our citizens entered into the spirit of the occasion, and the town never presented a neater or cleaner appearance than right now.

The back yards and alleys are free from tin cans, boxes, barrels and other trash. The streets are thoroughly cleaned, sidewalks repaired, as well as possible, and many other evidences of endeavor on the part of our citizens. Clean-up day should be made an annual event, and as the initial effort has been successful the next effort should be more so.

HOW TO MAKE A "MERRY WIDOW."

The following is an officially authorized recipe for making a "merry widow" hat:

Buy one extra large disc herring blade, lay blade upon roll of Twentieth Century limited in such manner as to give the blade a saucer-like curve when the wheel passes over it, take to the front and draw over the hole in the disc an extra size of frying pan with handle detached. Lash the web-strips with chosen cloth and Valenciennes lace. Cover entire outer framework with blue silk from the interior of your husband's new spring overcoat. If he has no new spring overcoat, the silk from his full dress suit will answer the purpose very nicely. Next go down town and buy six of the largest imitation pearls you can find. Red is the preferable color. Place them upon the forehead of the hat, standing bolt upright. Next wind the crown with one of your husband's gala silk neckties, put it in the oven and bake for 15 minutes. When done stick a hat pin through web and wear in suit. A stick-pin with a lemon for a handle is very apt, and will go well with your hat, which is sure to make a hit wherever you wear it.

First Ice Machine.

Dr. John Gorrie, a native of Charleston, S. C., was practicing medicine in Andalusia, Fla. He was a scientific man and fond of making experiments. He conceived the idea of artificially cooling the air in the rooms occupied by fever patients by taking advantage of the absorption of heat from surrounding objects by expanding volatile gases. He was so successful in his major natural ice as early as 1845.

In 1850, in the Madison hotel, in his home town, he publicly exhibited his machine and made ice with it. He was granted the first patent for an ice making machine in the same year. The New York papers made fun of the invention, and Dr. Gorrie could not get enough money to enable him to make experiments along large lines. He died in 1855, without having seen the success of the line of work which he had begun.

Jacob Perkins, an American engineer living in England, had made some successful experiments with cooling apparatus several years before. Professor Alexander Twining, in America, and James Harrison, of Australia, as well as several French scientists, came along about the same time with experimental machines.

But the first ice factory of importance in the world was established in New Orleans in 1859, and it became the forerunner of the thousands of plants now being operated. The Australians were first to think of freezing meat to preserve it for long keeping, but the notion was adopted in the United States without a moment's delay.—Exchange.
