NO MORE JUNE STATE ELECTIONS

Salem, Ore., June 6.—The constitutional amendments and bills adopted by the people at the election last Monday will go into effect soon as the vote thereon can be canvassed and the result proclaimed by the governor. This will probably be three weeks yet, as some of the county clerks are always slow in sending returns. Most of the amendments and initiative measures have no immediate effect, however, though they will be in full force as soon as the proclamation has been issued.

Recall Effective at Once.

The recall amendment is self-executory and will be effective at once. It provides that 25 per cent of the voters of an election may compel an officer to stand for re-election at a special election to be held within 20 days for which election other candidates may be nominated. The reasons for the recall and the defense of the officer may be printed upon the sample ballots in not to exceed 200 words each. No provision is made as to the manner in which nominations shall be made for the special election. Recall petitions cannot be filed until an officer has occupied his position six months, or, in the case of a member of the legislature, until the legislature has been in session five days.

No More June Elections.

The act instructing members of the legislature to vote for people's choice for senator will, of course, never be effective as an imperative law, but as a moral influence upon the legislature its significance will be determined next January.

The amendment changing the time of holding elections from June to November will take effect in 1910. If the amendment has passed increasing the number of supreme judges from three to five, though it now seems improbable, there will be two judges to elect in the November election this year, for it is so provided in the amendment. Nominations must be by convention, assembly of electors or by petition.

If both fishery bills have been adopted, each will stand, except that if there be any conflicting provisions of the act receiving the largest affirmative vote will prevail.

U. O. AND O. A. C. UNDER ONE BOARD

Albany, June 7.—To place the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College under one board of regents was an innovation advocated yesterday by the Linn county council of the grange in its monthly meeting. The advocates of the plan believed that with one board of regents the duplication of work at the two schools would be abolished, and they intend to inaugurate a movement to have the next legislature place the two institutions under one board of control. The grange also announced a belief that a reasonable tuition fee should be required at the State University.

The council also took up the question of normal schools yesterday, and passed a resolution requesting the newly elected Linn county delegation to the state legislature to frame and introduce a bill abolishing two normal schools, one at Monmouth and the other at Weston.

The Linn county delegation to the legislature was also urged to introduce and endeavor to pass a bill to prevent more effectually the dumping of garbage along public roads.

HUBBLE SELLS OUT HIS DRAY BUSINESS

AFTER TWENTY YEARS ACTIVE WORK HERE GOES TO WARMER CLIMATE

After twenty years in the dray business in Eugene, M. S. Hubble, owner of one of the most successful drayage firms in the city, sold Saturday to H. H. McVey his four teams. Mr. McVey is a nephew of M. F. Griggs, and recently came from Montana. Mr. Hubble sold out his business on account of long illness.

The business includes two heavy and two express wagons. The men who have been employed will be retained.

Mr. Hubble has been ill for four months with muscular rheumatism, and up to this time had refused a number of good offers. A relapse two weeks ago and his doctors' advice to remove to a warmer climate, brought him to the decision to quit his old established business, and probably leave Eugene.
