WILL OF JAMES W. WHITE PROBATED

LEAVES ESTATE VALUED AT $9,000 TO HIS CHILDREN--NAMES LODGE TRUSTEES AS EXECUTORS

The will of James W. White, the Eugene grocer, who died at Seattle June 8, was filed for probate this forenoon. After providing for the payment of his debts and for the burial of his body, the will bequeaths to his daughters, Veneta E. and Velma White, and his son, Lawrence T. White, share and share alike, lots 9 and 10, block 24, Packard's add to Eugene; also all the furniture and household goods to them, except the piano, which he bequeaths to his daughter, Inez White. To James H. and Edna White, his son and daughter respectively, he bequeaths his horse and carriage and cow; to James H. White his goats, together with their increase. All the remainder of his property of whatsoever kind he bequeaths share and share alike to William G. White, Laura May Moffett, Minnie Croner, Inez White, James H. White, Edna White, Veneta White, Velma White and Lawrence White, sons and daughters.

The trustees of Spencer Butte lodge No. 9, I. O. O. F., are named as executors of the will without bonds, and accordingly Probate Judge Christian appointed M. Starvud, C. S. Frank and L. W. Brown, the present trustees. W. W. Chesman, W. M. Green and J. J. Walton were appointed appraisers of the property the value of which is estimated at $9000.

HENRY GOWAN IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Henry Gowan, a carpenter, who resides in the western part of the city, while working on a new house at the corner of West Sixth and Madison streets yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, fell off the building to the ground, a distance of about 20 feet, striking on his head. He was rendered unconscious and remained in that condition for several hours after he had been removed to his home. Dr. Payne was called and took several stitches in the wound caused by the fall. Mr. Gowan is still suffering severely from concussion of the brain, but it is thought he will recover.

Trimble will come back to Eugene on the early train tomorrow morning.

Word has reached Eugene from the postoffice department at Washington that all street letter boxes in all cities of the United States are to be painted a bright scarlet. The principal reason assigned for the use of the bright and attractive color is that these mail deposit boxes may be discerned more readily. The boxes in Eugene are now painted a dark green color, and are not easily located in the streets by many persons desiring to deposit letters.

The house on the ranch which Fields & Gano, of the Ax Biddy department store, secured as part payment for their store at Marcola, was burned yesterday, together with all its contents. It was occupied by Mr. Parks and family, who lost all their household goods in the fire. Mr. Parks was working in the timber at the time and Mrs. Parks was cooking dinner. The fire had gained such headway before she discovered it that she was powerless to stay its progress. The house was situated several miles south of Eugene.

A friend of The Guard, desiring to convince his friends in the East of the mild climate of Oregon during winter months, wishes us to state that quite a number of Eugene people slept in tents in their dooryards all winter without any discomfort, and many more are now sleeping in the same way and will continue to do so until the cold weather comes next winter. In speaking of our answer to one McLean's article written for a Michigan paper in which he maligns this country in regard to climate and nearly everything else, this friend says that not even a "white frost" occurred during the winter in that part of Lane county where he resides.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It pays to be honest. Nothing like it for self esteem.

It is hard to be glad to see your friends and at the same time sorry your work is interrupted.

Some widows wouldn't be merry if they thought they had to wear the hat.

Does a great candidate need to be a big man?

The chemist who finds an anti-tribe toxin in will be canonized as a saint.

The majority only think they rule; it is the big boss of the majority that rules.

The average woman thinks let who will wield the ballot as long as she herself can keep her powder rag in hand.

By the seraphic expression on their countenances one can be sure that some of the girls one meets are either girl graduates or June brides.

If you don't like what you have and can't change it, just compromise by changing your mind.

A good way to teach a child to behave is to behave yourself.

Some men are good husbands because they know that it isn't wise to be any other kind.

Not For the Nervous. It looks like such a simple thing To run a trolley car, To start when sounds the signal bell And stop without a jar. But try to be the motorman Down through a crowded street, And if you're not a nervous wreck Next morning I'll stand there.

Out where the track is clear ahead, In some suburban lane, It isn't hard to run the car And never feel the strain, But in the mixup business brings Of men and apple carts, The twisting of the motor arm May try the stoutest hearts.

In spite of frantic, noisy bell And every warning sound, A fat man walks before the car And never looks around; A lady with a baby cart Gets half across the track, Then in a panic hesitates And tries to jerk it back.

Twist teams and boys on bicycles And auto drivers fresh, The whole looks to the motorman Much like a tangled mesh, Applying brakes and ringing bells And dodging through the stir, And keeping every one alive, He leads a busy life.

Best in His Hand. "He has gone to work on the railroad as a section hand." "Something of a come-down for him." "Yes, but rather than starve he played his last trump." "What was it?" "A spade."

The Color of a Big Noise. A youthful artist has discovered that sound has color. Certain tones are red other are blue and still others are yellow. Presumably the demand for the restriction of oriental immigration is the last named color.

A man's last dollar pattering off down the street makes a pale blue sound, and when the stranger with a snail but noisy roll in his pocket attracts the attention of the confidence man it is because his tones are green.

When the unexpected barrel stove comes down on the head of the unsuspecting victim it makes a noise like a composite of all of the colors of the rainbow. It is a great idea, but the person who first noticed that certain varieties of garments made a loud noise was the original discoverer.
