INDEPENDENT PAPER. Member of Associated Press. FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1908.

INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE. Prof. Charles H. Henderson, writer in Charities and The Common, a publication devoted to the success and care of the unfortunate of the human race, says it is sometimes asserted in advance of proof that accident, sickness, and old age insurance is a burden upon the capital, industry, and commerce of a nation.

As Germany is the country which annually does more than other nations in this direction it seems not unfair to mention the fact that the years of trial of her system of insurance have been precisely the years in which that nation has forged to the front rank in the world of manufactures and commerce.

The average politician usually knows his long suit. That's why he prefers making a campaign on promises to one on performance. And for that particular reason it is indeed fortunate the time comes for performance after the election, else a great many of the present office-holders would be now engaged in doing street work with a pick and shovel, instead of drawing down fat salaries every month.

Members of the House will not use benches at future sessions, as had been recommended by a committee, but it's a good guess that a lot of them will have to use stretchers next November.

Underneath the dust raised for the purpose of befuddling the people are a vast majority who know what they want and who stand ready to mete out proper punishment if they are kept out of it by trickery.

Lane County is to have an agricultural fair next fall. But that does not necessarily mean that there will be an exhibit of blind pigs in the stock pens.

Reform legislation, if it keeps on progressing, will corner the GOP's liberal side and the "come" words by the "no" words.

The great American hen is about to have a new experiment tried on her. Heretofore she has been subjected to numerous forms of diet and different environments, all with the object of persuading her to lay more eggs, and hang the coat. But now the comfort and health of the hen are to be taken into consideration.

All kinds of guesses have been made as to the number of one-dollar bills that could be required to equal the weight of a five-dollar gold piece. The guesses range from a million to about 100,000. And with a million in the treasury asks a question which the world has never before asked: How many one-dollar bills would it take to equal the weight of a five-dollar gold piece?

LaFollette, Gore and Stone fell down in their efforts to talk the Aldrich emergency currency measure to death in the closing hours of Congress and as a consequence the bill passed and will become a law. Whether the new currency measure is any better than the one in three is a question, but certainly it can be no worse, and it provides enough money to carry the country through a stress of financial uncertainty such as was experienced last fall, and from which we are even now suffering to some extent, then all the nation will rise up and bless the name of Aldrich and the other makers of the law. Time will tell whether it is a good law or a bad one and the best we can do is to wait and see.

If the law-makers and enforcers of this country could be made to see and feel that they are servants of the people—the whole people—and made to act accordingly, there would be an easy solution to these economic problems, says the Eastern (Pa.) Journal. The reason the riches are in the hands of a few is not by divine decree, but by the disregard on the part of the official servants of the people of the fundamental principle of democracy—equal rights for all; special privileges for none.

We are sickly the woman's suffrage amendment failed to carry. It is hardly fair to the men to be compelled to bear alone the burden of voting this interminable Australian ballot. With the county divisions, initiative vagaries and referendum objections the ballot two years hence promises to be as long as an anti-prohibitionist's face in the arid zone. The women want to share our troubles and vexations to the fullest extent—then let them vote.

The average politician usually knows his long suit. That's why he prefers making a campaign on promises to one on performance. And for that particular reason it is indeed fortunate the time comes for performance after the election, else a great many of the present office-holders would be now engaged in doing street work with a pick and shovel, instead of drawing down fat salaries every month.

UNIVERSITY BILL CARRIES BY 5500

The University has carried Lane county by 5700. Wasco by 466, Clatsop by 370, Umatilla by 300, Jackson by 350, and has also carried Baker, Malheur, Union, Sherman, Wheeler, Josephine, Columbia, Klamath and Lake. Lane county has rolled up a majority of nearly 2000 against the bill, and Marion county has given a majority of 1500 against it. Other counties that have voted down the appropriation are Benton, Polk, Yamhill, Washington, Clackamas, Tillamook, Morrow and Wallowa. No definite reports have been received from Gilliam, Grant, Crook, Harney, Douglas, Lincoln, Coos or Curry counties, but the friends of the University say that the vote will be favorable in most of the counties.

It is estimated that the appropriation bill has carried the state by at least 6500 votes. The official count may run this down slightly, but it is not believed that the figures will be changed materially.

Local alumni and friends of the university are jubilant over the result, especially because of the big affirmative vote in this county.

BOY SCRATCHED DAY AND NIGHT

Eczema Began When a Tiny Baby and Lasted 7 Years—Tore Crusts from Face Till It Was All Raw—Screamed with Pain and Could not Sleep—Though Specialists Failed

CUTICURA EFFECTED A WONDERFUL CURE

"When my little boy was six weeks old an eruption broke out on his face. I took him to a doctor and got ointments and medicines but his face kept on getting worse until it got so bad that no one could look at him. His whole face was one crust and it itched very, very much. He scratched day and night until his face sometimes looked like a raw part of meat. I was nearly frantic with his scratching day and night. Then I took him to all the best specialists in skin diseases but they could not do much for him. He sometimes screamed with pain when I put on the salve they gave me. When he was two years old the eczema got on his arms and legs so that I had to keep them bandaged up and I made gloves for his hands so the nails could not poison him worse. We could not get a night's sleep in months and my husband and I were all broken up. Then my mother asked why I did not give up the doctors and try Cuticura. So I got a set and he felt relieved the first time I used them, the Cuticura Ointment felt so cool. He used to wake up and ask for Cuticura to be put on when he itched so badly that he could not sleep, and he would say, 'Oh! Mama, that makes my sores feel so good!' I gave the Cuticura Remedies a good trial and gradually the eczema healed all up and now he is as well as any other child, and I shall recommend it everywhere.
