takes manhood to make the true business man every time. And he who thinks he can do anything outside of business hours—indulge in extravagance, dissipation, and rioting association—and not taint his business has not yet got on to the true relation of cause and effect.

Practically a test vote on the election of senators by direct vote was taken in the Senate on Senator Owen's resolution, which was sent to committee, where it will die by a vote of 33 to 29. Against, 30 Republicans and 3 Democrats; for, 11 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

Politicians who are shaking hands with themselves because of Billy Heart's European trip, had better go slow. "Billy" is too fond of getting advertising by trouble-making to keep his fingers out of the presidential game.

Support it's true, as Major Bell says, that "our army is not fit to engage in war with the army of any first-class nation." In the absence of perfected airships, how's any army going to get at ours?

Oregon editors will have to get a new stock of editorial subjects now that the election is over. Suppose we all try to write something that will boost Oregon ahead another notch?

And maybe this Pennsylvania preacher who announced that "mercy widow" hats should not be worn in his church was only making a bid for a larger female attendance.

An examination of the record will show that the people of New York beat Senator Platt by several years in announcing his retirement at the end of his present term.

There are bronze statues which would be more in keeping with the leading characteristics of the men whose names they bear if made of brass.

There is an editorial discussion in Ohio on why the political liar is not put in the same class as the business liar. He is, by right thinking people.

To the poet there may be joy in the "music of the spheres," but to the politician the greatest joy is given by the music of election years.

It's dollars to stogies that the man who sincerely says "every man should be contented with his own station" is on top, or thereabouts.

Tomorrow we will have to listen to the wise fellow who knew all the time just how it was coming out.

Somebody did a golden deed,
 Somebody proved a friend in need;
 Somebody sang a beautiful song;
 Somebody smiled the whole day long;
 Somebody thought, "Twas sweet to live,"
 Somebody said "I'm glad to give";
 Somebody fought a valiant fight;
 Somebody lived to shield the right.
 Was that somebody you?

AUTOMATIC MONEY SORTER IS LATEST INVENTION

During these times of financial stringency, the most of us are not bothering much about how we are to sort and count our money. We are rather giving the most of our time to the proposition of acquiring enough to buy food and raiment for those dependent upon us. However, it will interest some of our readers to know that there have been machines invented for the sorting and counting of money, or coins, to be accurate, and they are considered to be a very necessary adjunct to the commercial establishments that handle a good deal of specie.

Conrad Joseph L. Brattain, stationed at Prague, Austria, sends a clipping from one of the Austrian newspapers, giving an account of an automatic money sorter which has recently been invented by a citizen of that country. It is thus described:

The inventor claims that it will sort metal coins which have been thrown together regardless of their denominations, placing each denomination in a separate basket. The various coins are thrown indiscriminately into a funnel at the top of the machine, and from the funnel they slide downward, alighting on a spiral track. The track has a projecting edge or raised border containing slits corresponding to the various sizes of the coins. As the coins of various denominations glide downward on the track, through some peculiar mechanism of the machine they pass through the slits corresponding to their various sizes, entering their respective baskets at the bottom of the machine.

It is said that several firms handling large amounts of coin daily have tried the machine with satisfactory results.

NEW USE FOR DETECTIVES IN NEW YORK CITY

A recent dispatch from New York informs us that the detectives of that great city have entered a new field of labor. Of late a great many of them have been employed to find out all they can about the personal life and habits of bankers, their associates, their manners of business and methods of living. These inquiries have been instituted by depositors and sometimes the results of the inquiry have caused the depositors to transfer their accounts to other banks and in some cases directors have resigned.

The dispatch says: "It is nothing for a bank to want to know something about the men with whom it is doing business, but now the depositors are becoming more deeply interested in the men who handle their money, and want to know their associates, habits of life and general business methods."

This incident leads us to state a general proposition—that no man knows his own business who is indifferent to his associations and habits. It makes no difference what the business is—selling cigars, baking bread, running a livery stable, practicing law or conducting a bank—it goes to the level of the character of the man who is engaged in it.

There are bronze statues which would be more in keeping with the leading characteristics of the men whose names they bear if made of brass.

HEART TO HEART Talks.

YOU ARE RICH.
 Are you in good health, and have you a family to support?
 Then you are rich.
 Health is wealth. It is more than capital, more than labor. It is both combined. It is ability to do, opportunity to earn, chance to win. With health the poorest man is rich; without it the richest man is poor.
 The chief trouble with most of us is this: We do not realize our riches. We do not know how to inventory the best things of life. In our laziness we put down some things—as money, for instance—too high and others—as health, for instance—at too low a price.
 We repeat, if you are healthy, strong, you are well to do, and if in addition you have a family dependent upon your efforts you are rich.

NEXT RURAL CARRIERS MEETING AT CORVALLIS
 Albany, Or., May 31.—William H. Boyd, of Beaverton, was chosen president of the Oregon Rural Letter Carriers' Association at the close of the sixth annual convention in this city late last night. H. M. Cummings, of Corvallis, was made first vice president, and Frank Krabberger, of Aurora, second vice president. John H. Goins, of Albany, was re-elected secretary-treasurer and was also chosen as a delegate to represent the Oregon Association at the convention of the National Association of Rural Letter Carriers. Fred Spooner, of Lents, was elected a member of the executive committee for a term of three years. The hold-over members being A. Parker, of Independence, and E. B. Cornett, of Albany.
 Corvallis was selected as the meeting place of the association in 1909, and the date was left to the selection of the president and executive committee. Corvallis, Eugene, Salem and Independence were all candidates for the convention seat. The Benton county city won the honor over Eugene by eight votes, while Salem and Independence failed to make a showing in the voting.

ORITARY.
 Died, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herman Dehnbach, 2 1/2 miles north of Eugene, May 25, 1908, Mrs. Mary Wadsworth, nee Taylor.
 Mrs. Wadsworth was born in Adams, Virginia, January 15, 1830.
 She came to America in 1851 and lived near Thurston for some years when she came to the city of Eugene. Mrs. Wadsworth was the mother of nine children, five of whom are now living to pay the debt and care for a departed mother. She will be missed by all her children in the old country and the new. She also has one grandchild.
 She was a member of the Lutheran church and lived a conscientious Christian life. She will be truly missed by her sons and daughters here.
 "Mother" is the sweetest word. We poor mortals ever heard. It's blessed memories around us dwell, in grandest music ever swell.
 But like the best of earth. We hardly know thy worth. Ere thou wilt fill away, Then art gone, gone, to stay.
 Mother, my dear, friend, Standing by thine own ill the end, Ever faithful watchful guide, Every word we speak child.
 Mother, take thy weary way, In thy hand I see the part and share, Freed from all sorrow and care, Hasten to the bliss of thy home, Where thou art safe.
 W. H. BRYAN.

CAPTAIN CHARLES DE F. CHANDLER.
 Captain Chandler, who is in charge of the balloon station in Washington, has been active in the experiments with wireless telegraphy from balloons. Recent tests with the government's big war balloon were very successful, wireless messages being received from Annapolis when the balloon ascended over Washington.

YOU ARE RICH.
 Are you in good health, and have you a family to support?
 Then you are rich.
 Health is wealth. It is more than capital, more than labor. It is both combined. It is ability to do, opportunity to earn, chance to win. With health the poorest man is rich; without it the richest man is poor.
 The chief trouble with most of us is this: We do not realize our riches. We do not know how to inventory the best things of life. In our laziness we put down some things—as money, for instance—too high and others—as health, for instance—at too low a price.
 We repeat, if you are healthy, strong, you are well to do, and if in addition you have a family dependent upon your efforts you are rich.

At the first thought you might be disposed to put your family down in your inventory as an incumbrance, a liability instead of an asset. Man alive, there's where you make your mistake!

Did you ever see an oriental woman carrying a jar of water on her head? What poise and gracefulness. The burden she bears does that, and likewise your burden should only serve to give you poise and strength.

But, besides—
 You need, all of us need, an incentive—something to live for—an inducement. The man without the family burden may rejoice in his liberty for a time, but the day will come when the vanity of such liberty will appear. There will be no stern necessity upon him, no heart compelling force. He will have no divine call to do and suffer. As the years shall multiply the emptiness of life will appeal him.

But you—you have given hostages to fate. You have inducement. Your homestrings are steady because they are harnessed to your loved ones! You have something to live for, work for, die for. Look into the answering face of your wife, your child. Is it not so? You are rich.

Sometimes the way may be dark and rock strewn upward. If there is joy, there are also tears and anxiety. There must be a sacrifice for wife and babies and food and raiment and something over for gentle living. And the cost of bare necessities is large. And some people seem to get on better than you, but—do they get the best out of life? That's the question.
 Can't you see? You are rich.
