CHAMBERLAIN AND GEARIN SPOKE AT EUGENE THEATRE

LARGE CROWD GREETED THEM
—GEARIN SPEAKS ON UNIVERSITY APPROPRIATION—GOVERNOR TELLS WHAT A DEMOCRAT CAN DO IN UNITED STATES SENATE.

A large crowd greeted Governor Chamberlain and ex-United States Senator Gearin at the Eugene theatre last night, and while the meeting was perhaps not as enthusiastic as former meetings which the governor has addressed here, he was occasionally interrupted by applause.

The governor was introduced by Attorney Lee M. Travis, chairman of the Democratic central committee, who announced him as Oregon's next United States senator.

The first fifteen minutes of Governor Chamberlain's speech was devoted to a brief review of the rapid development of the state and to a defense of the initiative and referendum and the direct primary law, which embodies the momentous Statement Number One.

"I would rather be defeated working for the plain people than elected by the interests against them," declared the speaker. "Financially, I would be unable to hold my own in the 'Millionaires' Club,' as the United States senate is properly termed, and my only desire for the senatorship is to serve the people of the state which I love better than any other state in the Union. (Tremendous applause.) All of the corrupt influence and crooked party bosses of the state are arrayed against Statement Number One; so are some of the candidates for the legislature, who have apparently lost sight of the fact that they are the servants and not the masters of the people—merely sent to the legislature to perform work at $3 a day a mileage, and most of them are not worth that much. (Laughter.) I do not know the status of the candidates in your county, but let me advise you to turn down those who do not subscribe to Statement No. 1, regardless of party. If all your legislative candidates are pledged to the statement, then ignore party lines and vote for the ones you think would render the people the best service. If you send to the legislature men who refuse to support Statement No. 1, you will be aiding in bringing about the disgraceful condition that we are now seeking to remedy; the result will be the same as in years past—the man with the longest sack will land the senatorship.

"Pays Respects to Cake
"My opponent, Mr. Cake, was a candidate for the United States senate in 1906, but he did not subscribe to Statement No. 1. Mr. Bourne did and was elected. A great many men say that Mr. Bourne's election was a mistake on the part of the people. If the people made a mistake, however, the legislatures of Oregon have made 20 in the selection of senators. If the people made a mistake it is the fault of the heart, but if the legislature does so it is evidence of corruption and political debauchery.

"Before the primaries Mr. Cake declared himself in favor of Statement No. 1, and even urged the defeat of any candidate for the legislature who opposed it. After the primaries, however, he kicked his Statement No. 1 supporters out of the back door and invited his opponents into the front door. Furthermore, if my information is correct, Mr. Cake is now dodging the places that he visited before the primaries and where he does speak announces that he has no suggestions to make regarding local candidates for the legislature. I do not believe that the people of Oregon will stand for such equivocation and evasion on such an important issue."

"Roosevelt or Anti?
Answering the question that Mr. Cake being a member of the dominant party—Republican—in congress, he would therefore be able to accomplish much more for Oregon than would a Democrat, Mr. Chamberlain said:

"What kind of a Republican is Mr. Cake—Roosevelt supporter or allied with the faction opposing his policies? Roosevelt made himself the most popular man in the country by recommending to congress the measures long before advocated by Bryan, and the interests now opposing Mr. Roosevelt are the same interests that opposed Bryan in the past. Again comes the question: If Mr. Cake is elected which side is he going to line up with, the Roosevelt wing of congress or the element that is fighting him?"

"Now, with regard to myself, I will state with all candor that if sent to the senate I would line up with the Democrats in all matters affecting the welfare of the nation and the people of Oregon. I would wear a party standard. Neither will it be of any concern to me who is president, if he stands for the great principles for which we are fighting he will receive my most earnest support.

"What a Democrat Can Do.
"It has been charged by my opponents that as a Democrat I could do nothing for Oregon in the senate," and the governor smiled when he said this. "Do you know that Senator Gearin, a Democrat, and Senator Fulton, a Republican, working together, secured the biggest appropriation for Oregon that the state ever received—a sum in excess of $4,000,000? And now, with a solid Republican delegation in congress, the state cannot get anything—not even the first to stop off the Columbia and Willamette rivers, notwithstanding who are stopping at every fork of the road. Even the trade for governmental supplies for the Philippines has been transferred from Portland to San Francisco. It is a real detriment to Oregon to be so solidly Republican, because the party leaders in Washington do not feel that it is necessary to keep the state anything to keep it in line. Show me a doubtful state politically and I'll show you a state that is getting all sorts of favors from congress.

"There is Montana, for instance. With one Democrat and one Republican in the senate, she got more money for Helena and Butte than did all of Oregon, and Portland could stick both cities in her pocket and walk away with them without knowing that she was carrying anything. (Laughter and applause.) Galveston, Texas, where there is nothing but Democrats, got enough money from congress to deepen its harbor from 12 to 28 feet. I have more confidence in a Republican congress than in Mr. Cake, and I believe I could do more for Oregon than he by enlisting the aid of Democrats, as did Mr. Gearin."

"What He Favors.
In outlining his platform, Governor Chamberlain said that he stood for the following: Purchase of the locks at Oregon City either by the state or the federal government; establishment of postal savings banks; adoption of the Oklahoma banking law; limiting the immigration of Asiatic coolies; enactment of an income tax law; making his own employer liability law national in scope and placing the Indian war veterans upon the same pension footing with veterans of other wars. Governor Chamberlain called attention to the fact that it was upon his own investigation that the owners of the Willamette river locks at Oregon City were sued and forced to disgorge some $300,000 due to the state school fund upon a basis of 10 per cent of the tolls collected upon freight.

"Senator Gearin's Address
After Governor Chamberlain had delivered his practical and vigorous address, ex-United States Senator John M. Gearin followed, giving further reasons why Chamberlain was a better man for United States senator than Cake, and also touching upon the State University, expressing the attitude that he and the governor took.

In the first place he asked that the representatives of the press spread throughout the state of Oregon his opinion and stand upon this momentous question of welfare to the commonwealth. Gearin was born in Oregon, and said:

"I have always watched with pride the growth of the institution in this city, the work of its faculty and the career of its president. The State University has graduated during its existence over eleven hundred students into the professional and the practical walks of life in the state, and any blow to limit its resources—its future growth, is a strange grip upon the progress of fair Oregon.

"Oregon is the fairest state in the Union—new, but vigorous. The idea of certain people to throttle the head of the educational system is preposterous. As the state grows, so should educational institutions, and as Oregon is leaping forward in the strides of seven-league boots, so should the University of Oregon.

"To me the University of Oregon is as dear as anything in the state. I love its many students and its professors. The defeat of the University appropriation would seem to me like a blow to myself."

After he had given his opinion of the State University, during which he received great applause, he reviewed the reasons why Chamberlain should be elected. He branded the statements of Mr. Cake as falsehoods when that candidate said at Astoria that he (Gearin) as United States senator, did not hold important positions in the senate on the committee. In his opinion the combination of one Democrat and one Republican senator from Oregon would be far the most successful.

"A Californian's Luck.
"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy, Cal. "Two 25c boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and had yielded under no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at W. Kuykendall's drug store.

WORK BEGINS ON NEW WELLS FARGO BUILDING

Excavation for the foundation for the new Wells-Fargo express building on the depot grounds, mentioned by The Guard several weeks ago, was begun this morning and the building will be rushed to completion. At the time The Guard mentioned the fact that the building would be erected, it was stated that it was probable that the downtown office of the company would be done away with, but at the solicitation of the Eugene business men it is probable that the downtown office will still be maintained for the convenience of the public.

The new building, which will be situated east of the new passenger depot, will be 26x42 feet in dimensions, one story high, and will be constructed of brick and cement.

CITY NEWS

The curbing for the cement platform at the new depot is being put in.

Seobert & Dodge shipped a carload of potatoes to California points today.

A carload of cement and lime arrived here this morning for L. N. Roney.

A cement sidewalk is being built in front of the Booth property on East Eleventh street.

The fenders have been placed on the street cars and the danger of fatalities is reduced to a minimum.

The Eugene Odd Fellows who went to the grand lodge at Salem returned home last night and reported a splendid meeting.

Another car of vitrified brick arrived here this morning to be used on the street car line on East Eleventh street.

The work of laying the bitulithic pavement between the street car rails on East Eleventh street was begun this morning.

An item appeared in yesterday's Guard to the effect that a dance would be given at the Underwood rink last night. This was an error. It should have been tonight (Friday).

Rev. O. C. Wright will occupy his pulpit in the Baptist church of Eugene Sunday, he having returned from California and is now attending the Baptist Association at Myrtle Creek.

Lee Hoselton returned last night from Crow, where he went to see his father, George Hoselton, who is ill. He is sinking rapidly and his death is expected in a very short time. Ed Hoselton went out this morning to help take care of him.

William Churchill, of this city, underwent an operation at the General hospital this forenoon for the amputation of his left leg, the bones of the member having been diseased for a good many years. Dr. Wall performed the operation.

The work of moving the old frame building from the I. O. O. F. lot at the corner of East Ninth and Oak streets, or rather from the street where it had been for a week or more, was resumed today by J. W. Barringer, the weather having cleared, making it possible.

Agent Gillette, of the S. P. Co., reports that eighty-nine tickets were sold to Eugene people to Seattle and return for the fleet celebration. The supply of tickets was exhausted the first day they were on sale and three or four times as many were sold as expected.

Rev. D. E. Baker returned home on the flyer last evening from Dorena, where he fell the other day and injured himself in the abdomen. He was met at the train with a carriage and taken to his home at the corner of West Sixth and Washington streets. He may be confined to the house for several weeks.

The Williams Transfer Company this morning received a letter from San Francisco requesting that they have on hand 50 gallons of gasoline for the White automobile which is on its way from San Francisco to Portland trying to establish a new record between the two cities. The machine is expected here the 25th inst.

A few days ago The Guard mentioned the fact that the Eugene Planting Mill Company intends to at once enlarge its mill on Lawrence street and increase its capacity by the addition of more machinery. At the same time it was stated that a new partner would soon be taken. The new member of the firm is L. G. Clark, recently from Pittsburg, Pa., who has arrived here on a bought an interest in the plant. The improvements will begin as soon as the materials can be secured.

DR. FULLERTON SUCCEEDS ROBERTS AS MODERATOR

Kansas City, May 21.—Rev. Dr. Baxter P. Fullerton, of St. Louis, was today elected moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States, to succeed Rev. Dr. William H. Roberts of Philadelphia. His nomination and election were unanimous and by acclamation. He was placed in nomination by Rev. Dr. F. J. Nichols, of St. Louis, and the nomination was seconded by Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Seattle. In assuming the duties of moderator, Dr. Fullerton also becomes stated clerk of the assembly.

The election of Dr. Fullerton has a happy significance in the fact that he belongs to the so-called Southern branch of the church, being the first moderator that branch has had since the amalgamation of the two churches.

Dr. Roberts delivered his farewell sermon as moderator before the greatest audience that ever assembled at a conference of the church. There were 800 authorized commissioners present from all parts of the world, besides thousands of other Presbyterians and spectators. There were present representatives from Porto Rico, the Philippines, Alaska and a dozen countries. Ten thousand churches with fully 4,000,000 adherents, most of them communicants, were represented.

Dr. Roberts' sermon was an argument in favor of Christian co-operation and harmony in opposing the forces of evil in the United States and the world. The new moderator assumed his office at once and tonight presided at the ordination of the Lord's Supper in Convention hall. Sixty ruling elders of the church assisted in the ceremony.
